Chiang Rejects Move For Quemoy Withdrawal

Yanks Lead Opener

Bauer, Skowron Hit Home Runs

MILWAUKEE — Home runs by Moose Skowron and Hank Bauer gave the American League champion New York Yankees a 3-2 lead over the National League's Braves after seven innings of today's first game of the World Series before a sell-out crowd of 47,000.

For three innings Whitey Ford of the Yanks and Warren Spahn of the Braves, a pair of lefthanders, engaged in a scoreless mound duel.

Yankees broke through first when Skowron blasted a home run into the left field bleachers in the top of the fourth. Braves came back with three straight hits after two were out to score two runs in the last half of the inning and move ahead.

Yankees were hitting Spahn and in each of the first two innings collected a pair of hits but fine plays in centrefield by the veteran Andy Pafko cut down scoring chances.

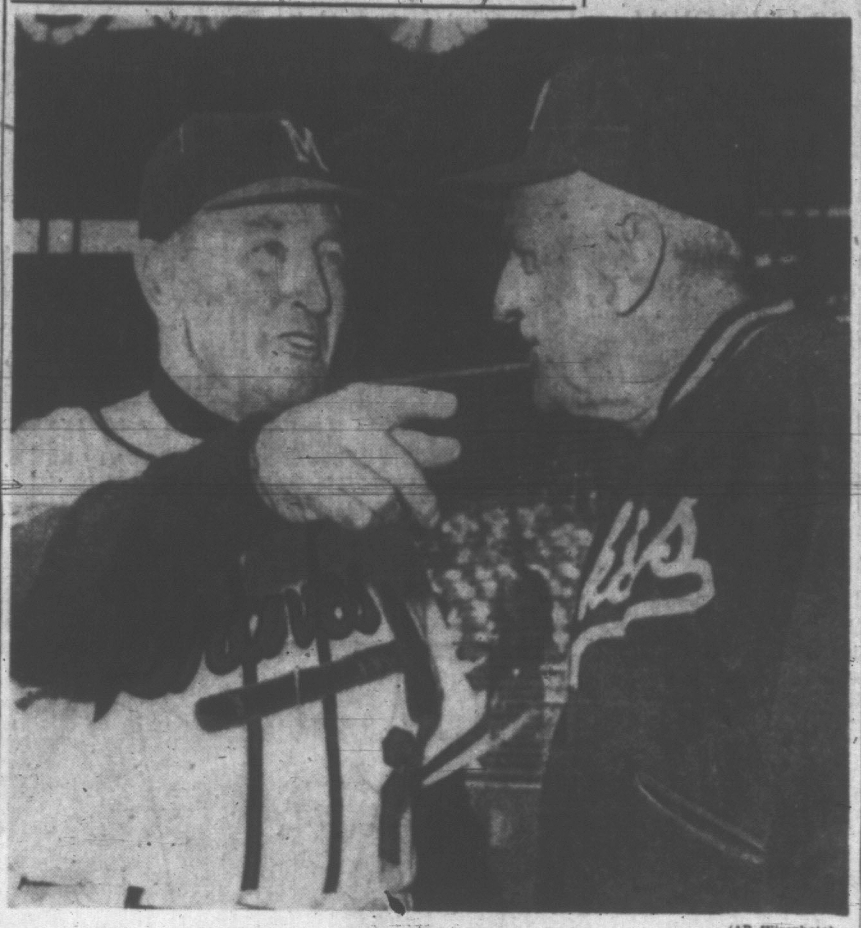

In the last of the second Adcock's single followed by a wild pitch and an error by shortstop Kubek put Ford in a hole, but he struck out Spahn to escape trouble. Ford had struck out six after four innings.

RIVAL MANAGERS TALK GROUND RULES

Before opening of today's first game of World Series at Milwaukee, Fred Haney, manager of Braves, left, got together with Casey Stengel, boss of New York Yankees, to discuss ground rules. Haney appeared to be doing all the talking. First two games of series will be played at Milwaukee.

CEASE-FIRE COULD PAVE WAY TO SETTLEMENT—IKE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower declared today that if the United States could get a cease-fire in the Quemoy-Matsu area an opportunity would be opened up to negotiate in good faith for a Formosa settlement.

Eisenhower told a press conference that the Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu, near the Communist mainland, are not vital to the defence of Formosa. But he said he did not know whether demilitarizing those islands would offer a solution on which everybody could agree.

Dulles' Plan Brings Rebuke

KAOHSIUNG, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek said today in effect that he is opposed to a reduction of his armed forced on the offshore islands or any change in their status.

The Nationalist Chinese leader expressed incredulity over the reports from Washington that State Secretary Dulles had said it would not be "wise or prudent" to keep Chiang's large forces on the islands if a dependable cease-fire could be arranged.

"Mr. Dulles must know," Chiang said in an interview, "that it is only wishful thinking to ask the Chinese Communists for a cease-fire.

"Granted that Mr. Dulles made the statement attributed to him it would be only a unilateral declaration and my government would be under no obligation to keep it.

"I cannot tell right away," Chiang said, "whether Mr. Dulles has made the remarks attributed to him for diplomatic reasons or with other purposes in mind.

"What he is quoted as having said seems completely incompatible with our stand and does not sound like him.

"There seem to be implications at variance with his own earlier utterances on the subject.

"Mr. Dulles must know that wishes for a cease-fire will never materialize and he must have serious misgivings in his own mind about the subject."

He hoped "efforts will be made to enable the American people to understand what the Communist attacks on Kinmen Quemoy mean.

"While outwardly they are of the Republic of China, they are actually intended as assaults against America's first line of defence in Asia.

It should be evident that the troops defending Quemoy were also guarding U.S. defences in the East.

He reiterated his arguments that "if you ask the Communists for a cease-fire they will use it to blackmail you."

"Likewise," he said, "if you show them you are afraid of war, they will use your fear for purposes of extortion. The more you are afraid, the more they will exploit you."

Slide Delays Inaugural PGE Run

By PETE LOUDON
Times Staff Reporter

PRINCE GEORGE—Pacific Great Eastern track crews have been working since 5 o'clock this morning to clear a slide across the tracks 90 miles north of Prince George which threatened to delay the inaugural trip to the Peace River country.

The three trains carrying Premier Bennett, the press, invited guests and the general public were delayed at Prince George almost two hours.

All trains were expected to depart before noon for Chetwynd, where they will lay over tonight.

General manager of the PGE, Joseph S. Broadbent, told reporters the slide was a minor occurrence.

"It happens all the time," he said.

A similar slide occurred on the 1956 inaugural trip from Vancouver to Prince George, creating some red faces among PGE and government officials attending.

SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

Kremlin Has New Worries —Stevenson

This is the third article of a series by Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic leader, on his recent visit to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. The first two appeared Aug. 27 and 28.

By ADLAI E. STEVENSON

What is the situation in the Communist camp?

What is the condition of Stalin's empire five years after Stalin's death?

I said in previous articles that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and his colleagues in the Kremlin think of the Communist world in exclusive terms—that what goes on there is no concern of ours.

But it is a very great concern of theirs, a greater concern indeed than the better relations with the West that Mr. Khrushchev says he wants so badly, and does so little to get, as we see things.

By Stalin's empire I mean, of course, that vast expanse from Albania and East Germany to China. Here live more than a third of the earth's people under the rule of a dozen Communist one-part states headed, as the formula runs, by the Soviet Union. It is a political anachronism, a mighty structure of empire in the century of the decline and fall of empires.

Mr. Khrushchev's Experiment

Stalin built it as an empire and ran it as one, reducing once independent countries to mere provinces of the Soviet state in all but name. Then came Mr. Khrushchev's experiment in partial liberalization, reconciliation with President Tito of Yugoslavia and "de-stalinization," and the explosive results that followed in the Hungarian rebellion and the Polish upheaval of October, 1956.

Premier Khrushchev also introduced a new name for the Soviet bloc, calling it the Commonwealth of Socialist Nations, which suggested a change of relations within the bloc. But re-imposition of discipline, re-emphasis of Soviet hegemony over the bloc, and violent attacks of "revisionism" have since become the watchword of Soviet policy. Marshal Tito has been anathematized all over again, Imre Nagy and other Hungarian patriots have been executed, and today an uneasy calm reigns over the eastern scene.

Like all empires of diverse peoples, the Communist world is full of contradictions and discords. And it is smlal wonder that there are recurrent symptoms of trouble in a body so large. The great question mark is Communist China and Soviet.

Chinese relations, the China of Mao Tse-Tung plays a very important, perhaps decisive, part in the internal and external politics of the Communist world.

But the "brooding presence" of China in the Far East is not all the anxious rulers in the Kremlin have to worry about. Marshal Tito declared his independence of Moscow 10 long years ago, and we know about the riots in East Germany in 1953, the gallant, tragic blow for freedom in Hungary, and the October revolution in Poland in 1956.

Poland—Communist, But Different

I advise everyone who goes to the Soviet Union these days to stop in Poland on the way home. For it will free your mind of the notion that the lands behind the Iron Curtain are all alike.

We spent several days in Warsaw and then drove south through the pleasant Polish countryside (where the machine has not replaced the horse) to Cracow, a lovely medieval city spared by the war; spent a night at the mountain resort of Zakopane, and went on over the beautiful high Tatras to Prague. But it required only a few hours in Warsaw to make us realize that Poland today is a Communist country with a difference.

The first thing that strikes you is Warsaw itself; miraculously the ancient, beautiful city has risen from its ashes. Methodically destroyed, building by building, by the Nazis, it is being rebuilt, stone by stone, by loving Poles exactly as it was.

You walk about restored Warsaw with respect for this monument to a people's pride, sentiment and indomitable courage. And the unrestored ghetto will long be a terrible reminder of the horrible massacre of a half-million Jews.

In Poland you breathe a strikingly different political air from that of the Soviet Union or the other members of the bloc. In East Germany, for example, mounting Communist pressure is reaching the explosion point and 20,000 people are escaping to the west each month. But in Poland the pressure has been relaxed since the bloodless revolution of Oct., 1956, which scared the Russians and brought Wladyslaw Gomulka out of jail and into power.

Gomulka's truce with the Roman Catholic Church is uneasy. But Poland is still the "most Catholic country in Europe." The bulk of the land has been de-collectivized and has reverted to private farming, with a large increase in production and food supply.

Canadian Army To Get Missile

By VICTOR J. MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced here today that the Canadian Army is to get a battery of the United States surface-to-surface Lacrosse guided missiles.

It is expected to be available very soon.

He declined to explain how it was being made available.

The lacrosse is a new type of guided missile weapon that is being produced in quantity for the American army.

It appeared to be the most suitable weapon of its type available, Mr. Diefenbaker declared.

It was essential to provide this type of fire support for our brigade group in Europe, he added.

The absolute minimum needed for the brigade group consists of one battery composed of four launchers and 12 missiles with associated fire control equipment.

One-half of this battery will be deployed with the brigade in Europe. The rest will be retained in Canada for training in artillery schools in Canada.

The cost of the battery is estimated at $1,198,000. The annual recurring cost is estimated at $360,000, Mr. Diefenbaker disclosed.

Questioned as to whether nuclear warheads would be available to be fired with the lacrosse, Mr. Diefenbaker said that is a question to which no final statement can be made at this time.

He indicated that final approval for acquiring the battery was reached at the cabinet meeting Wednesday.

AGREEMENT AT CHRYSLER

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corporation today announced agreement on basic provisions of a contract covering production and maintenance workers.

The three-year contract would grant increases of 24 to 30 cents an hour spread over that period. Chrysler workers now average $2.33 hourly.

Bank to Start Consumer Loan Service

TORONTO (CP)—The Bank of Nova Scotia today announced what it describes as "a complete consumer loan and instalment credit service."

F. William Nicks, vice-president and general manager, said the service will make low cost loans available easily for any worthwhile purpose.

Three types of loan will be available—on signature alone, on automobiles and on home furnishings. Starting Oct. 15 the loans will be made at any of the bank's 500 branches in Canada.

The cost will be $6.38 for a $100 loan, repayable over a year or the equivalent of a six-per cent discount. Repayment periods will be by equal monthly instalments over periods ranging from six to 36 months.

The bank said no actual ceiling has been set, but it expects the majority of loans to run between $250 and $5,000.

In the cases of farmers, fishermen and lumbermen repayment may be arranged on a seasonal basis.

Logger Drowns

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP) — RCMP were searching today for the body of Quadra Island resident Albert Linkletter, 41, who was drowned Tuesday night at the mouth of Bute Inlet.

Linkletter fell from the stern of a boom boat in Orford Bay, 125 miles northwest of Vancouver.

Public Funds Asked to Run White Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock Private School Corporation appealed today for public contributions of money and buildings, to operate the high schools as private, segregated institutions.

Dr. T. J. Raney said a "study and survey of buildings and facilities" already is under way. Raney said the new plan is contingent on the ruling, scheduled Monday, of a federal Court of Appeals.

"If the court enjoins our use of the high school buildings, leased from the Little Rock school district, we will immediately begin school in other quarters," Raney said.

Top U.S. Bank Job To Gordon Rumored

OTTAWA (CP) — A rumor has it that CNR President Donald Gordon has been offered a job in the United States for a salary substantially higher than his $75,000 a year from the government-owned railway.

A government source said today no more than the rumor has reached here, however. There had been no indication from Mr. Gordon that he had any job change under consideration.

The rumor is that Mr. Gordon has been offered the presidency of the Chase National Bank in the U.S. at a salary of possibly $100,000 to $150,000 a year. This bank is said to be interested in Mr. Gordon because of his long experience in both banking and railways.

U.K. Troop Pull-Out From Jordan Oct. 20

LONDON (Reuters) — The British troop withdrawal from Jordan will begin Oct. 20, the foreign office announced today.

It will be completed as soon as necessary arrangements for the movement of the men and equipment can be made, a spokesman added.

Britain's decision to withdraw the 3,000 troops sent into Jordan in July was announced Tuesday at the United Nations.

Answering questions at a press conference, a spokesman said Jordan's request for withdrawal of the troops was made because Jordan is confident that the conditions of the Arab resolution in the UN would be fulfilled. The resolution pledged non-interference in each others' affairs.

Asked whether the withdrawal of troops would be "put under question" if the conditions were not considered to have been fulfilled, the spokesman said:

"If the assurances given to the secretary-general are not carried out, a situation will arise which will have to be considered by Britain, Jordan and the United Nations."

U.S. MARINES QUIT LEBANON

REALLY BEING NASTY, SAYS DOCTOR

Polite Drivers Hen-Pecked?

MANCHESTER, England (Reuters) — A doctor says over-courteous drivers are not really courteous. They're just trying to order other drivers around. Not only that, but they're probably hen-pecked and insecure.

The doctor, answering a complaint by a newspaper reader against undue use of hand signals by excessively courteous British drivers, said:

"The majority of those who indulge in this irritating habit are certainly not trying to be courteous.

"They are, in fact, not announcing their perfectly obvious intention of slowing down so much as ordering someone else to do likewise.

Escape-Proof Alcatraz Loses First Prisoner?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The hunt for a missing Alcatraz convict went on today as the odds mounted that he either had drowned in tide-swept San Francisco Bay or had become the first escaped prisoner to swim to the mainland.

Through the night, guards combed the rocky caves of the island prison shoreline and flushed them out with tear gas bombs, but there was no sign of Aaron Walter Burgett, 28-year-old Missouri gunman.

Monday, he and another prisoner, Clyde M. Johnson, 38, a convicted bank robber from Memphis, Tenn., bound a guard while serving on a garbage detail and vanished in a fog. Two hours later Johnson was found shivering waist-deep in water just off shore.

Associate Warden Joseph D. Latimer said Johnson told prison authorities he had a plastic bag which he tried to use as a water wing but it got away from him almost as soon as he started swimming.

Latimer said another prisoner, whom he did not name, told him Burgett also may have had such a bag, which he could blow up with air and use to keep afloat on the long, chilly grind of more than a mile to the San Francisco shore.

Two runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Mathews walked.

Aaron bounced to McDougald who stepped on second forcing Mathews, but his throw to Skowron was too late to double up the runner.

SIXTH INNING

SEVENTH INNING

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

New York: Logan threw out Ford. The shortstop's throw pulled Adcock off the bag but the first baseman tagged the runner for the putout. Bauer popped to Logan. McDougald struck out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Milwaukee: Spahn flied to Mantle. McDougald threw out Schoendienst. Logan struck out and had to be tagged when Berra dropped the third swinging strike. It was Ford's eighth strikeout.

No runs, no hits no errors, none left.

CRACKDOWN ON TERRORISM BY DE GAULLE

People caught aiding Algerian insurgents in France will be tried before military courts. Authorities are also given wide powers to detain or place under restricted residence anyone suspected of aiding revels.

The anti-terrorist measures, which follow a wave of terrorism and sabotage in France, come into effect Monday after the promulgation of the new constitution approved in last Sunday's referendum.

Iraqi Peasants Freed From Feudal Bondage

CAIRO (AP)—Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq is reported to have moved to consolidate peasant backing for his revolutionary regime with a land reshuffle while emoving a potential rival.

The Middle East News Agency, which is controlled by the United Arab Republic, said Tuesday night in a dispatch from Baghdad that Kassem announced the land program in a broadcast.

Kassem said the plan would free Iraqi peasants from feudal domination, the agency reported. The government would break up big land holdings during the next five years.

Big landlords were a bulwark of the royal government of the late Premier Nuri Said which Kassem overthrew July 14.

The No. 2 man in the revolt and the new republican regime, Brig. Abdul Salam Arif, has been relieved of his post as deputy premier, the news agency said. Arif has been named ambassador to Germany.

stores are numerous, if not very prosperous. Emigration is possible and contacts with the West in some fields are being actively encouraged by the regime.

But the main gain of Poland's October revolution is in freedom of speech. Freedom of publication does not exist, but people feel free to speak their minds, even to foreigners, as they did to me. In the schools, the Russian language is no longer compulsory, and the required university course in Marxism-Leninism has been abandoned in favor of the traditional subjects of philosophy and sociology.

EQUALITY

There are even 65 non-Communists in the parliament and criticism and dissent from government policy is not unknown. Poles again enjoy equality before the law, restraints on the secret police have been established, and they say there is not a single political prisoner any longer.

Political anecdotes are rife, like the one about the monstrous palace of culture that Stalin built in the middle of Warsaw; the best view of Warsaw, they say, is the one from the palace because it is the only place in Warsaw from which you cannot see the palace. As we drove past it one time, an amused official murmered to me: "Small but in good taste, don't you think?"

SANDWICHED

In Poland today they say: "All we need is a new geography." For Poland is sandwiched in between two big powers which have abused her for centuries. For their Russian "liberators" there is historical mistrust and dislike. For the rearming Germans the fear and hatred is still intense in a country where 5,000,000 were slaughtered and the capital abounds in plaques, always decked with fresh flowers: "here the Nazis shot as hostages the Poles whose names are listed below . . ."

With the Soviet Union on one side and Germany on the other it is no wonder that Poles, even high communist Poles, talk to you about the desirability of lessening international tensions, and, by the way, deeply resent your casual indifference to the plan for nuclear disengagement advanced last spring by Adam Rapacki, Poland's able foreign minister. This was the first independent initiative in foreign policy in Moscow's family.

Even though Poland is "no more Communist than France," as many say, she is very much at the Soviet Union's mercy and her leaders will avoid trouble with big brother from either necessity or conviction. And M. Gomulka is a convinced Communist who is said to dislike free enterprise and a free press as much as he does police terror and Soviet domination.

DEPENDENT ON SOVIET

The Soviet Union is Poland's most important trading partner and Poland is dependent on the Soviet Union for iron ore, oil and cotton. She wants more credits from the United States to buy farm products and machinery to build up her consumer goods industries. In poor Poland, where many have to steal to live, the emphasis has shifted toward light industry to improve living standards, in contrast to the Soviet Union where the emphasis is still largely on basic industry.

But the Poles pleadingly point out that credits or aid granted by Congress as an anti-Communist, anti-Soviet gesture only increases their difficulties and imperils the independence already won.

'HALF-FREE'

Just before leaving Poland I asked a distinguished scholar: Is Poland free? "No, half-free," was his answer and it sums up the situation pretty well. It is hard to make Communists of Poles; they are too Catholic, and they have a sense of humor. But situated that way, they cannot be free either, until the Soviet Union lets go.

So Poland walks a tightrope, and few Poles would do anything to endanger the national independence and individual liberty attained since 1956 that is always in peril if Moscow tightens the screws.

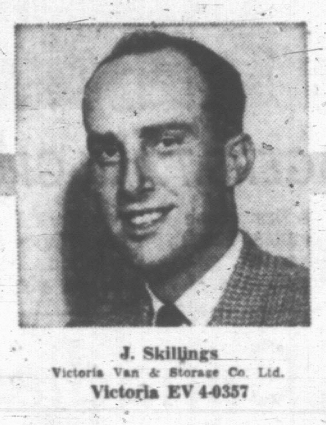

The Communist governments in Eastern Europe are minority governments everywhere. In Poland the solid Communist foundation may not exceed 10 per cent. In Czechoslovakia it is larger and the industrious Czechs seem to have patiently accepted their fate. They eat well, live better than anyone else behind the curtain, and keep still.

The atmosphere in passive Prague is oppressive and in sharp contrast to outspoken Poland. And you quickly hear the story about the Czech dog that asked the Polish dog at the border why he was going to Czechoslovakia.

"To buy a pair of your fine shoes," said the Polish dog, "and why are you going to my country?"

"So I can bark," replied the Czech dog.

Tory Hypocrisy Hit by Pearson

CALGARY (CP)—Liberal Leader Lester Pearson took a roundhouse swing at the government Tuesday night, aiming at Prime Minister Diefenbaker himself over the draft Bill of Rights and Progressive Conservative trade policies.

The Liberal leader, on a tour of Western Canada, made his criticism during a busy day of press conferences and meetings that included a $10-a-plate fund-raising banquet.

He accused the government of being hypocritical in its attitude toward freer trade with Britain.

He said Canada might have been able to propose mediation of the Quemoy-Matsu crisis had she told the United States she was not committed to U.S. action in the Formosa area.

PM CALLED PHONY

Mr. Pearson said Mr. Diefenbaker had exposed himself as a "phony" over the proposed Bill of Rights which would "have little practical use."

On trade:

"The United Knigdom did not repeat its proposal for free trade with Canada at the recent Commonweath trade conference . . . because they did not want to be slapped down twice."

He described the Customs Bill, introduced at the last session of parliament, as "one of the most reactionary pieces of legislation since the days of R. B. Bennett."

"We thought it was contradictory and even hypocritical," he said.

TRADE PROBLEM SERIOUS

The bill increased tariffs on British imports shortly after the visit to Canada of the U.K. Dollar-Export Council. Mr. Pearson predicted the trade problem would become one of the most serious facing Canada.

At a party meeting of about 100 persons, he suggested the draft Bill of Rights introduced by the government would not have the slightest effect in stopping Premier Duplessis of Quebec from "doubling" the padlock law.

Mr. Pearson described the prime minister as a "very smart politican trying to exploit the idea he's the sole defender of rights."

FUTURE CAR MAY RUN ON PEANUT OIL

PARIS (Reuters)—Berliet, a leading French heavy truck manufacturer, said today it has developed an engine which runs on any type of fuel — animal, vegetable or mineral—from crude oil to cod liver oil.

Called the Magic, the engine already has been tested on lubricating oil, crude petroleum, olive oil, peanut oil, cod liver oil and brilliantine, the firm said.

Convention Guests Must Pay Parking

A proposed policy exempting convention guests from feeding city parking meters with the usual nickel was rejected by public works committee today.

The suggestion was made by City Engineer James C. Garnett, reporting on a request for the exemption sent to Mayor Percy Scurrah.

Mr. Garnett said out-of-province cars overparked at meters are not ticketed by meter patrols at present so that a blanket exemption would not create an extensive change.

However, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow argued that the exemption would be too large a concession to make in a tourist and convention town like Victoria.

"We would really be creating a big problem for the merchants because parking spaces in front of their stores would be tied up free for long periods by conventioners' cars bearing the stickers," he said.

Planes Carry Injured Men

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—Two planes arrived here within minutes Tuesday carrying two men injured in separate accidents at mainland logging camps.

Pilot Bob Langdon went on a mercy mission to Toba Inlet to bring Jim West to hospital here for treatment of a fractured left leg. West was caught in a steel main line and swung into the air.

U.S. to Install Nuclear Plants On Alaska Sites

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Plans of the federal government to install two new nuclear power plants in Alaska were disclosed Tuesday by Washington Governor Albert D. Rosellini.

In an address before the Anchorage Chamber of Commerce, the Washington governor said the information came to him from unofficial but "thoroughly reliable" sources.

He said the information was not classified, but the location of the defence bases where the nuclear power plants were to be installed was secret.

He said the power plants would be used to displace diesel oil generators at the two de-

LONDON (Reuters)—British Overseas Airways Corporation will put its transatlantic jet airliners into service Oct. 17 to beat Pan American in the jet age race across the Atlantic, usually reliable sources said yesterday.

The target date of Oct. 17 for the Comet IV jet airliner service is nine days ahead of the day advertised by Pan American for its first Boeing 707 flight between Paris and New York.

Race Troubles Exaggerated In England, Says Lord Home

"They have received more attention than is warranted," said Lord Home, now staying at the Empress Hotel.

"There is a strong desire in the United Kingdom to be able to keep the door open to Commonwealth immigration, but in a small island of 50,000,000 people you have to have some voluntary agreement to regularize immigration.

"Otherwise we would have more people than the country could hold."

Lord Home said he hoped an agreement could be worked out with the West Indies so that Jamaicans will still be able to enter the UK but not in such numbers that they create a problem.

He said some Jamaicans were returning to their native land from England, but there is no organized withdrawal.

PARENTS' MIXUP TRAGIC AS BOY DIES IN FLAMES

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—A four-year-old boy died in his family's flaming bungalow Tuesday because his mother and father each thought the other had rescued the child.

The body of John Donaghy Jr., was found inches inside a door the father tried desperately to open when he discovered his son was not with his wife. She did, however, get Patricia, five, and Greta, seven, away from the blazing house.

'SHOP CENTRE OR NOTHING'

Two-Month Delay In Sale of Yard

Prospective buyer of the choice commercial property embraced by Saanich municipal yard was granted a two-month delay to make further inquiries when the sale was discussed by Saanich Council Tuesday night.

The period also will allow council to consider a comprehensive town plan in preparation by Anthony Parr and the Capital Region Planning Board.

Intention of the prospective buyer, Dominion Construction Co. Ltd., Vancouver, is to erect a major shopping centre. The firm and council engaged in a two-hour discussion before the decision to delay was reached.

Sole council opponent of the delay, Ainslie Worthington, referred to the decision as "the thin edge of the wedge," because it is tantamount to giving the prospective buyer a time option.

According to the Municipal In the meantime the com- Act, he pointed out, options to purchase municipal property are illegal.

pany will attempt to sound out prospective tenants of the centre, and key to the sale lies in the question of whether a major department store will lease space.

Reeve George Chatterton said without a large department store the municipality will not get the type of major shopping centre desired.

"So far as I am concerned, it is a regional shopping centre or nothing at all," the reeve said.

A small centre would preclude for all time the use of the land for a major marketing area, he said.

PRINCESS DANCES LATE

B.C. Proposal for Railway Subsidy Opposed by CNR

WINNIPEG (CP)—The British Columbia government is suggesting federal subsidies as a means of avoiding further freight-rate increases, but CNR president Donald Gordon says such a move would endanger the economy.

In an interview at Ottawa, B.C. counsel C. W. Brazier said Tuesday his province's plan would involve $150,000,000 worth of federal subsidies for the railways over a four-year period. Another $400,000,000 would go in long-term, low-interest loans for a modernizing program.

He said the B.C. government will approach the other provinces with the proposal.

AN INFLATION THREAT

Mr. Gordon said, however, a federal subsidy to help the major railways meet increased labor costs would carry more danger of inflation than the railways' proposed freight-rate increases.

Earlier this month, the railways asked for an immediate 19 per cent freight rate increase to combat new labor costs and made an additional application to the board of transport commissioners for a further but unspecified amount. The total was expected to be about 35 per cent.

In an address here Tuesday, Mr. Gordon said some quarters have proposed a federal subsidy as "a happy and easy solution" to a current wage dispute between the railways and their employees.

AN ECONOMIC TRAP

"In my view," he said, "such subsidies could result in an economic trap and, as well, incur the risk of an infectious inflation.

"Such a proposition should be examined with great care and our business analysists and economists, or other qualified people, should be heard from before it becomes accepted as representing responsible public opinion."

Mr. Brazier said he doesn't expect all the provinces, which are opposing the railways' demand for an increase in rates to pay higher wage demands and so head off a strike, would "buy" the B.C. plan, but "at least it is something to start with."

All provinces except Ontario and Quebec are reported ready to oppose the railways' application for the increase.

U.S. Supports Test Ban Despite Russ A-Blasts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, chiding Russia for resuming nuclear weapons tests, says she will go through with plans for a one-year U.S. test suspension if the Russians will follow suit.

The state department issued that statement Tuesday night a short time after the Atomic Energy Commission reported Russia had terminated her test suspension announced March 31 with at least two new blasts.

"It was suspected at the time that the Soviet announcement was primarily a propaganda exercise and that there was no real intention to suspend testing," the department said. "This now seems to be confirmed by the event.

"Two detonations were detected," the AEC said. "Both took place north of the Arctic Circle and were of moderate to high yield."

The state department noted talks initiated by the U.S. are scheduled to begin in Geneva Oct. 31 on means of reaching agreement on policing a worldwide test suspension.

U.K. READY

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain still is ready to begin negotiations in Geneva Oct. 31 with a view to reaching an agreement for the suspension of nuclear weapons tests under effective international control, a foreign office spokesman said today. He commented on the Soviet resumption of tests announced Tuesday.

Talking on the Brink

AS FAR AS THE PUBLIC knows, the current talks at Warsaw between Peiping and Washington representatives have been productive of no solution to the Formosa problem. On Friday the only agreement announced was an agreement to meet again this week. But the fact that the meetings are still continuing is in itself a basis for hope. At least the channel for compromise remains open.

The United States, while seeking a formula for a solution to Quemoy, has insisted that a cease-fire be ordered before any further moves take effect. Peiping has rejected this. There have been oblique hints that Communist China might gain Quemoy by some means other than military conquest. That suggestion, plus the obvious threat of U.S. military intervention if invasion takes place, seems to have deterred the Communists from taking the final plunge.

The present bombardment of the island by mainland shore batteries falls far short of invasion, but it also effectively challenges Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's sovereignty over the territory. He cannot be said to rule an island with which contact has almost been severed and where the inhabitants carry on their lives pretty much at the discretion of the mainland gunners.

The danger of war, as numerous analysts have pointed out, is twofold. One possibility is that Peiping will cast discretion to the winds and make a bid to possess the island. That almost certainly, on the basis of Washington statements, would bring U.S. ships and troops into action, which in turn could lead to expansion of the fighting into a real war.

The other immediate danger is that the Nationalist leader on Formosa will decide that he cannot longer endure the Quemoy bombardment without retaliation. He may launch an aerial attack on the mainland guns, which would invite Communist aerial attacks on Formosa. That would almost inevitably involve U.S. forces.

Against this background of one-sided shelling and pent-up reactions the Warsaw talks take on added importance. They are being conducted, however, as though the representatives at Warsaw were waiting for a lead from Quemoy rather than vice versa.

Meanwhile America's allies, Canada included, are in the uncomfortable position of having to stand by the United States on general principles while differing with that country on the particular item of Quemoy. They must show the Communist bloc that Western unity has not been disrupted; but they must also indicate to Washington that they are not in favor of going to war over an island to which most of them think Peiping is logically entitled.

The allies, of course, are not bound by commitments to Chiang Kai-shek as the United States is, and their decision on the matter can be made on political, geographical and other grounds, rather than on the basis of entangling agreements undertaken in earlier and less complicated circumstances.

Farewell to Grandma's Rocker

WHEN WARTIME MANPOWER shortages occurred, women on this continent and elsewhere showed their competency as workers in fields where they had not ventured before.

Since the war the number of employable women has continued at a high level. But this, it appears, may be only the beginning.

The National Manpower Council of the United States has recently indicated the trend. It forecasts work in important executive positions for "the woman over 35" and sees a continuing and growing demand for them in professions.

That viewpoint is supported by Howard S. Kaltenborn, vice-president of Industrial Relations Counselors, Inc. He points out that women in their middle and later years constitute the least effectively used group in the working population and that "within the next decade women over 35 must be employed in substantially greater numbers."

To this he adds that "the rise in the median age of women workers from 26 in 1900 to 40 by 1956 indicates the growing importance of the older woman worker."

The availability of older women workers is suggested by another authority who points out that women live longer today than they did 50 years ago and form a potential working force of substantial size in the period after they have raised their families.

They are, moreover, in a position to improve their capabilities by expanding educational opportunities which now show greater concern for their sex than was the case educationally a few generations ago.

The prospect, one newspaper says, takes Whistler's "Mother" out of the rocking chair and places her in a position of responsibility in the executive and production fields of the present and future.

East Germany Easing Pressures

THE COMMUNIST (EAST) German Democratic Republic has been confronted by a truism which is amending the policy of forced socialization in that country.

It has come face to face with the fact that human beings are human beings. People suffer toothache, fall ill, are injured, need druggists and technicians.

And, as things have been going recently in East Germany, the dentists, physicians and other professional people have been walking in increasing numbers to the West. They were not prepared to suffer the pressure imposed on the intelligentsia.

In consequence the authorities there have eased the restrictions on this class, have extended to it certain concessions and are wooing it to keep essential people available to serve the public.

This is no sudden appreciation by those in power of the rights of the individual and his desire to enjoy the better life. It is a simple, realistic assessment of the fact that East Germany has to have the professionals and the only way to hold them is to make life a little easier for them.

It would be a mistake to assume that the regime is growing more liberal. It is merely facing the facts of life and adjusting itself to the inevitable. But at least current developments there show an unwillingness on the part of the intelligentsia to put up indefinitely with conditions which do violence to the concepts of the thinking man.

Example for the Young?

AN ANGLICAN BISHOP HAS censured "dirty" hockey.

Speaking at Penticton, he has expressed his appreciation of the values in sportsmanship as an element combatting juvenile delinquency.

"But," he says, "when you get a hockey game in which 25 penalties are issued and game misconducts, match penalties and fights are part of the play, then we are offering our youth the wrong type of example. Show me the man who cheats or resorts to dirty tactics during a game of sport and I'll show you a man who is inclined to resort to those same tactics in his business life."

The points seem well taken. There is another factor, however, which might be brought into consideration.

People who have studied the juvenile delinquency problem have, on occasions, turned their minds to the effect of subsidized and expensive sport on the broad question of youth behavior. Studies have been made, in particular, of some communities which have imported expensive hockey talent in an aim to build Allan Cup challengers.

Those studies have indicated an interesting economic influence on delinquency. A small town with a costly hockey team frequently finds the cost of attending games too much for youth. Adults can buy tickets. They take in the fixtures. Their children stay at home, because the expense of taking the whole family is too great.

A Headmarker at Least

PLANS FOR TORONTO'S NEW city hall have drawn pungent comment from architect Frank Lloyd Wright, who also has his detractors.

"You've got a headmarker for a grave," says the world renowned figure, "and future generations will look at it and say 'This marks the spot where Toronto fell'."

Somehow we can't help feeling a little envious of Toronto. If at least has a headmarker. Victoria lacks even that.

Time after time plans for a new Victoria city hall have been born, but they die without any monument to define their demise.

World Series Time

GLOBAL STRATEGY — By B. A. TOBIN

Round and Round

IN an earlier day, the last thing a kid would think of doing with his hoop would be to loop it around his body. Large hoops were for rolling — and that was that. But as I recall it, most of our hoop rolling was done with little hoops, usually baby buggy wheels, about nine inches in diameter, which had done service on soapbox racing automobiles and other vehicles and ended up in a solo act. The small wheels were propelled forward by lath handles which had a smaller piece of lath nailed across one end in the form of a "T." Most of the youngsters became pretty adept at steering these hoops. They could slow them to a bare walk, swing them in a right-angle turn, go over bumps, up runways and even down steps. I haven't seen that type of hoop for years. I wonder where they all went?

Tobin

The larger hoops seem to have been slightly out of style in my day. I had one from time to time, of course, but I can't remember running with them as a major sport. I do recall one heavy iron circle I bowled along the roads, and it made a very satisfying metallic ringing sound.

With the larger hoops there wasn't much to do but run. With the small models you could stand around and do tricks. Dexterity was the key; speed was needed only occasionally.

The present splurge of hoops is hard to understand. They seem to have come from nowhere and swamped the continent. Perhaps it is the influence of the Geophysical Year that has led every youngster to want to look like Saturn, or like a little earth with an imaginary equator wobbling around it.

On Our Own

It forms, perhaps, an appropriate symbol of our age. Each person is a little world of his own, spinning in space, coming near but never quite touching other worlds, but all together forming a planetary system which moves in conformity with established laws.

Each exerts an influence on the others, helping to keep them in their regular orbits, and in turn being acted upon itself.

A disturbance of one person-world disturbs the others; none can falter in its path without affecting the course of the rest. Yet each may be convinced that it lives alone, spins alone, fulfils a destiny which cannot be influenced by its companions in the universe.

The cosmic systems are held together by the physical laws of space and time, by the balancing of forces which alone would cause a rushing together or a flying apart. The human systems are held together by the laws of society and humanity, by a balancing of forces which could unite or disrupt, a truce between the bond of gregariousness and the cleavage of self-interest.

Like any such fad, the hoop spinning is going into its second stages. Already some little girls have claimed an endurance record of six hours of spinning the hoops around their bodies. Soon there will be competitions in various cities.

School champions will be crowned. There will be spin-offs, probably followed by provincial and state championships. Undoubtedly a national champ will be announced, and he or she will testify that it could never have been accomplished without the help of his (or her) Schwambacher plastic hoop, courtesy The Schwambacher Mfg. Co. Ltd.

And then what will happen? In some mysterious fashion a feeling will sweep the continent that the hoop craze is over. Nobody will shout it from the housetops; nobody will even whisper it. But as surely as though a law had been passed, the hoop fad will fade and die.

Almost overnight the leaders of each neighborhood group will abandon the hoops. The hoops will be "old stuff." Here and there a devotee will twirl madly, trying to retain the attention he had formerly commanded. But the magic will be gone.

On the Decline

A few late-comers will spin within their second-hand hoops; in a corner here and there someone who had never tried it before will give it a whirl. But these will be merely dying gasps. Silently the hoops will be voted as fit only for squares. Possession of a hoop, even mention of it, will be enough to bring amused stares or disgusted dismissal from "the gang."

The hoop craze will be dead.

But until that happens the hoop craze will be very much alive. A hundred thousand little Saturns will give their vertebrae a shaking up and their muscles a wrenching. While the fad lasts it is the Thing, the only Thing.

But if anyone knows what to do with a million discarded plastic hoops, now is the time to plan.

LOOKING THE PART

Modern poets tend not to dress up to the part. In Victorian days, when you met Tennyson, you had no possible doubt that you were in the presence of the Poet Laureate. There he stood before you — in flowing cloak, wide sombrero, beard and all. But Mr. T. S. Eliot, for example, looks like an eminent banker about to refuse you an overdraft. And Mr. Stephen Spender has the air of a keen schoolmaster. Fair play to Dame Edith Sitwell; she at least dresses as if she was a being set apart. Anyone who can wear her extraordinary pre-raphaelite-type gowns, her enormous clanking bangles and her strange, 12th-century "hair do," must be a poet!

As Our Readers See It

Scant Chance to Win

The Americans won the America's Cup series easily and there can be no argument. After following these races for over 50 years I am convinced that the British chances of ever winning are practically nil. The odds against them are not only great but they are unique.

Assuming that British designers will eventually get away from the idea that a vessel suitable for racing in British waters will do and get down to producing a yacht comparable with the American vessel in lightness of construction, etc., it would seem to be impossible to give a British crew anything like equality of opportunity in general training and, above all for acquiring equal competition experience, and this is the key to proper preparation for any contest, especially for international ones, as Canadian athletes have discovered.

To produce a racing yacht of top-notch performance is in itself something of a gamble. This appears to be a tremendous disadvantage which the British will always have seeing that they will have no choice but to use the one vessel built for the occasion. There can be no question of eliminations.

The Americans, on the other hand, always have several yachts from which to choose with the eliminating races being run until almost a few days before the big race itself. These American elimination races not only assure their having their best yacht in the competition but they provide the U.S. crew with the best competitive experience possible and the winning crew with that psychological wonder drug which only success in a keen competition can supply. All Columbia's crew had to do was to carry on from where they left off beating Vim a few days previously.

This takes away nothing from the American victory but it does, I think, point to the hopelessness of the chances of any future British effort.

Clock Changing

The advent of the semi-annual 'change of clock,' a practice detrimental to the smooth-running alike of the timepieces and of the lives of their owners, appears to present a fitting opportunity to attempt an assessment of the confused and confusing institution known as 'Daylight Saving Time.'

Were it practicable to obtain universal agreement for changing the clock on given dates each year, the idea of 'daylight saving time' might, in spite of its obvious drawbacks, be workable; but the whole concept of self-deception by altering the hands of the clock is so childish that it is not possible to obtain agreement on a national, much less an international level. Local option, as at present exercised, results in hopeless confusion, especially in such matters as radio and transportation schedules.

There is no intention to condemn, or even to criticize, the many groups who desire to save daylight; in B.C. this would appear to be a majority, though it is open to question if many of them approve altering the clock to effect their purpose. However, from time immemorial, and in practically every country, hours of work and leisure have from time to time been adjusted to conform to seasonal changes.

In this province, for example, this is done by the lumber and logging industry without reference to so-called 'summer time.' There appears absolutely no reason why the hours of work of factory, store and office employees (the categories most affected) should not be set back during the summer months to afford more time for recreation.

Such changes of working hours would have little effect outside the local area and could therefore be decided by local option, and would leave unaffected the many, such as agricultural workers, children (and parents) whose whole routine is disorganized by an artificial changing of the clock.

Sadism?

In the September 24 issue of the Victoria Daily Times there appears an engaging news item from Moscow in which Russian surgeon, Prof. V. R. Demikhov is congratulated upon his successful grafting of a second head on a dog.

In the same issue we read of a dog hero of Kineton, England, which, though injured, brought help to eight soldiers and several other dogs in a train wreck.

There is perhaps little connection in these two accounts, but there is much food for thought. Without benefit of an extra head, an intelligent, devoted canine was able to prove, as many others have done, his usefulness and friendship to mankind. Yet in this day of civilization, 1958, such atrocities as head-grafting are permitted and sanctioned.

What was the learned surgeon trying to prove? What possible benefit can this sadism have for the world? How much longer are such operations to be tolerated? They are devilish, useless, incredibly cruel, a waste of time, money and effort.

Russia is not the only transgressor. When are we going to practise Christian ethics? What lasting peace and safety can we expect while such experiments upon helpless animals go unchecked? None, for God is not mocked!

FROM WASHINGTON — By WALTER LIPPMANN

Disentanglement

THE President is faced with a crisis in U.S. relations with Chiang's government in Formosa. The Red Chinese blockade of Quemoy is effective, and there is no reason to think that it can be broken except by a war against the mainland. This war would have to be waged by the United States. The President is under increasingly frantic pressure from Formosa, and from some people in Washington, to let Chiang's air force begin the war which we would then have to finish.

Lippmann

In resisting the pressure to go to war, it will be difficult, perhaps impossible, for the President to avoid a decision which means in effect that he has recovered American control of United States foreign policy. For he will have to prevent Chiang from attacking the mainland and, having done that, he will have to insist on our right to negotiate for a cease-fire to be followed by the withdrawal of the Nationalist troops.

The troops can be saved but not the offshore islands, and this country will have done all that it is obligated to do for Formosa if it extricates one-third of Chiang's army from the trap they are in.

Moral Right?

Moreover, it is a question whether the understanding agreed to by Mr. Dulles at the time the Formosa treaty was ratified by the Senate gives the President the moral right to do any more.

There is no doubt that the withdrawal of the Nationalist troops will mean that Chiang has been defeated in the offshore islands, and that all hope of his return by invading the mainland will have been written off spectacularly. But bad as it will be for Chiang's prestige, and also in some measure for our own, it will be less bad than the other possibilities now open to us.

The withdrawal and salvaging of Chiang's troops will be less bad than a war which would be enormously difficult to localize and, if it involved nuclear weapons, would have catastrophic effects on our whole position in Asia.

For the people of Asia have not forgotten that the first time that nuclear weapons were used in war it was by the United States against an Asian people. It is unthinkable that President Eisenhower should repeat that tragedy.

The evacuation of Chiang's troops will be less bad also in its effect than letting these troops be besieged and starved while we stand by and make ineffectual attempts to run the blockade.

All the choices are horrid. The grim truth is that Mr. Dulles has been caught in a trap which could have been avoided by insisting that Chiang withdraw his troops before this bombardment began. There is no pretty and agreeable way to get out of such a trap.

Show Realism

The best way out is to act with the magnanimity and self-assurance of a great power, to disentangle ourselves from Chiang, and then to astonish the world by a show of realism and common sense about the future of Formosa.

It is said that all the smaller nations will abandon us if we do not let Chiang lead us into war. It is said that to refuse to be led into war is appeasement which will encourage a bigger war of aggression.

But as against this, it can be said that our entanglement with Chiang is regarded in most of the world as sinister, and as a sign of political and moral weakness here at home under internal political pressure.

Were the United States to extricate itself from the entanglement and to come forth, as it can and as it should, with constructive proposals that Chiang cannot veto, U.S. prestige would rise and U.S. influence would increase.

Our existing entanglement is an enormous liability, and a sign that we were once again free of it would be taken not as weakness, not as a "Munich" but as evidence that we were a great power which can be trusted to defend the peace of the world.

O Moon of My Delight

From The New York Times

THERE has ever been something mystical about the moon which has stirred even the most unimaginative among us to uneasy reverie. It is no wonder that there is hardly a poet of major eminence nor a playwright of distinction who has not at some time or other been enticed to utterance by the glamor of the moon.

Among these are Shakespeare, Milton, Byron, Blake, Shelley and Tennyson to list only a few among the many, and these taken exclusively from our glorious literary past.

In fact, some enterprising anthologist might well feel the urge to compile an interesting volume, prose and verse, dealing with the moon and its influence.

Maupassant's touching story, "Moonlight," passages from Jules Verne, Eugene O'Neil and many others immediately suggest themselves along with a wealth of excerpts from poems of all time and all nations.

In music we have Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" and Debussy's "Clair de lune" as outstanding masterpieces. Journeys of art in all media—we have not even mentioned the graphic arts—go far beyond the limits of space exploration into the most secret recesses of human consciousness.

As science takes over our modus vivendi more and more in the exciting years to come we hope that it will not paralyze us out of primitive wonder and with it our appreciation of that other uncharted world of tone, paint and words created by our great artists.

Our moon, the moon of man's exotic fancy, must ever remain, as Blake put it, "like a flower in heaven's high bower" that "with silent delight/sits and smiles on the night."

The Bridge May Be Broken

I put this question to six Asian delegates following the vote on Chinese representation in which Canada supported the majority decision to shelve the issue. All six expressed understanding of Canada's difficult position on the issue, they expressed sympathy—but all six thought Canada had damaged her prestige.

Burke

One ambassador, who formerly served in Ottawa, spoke feelingly on the contribution Canada has made in the past.

"We deeply respect Canada," he said. "Canada is one of the great bridge builders of the world, building bridges of understanding between nations."

"Has the bridge been damaged by Canada's position on the Middle East and the Far East?" I asked him.

He paused for a long time and then replied: "I wonder if it's already been torn down?"

* * *

The other Asians would not take such an extreme view and their opinion seemed to be summed up by one who said "Canada has two chances more—perhaps three." What he meant was that if Canada votes two or three times more against the Afro-Asians on major issues, as she has on the Middle East and Far East, that she might as well turn in her East-West bridge builders' union card.

The Asians emphasized, of course, that they realize the difficult position in which Canada finds herself. When both the United States and the United Kingdom take one side on a major issue, it's difficult for Canada to swim against this North Atlantic tide.

But the fact remains that Canada's vote, supporting the U.S. proposal to put off consideration of China representation for another year, was in many respects a vote of expediency. It's said, for example, that opposing the United States at this point might only toughen the American attitude on the Formosa issue.

Canadians say, as do the British, and many others, that discussion at this time would only generate more heat. Their main argument, however, is that to use the old cliche—no nation should be allowed to "shoot her way into the UN."

The fact remains, however, that these are arguments of expediency and carry comparatively little weight against the counter-arguments of the Asians. Asian after Asian came forward to say that they weren't asking the other members to express an opinion on the matter—all they wanted was to have their views heard, to at least debate the issue rather than to refuse even to consider admission of China.

* * *

In fact you might say that the Western nations have applied "closure" to the debate in the way Trade Minister C. D. Howe did in the pipeline debate—they have stopped the debate before it started. As a matter of fact, it would have made a good many Conservatives wince to hear Afro-Asians lecturing the West on the right of the minority to be heard.

Hashim Jawad of Iraq said that the West's tactics are "contrary to all democratic tradition and contrary to the (UN) Charter."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

TV Tip Technique

LONDON—Concerned about the exposure in the U.S. of rigging of quiz shows, John Irwin, producer of the British version of Dotto and Keep It in the Family, says that he keeps the questions in a safe at home and no one else has access to them until his shows go on the air.

"They don't pay me enough," says Irwin, "to be a crooked referee. TV is not so competitive here as in the States, where if a producer's program begins to drop a couple of points it's enough to give him an ulcer. Here the money isn't big enough to make the shows corrupt."

Reyburn

* * *

Saying there's not enough money involved to make the shows crooked is of course hogwash. Answers are slipped to contestants and panelists in this country even in quiz games in which there is no money at stake.

Technique of one quizmaster is to check through his question-and-answer sheet in the washroom before going on the air, reading some of them aloud in the presence of a panelist. This is followed with a wink and "Of course you didn't hear me, did you?"

The classic example of an answer being planted and one which is oft quoted among those who are regularly in the quiz business concerns a beautiful but not too bright starlet who was appearing as a panelist on a show in which the job of each contestant had to be guessed.

* * *

When the first contestant entered and before he even had time to sit down, she shouted from the other side of the studio: "Your fingernails are dirty! You're a coalman."

If it isn't for the huge cash prizes of U.S. television, why are some quiz participants tipped off in Britain?

There are two main reasons. First is because of the "let's make it a good breezy show" feeling of some of those who put them on. People fumbling for answers can make poor entertainment.

And secondly, certain agents take a hand in it. An agent with a performer on contract doesn't want him or her dropped from a show and lose the revenue. So some agents aren't above getting at the answers and slipping them to those they have on contract to keep them looking good.

* * *

I've been on five quiz shows, ranging in runs from three to nine months and haven't yet been slipped an answer. Which is just as well, because all but a few of the regulars in the quiz business hate being tipped off. It calls for a lot of acting to put on all the phony brain-searching before arriving at the answer you knew all the time.

Reverse twist on all this: a brilliant panelist was so quick at getting things right on one quiz game that she was given answers beforehand so that she could prolong her guessing of them and it wouldn't look crooked!

SYNOPSIS — The ridge of high pressure over the southern B.C. coast and southern interior continues to act as a block in the path of Pacific storms—a situation producing relatively clear skies over the southern coast and broken cloud in the southern interior. Fog patches present in the low lying areas of the southern coast will dissipate rapidly during the morning then form again about daybreak Thursday — dissipating during the forenoon. An onshore flow of moist air from the Pacific is causing cloudy skies over the northern coast.

Karen Ann Trevena, 720 Sea Terrace, is an outdoor girl who has recently moved from Salt Spring Island. She swims well, and is learning to dive, and is also a fine skater, and an expert "hooper". Karen is in Grade 9 at the S. J. Willis Junior High School; her sister Lynne, age 16, goes to Victoria High.

Karen

On the day she was born:

The U.S. 1st Army started a major offensive on the Seigfried Line and drove a two-mile wedge into the fortifications near Aachen.

The Princess Nora, CPR ship, outbound from Victoria inner harbor on the night run, collided with fishpacker Co-operator I, causing damage to the latter of between $10,000 to $20,000.

The Canadian destroyer Haida came home to an "East coast port" with a list of naval achievements second to none in the Canadian Navy. Crew members had earned 10 decorations, and 21 mentions in dispatches among them. Capt. Harry G. DeWolf, D.S.O., D.S.C., reported that the Haida's main target was "E" boats. Two enemy "kills" were a couple of small boats which had been disguised as rocks.

The Nascopie returned and reported everything well in the Arctic circle. The Hudson Bay boat completed a "routine" 12,000 mile trip through northern waters on schedule.

Sir William Mulock died in his 101st year.

The Community Chest campaign was hoping to collect the remaining $80,000 of its target through group contributions.

Victorians were looking forward to seeing a midnight showing of the Frankenstein monster "in person," at the Capitol stage show: "Asylum of Horrors."

The date? Sunday, October 1, 1944.

Chant to Talk Wages With B.C. Engineers

An important meeting between Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and representatives of 100 B.C. government stationary engineers probably will take place Tuesday, Oct. 14.

The engineers are taking a strike vote to back demands for a 9 per cent wage increase—which would give them parity with engineers outside the civil service.

But they asked a meeting with Mr. Chant first, they said, in hope of reaching agreement.

The works minister will be absent from the city all this week on the inaugural trip of the PGE railway to Fort St. John and Dawson Creek.

He returns here Monday, but is not expected to be able to meet the employee delegation before the following Thursday a department spokesman said today.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Vegetables for Winter Eating

Too often we see the ideal vegetables for winter being used in early fall while there is still an abundance of other good things coming from the garden.

From a carefully worked out plan which can be made some winter's day of evening, we should now be using young vegetables from the July sowing, and the immature squash and marrows which will not store, the end of the ripe tomatoes, peppers and eggplant.

Hilda

To use them now while other fresh produce is available seems not only rather shortsighted, but actually prevents us from experiencing the peak of possible quality.

Parsnips and leeks should be left in the ground to be improved by colder weather conditions. Frosts add flavor to both these vegetables, and to kale.

A light frost does no harm to the Laurentian turnips, but they should then be dug and stored in dry sand or soil in a shed or other suitable place.

I know very well how unpleasant it can be to dig the "leave-in-the-ground" vegetables during a cold rain or in a frost, but often one can take advantage of dryer, milder weather to dig enough of each for several days' use.

PGE Next Stop At Ft. Nelson?

Inaugural Special Rolls Northward Amid Forecasts of Prosperous Days

By PETE LOUDON

Premier Bennett, it was believed, was holding his ammunition for political broadsides to be delivered north of Prince George, the area receiving the benefit of the new rail service.

Meanwhile, the several hundred guests were introduced to PGE history and future hopes by a specially-hired public relations firm. The guests were told that though other Canadian railways are feeling a pinch, PGE freight cars loaded and received had increased to 38,809 from 15,534 in 1952.

They were given hints that the PGE next will extend to Fort Nelson, connect with Alaska and Great Slave Lake.

44 New Place Names Created

From Chetwynd to Dawson Creek, the stations are named Wabi, Sundance, Foss, Groundbirch, Tremblay, Progress, Kiskatinaw and Urquart.

These names bring the total of PGE stations to more than 125.

Statisticians say the Peace River end of the PGE will have four times its present population by 1975. There are 20,000 there now, a third more than in 1951.

The lumber industry occupies many of them. There are 818 sawmills and 97 planer mills along the 800-mile route of the railway. Agriculture is fast gaining in importance, a PGE report says.

526 Rail Miles Closer to Home

By bringing the markets 526 rail miles closer to home, the farmers on both sides of the Peace River can now expect to enter the domestic and overseas markets with more confidence than ever before. Hand in hand with this, areas which previously have not been feasible to farm will receive the plough and the results will, naturally, snowball.

South of the Peace, almost 1,050 farmers cultivate 180,000 acres, a mere fraction of the 1,220,000 acres of potential agricultural land still to be cleared. North of the Peace, about the same number of farmers till 150,000 acres, but here, only 800,000 acres of would-be farmland remains — still a sizeable figure when the production tallies for these are reviewed.

New Canada House Dedicated in New York

NEW YORK (CP) — Canada House was formally introduced to Fifth Avenue today as the imposing Canadian centre was dedicated with a flag-raising ceremony in a driving rainstorm.

New York's Mayor Robert Wagner, who proclaimed a Canada Welcome Day to mark the official opening of the structure symbolic of Canadian enterprise here, raised the Stars and Stripes while Hon. Ray Lawson, whose Canada House dream became a reality today, raised the Red Ensign, aided by External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith.

Two red-coated Royal Canadian Mounted policemen flanked the party of international dignitaries as the flags were raised against the background of the coats-of-arms of the 10 provinces set into the Canadian granite wall of the new building.

NEAR RADIO CITY

Canada House was hailed in an editorial in today's New York Herald Tribune as "a daily reminder to New Yorkers of the size, wealth and importance of the northern neighbor we take so much for granted that we sometimes overlook its true importance to us."

The Canadian external affairs minister seized on this international amity in basing most of his keynote speech at a banquet on the need for American co operation in Commonwealth economic planning as envisaged at the recent finance ministers' conference in Montreal.

"An expanding Commonwealth in an expanding world economy," he said, could not be isolated.

"Measures designed to promote prosperity must have a relevance for Commonwealth and non-Commonwealth nations alike—for the United States, for Latin America and beyond."

Christian Science
makes prayer practical

A growing multitude have found how to have answers to their prayers. They are putting their understanding to the test daily. They are proving—many to a remarkable degree — that Christ Jesus' method of healing by prayer is practical today.

Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy shows how to solve the problems of daily life —how to overcome fear, sickness, loneliness, lack.

You are welcome to investigate what this book has to offer you and yours.

GIRL CHOKES TO DEATH ON TOOTHPASTE

BETHEL, Conn. (AP) — A medical examiner said a four-year-old girl asphyxiated herself accidentally Tuesday with toothpaste. Dr. Albert J. Trimpert said the child, Barbara Christopher, swallowed the toothpaste and choked playing in the bathroom with a doll. He said she had brushed the doll's teeth as well as her own.

COLUMNIST SENTENCED TO JAIL

Contempt Verdict Upheld

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals Tuesday upheld a criminal contempt conviction of newspaper television columnist Marie Torre in her refusal to divulge the identity of a news source.

She was sentenced to a 10-day jail term last Nov. 12.

In her defence, Miss Torre, staff member of the New York Herald Tribune, had cited the first amendment to the constitution guaranteeing freedom of the press. She has been free in her own custody pending appeal.

Her lawyer has said the case would be carried to the Supreme Court if necessary.

Miss Torre refused to name a Columbia Broadcasting System executive said to have provided information which the columnist used in an article about singer Judy Garland. Miss Garland had filed a $1,393,333 breach of contract and libel suit against CBS.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Marlon's Ways 'Too Strange' For His Wife

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marlon Brando's wife said Tuesday she will seek a divorce.

"This is final and conclusive," actress Anna Kashfi, 24, told a reporter. "I can no longer take his indifference and neglect and his strange way of living."

They were married Oct. 11, 1957. They have a four-month-old son, Christian Devi Brando.

Mrs. Brando said she has lost weight and is under a doctor's care for a possible heart condition.

"Naturally in my present condition I'm frightened," she said.

"To whom should I turn but my husband for comfort. But how can I—he is never there."

'Not a Nickel' From Chest For Coffee Parties, Teas

Community Chest campaign manager Justin Harbord denied today that coffee parties, canvassers' teas and other functions held in connection with the drive were being paid for out of Red Feather funds.

"The cost in every case is being borne by private individuals," he said. "Stories circulating that the Chest is footing the bill for campaign teas and other courtesies laid on for Red Feathers simply are not true.

"I am very disturbed that the Chest is being criticized for 'squandering' money on these things when actually the hosts in every case are paying the shot. Not a nickel has come out of Chest funds for any such event."

Mr. Harbord said functions paid for "by very generous persons, who have already given large sums of money to the campaign" include the recent coffee and doughnuts party held in connection with the navy campaign and the coffee snack in the Empress Hotel that followed the launching of the Chest balloon Monday.

BY MRS. ROSS

The Chest campaign manager said a tea for the canvassers to be held shortly would be paid for by the hostess, Mrs. Frank Ross, wife of the lieutenant-governor.

Meanwhile, the 40 employees of Smith Cedar Products Ltd. have each pledged $15 to the campaign by payroll deduction —reportedly the highest per capita contribution for a single firm in the city, 100 per cent participation."

This is in addition to $200 from the company as an advance gift.

Said Mr. Harbord, "This is the kind of thing that gives each of us Chest people a big surge of encouragement. Herschel Smith (company president) and his staff are to be applauded."

Still with giving news, the army at Work Point Barracks Tuesday contributed more than $300 to four models collecting for the Chest. The soldiers will add to the total on their next two pay-days, Oct. 15 and 31.

The campaign, officially only two days old, has already netted a third of its $300,000 ta[illegible]

BALLROOM COMING DOWN

No More Stompin' At Famed Savoy

NEW YORK (AP) — There will be no more stompin' at the Savoy.

Even the famed ballroom's piano is gone—the ivories that jumped under the fingers of Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Fats Waller, Erroll Garner.

The piano went Tuesday, by the thump of an auctioneer's gavel in the room where once the best drummers supplied the beat.

The fixtures were auctioned off as final preparations were made to tear down the Savoy, building in Harlem to make way for a housing project.

Flurry of Flipped Flapjacks Heralds Autumn Pancake Festival!

Pancake Eating in Earnest Starts This Week

When September 29th ushered in Canada's Autumn Pancake Festival, the old-time party spirit will prevail in community gatherings and in homes from coast to coast.

Naturally the excitement will centre around stacks and stacks of steaming pancakes . . . hot from the griddle . . . and topped with butter and syrup. And there'll be lots of ingenuity in the way those pancakes will be served. September is Apple Time and what could be more appropriate, for instance, than good old Apple Pancakes, made so easily by slipping pieces of fresh appl right into the waiting pancake batter? Or cheese pancakes made by grating one's favorite cheese into the batter?

There will be big pancakes and little pancakes. Big ones that take the lion's share of the griddle and when served are rolled over and skewered with a toothpick. The kind you can spread with tempting preserves and home-made fruit sauces before you do the rolling job! Then there will be baby pancakes . . . sometimes called "dollar" pancakes, because they are just about the size of a silver dollar. If you have someone who is a finicky eater . . . then baby pancakes will do the trick. They look so tempting, nestling on a plate, that it's impossible to resist them. But whatever the size and style of the pancakes, there'll be fun . . . for the Autumn Pancake Festival is a revival of the old spirit of community enjoyment . . . games, happy chatter and laughter . . . an opportunity for people to meet and live it up!

MOM'S INVENTING A NEW PANCAKE TO CELEBRATE PANCAKE FESTIVAL.

BRING ON THOSE YANKEE PITCHERS

CITY FANS LIKE MILWAUKEE

From Here, Braves in Six

PREDICT TOUGH SERIES

Professional odds-makers may have quoted the New York Yankees as slight favorites to pick up the marbles in the World Series that opened at Milwaukee County Stadium today, but as far as Victoria baseball fans are concerned, the Braves are going to do it again.

But nobody expects them to have an easy romp to their second straight world championship. None of the Victorians quizzed on their series sentiments expected the Braves to do the trick in less than six games and even the Yankee supporters predicted a six or seven-game battle.

Of the 10 city sportsmen asked to crawl out on a limb and name their favorites, six anticipated a Milwaukee triumph and four picked Casey Stengel's American League champions.

Here is how they see the Series:

Bill Prior, baseball pitcher: The wise men have picked the Yankees and that's good enough for me. It will probably go seven games, but the Yankees have what it takes. Those odds look good to me.

Wil Browne-Cave, tennis player: Who else but the Braves? I saw them play in San Francisco this summer and the whole team looked great, especially Warren Spahn. And they can hit. It's the Braves in six.

Andy Palmer, bowler: Milwaukee should win in about six games. Those two pool tickets I have on the Braves convinced me that they'll win.

Whitey Severson, lacrosse coach: I've always been a Yankee fan and I'm not going to change now. Pitching will do it. I don't think Burdette will do as well this time and the Yankees seem to have Ford and Larsen back in condition. I'll call the Yanks in six games.

John Pickburn, soccer player: It's a short series and pitching will be the key. The Braves have the best pitching and will wrap it up by the sixth game.

Laurie Carroll, golf professional: You have to go with the champions despite the odds. The Yankees will have to beat Burdette and Spahn and I don't think they can do it. I'll take Milwaukee in seven games.

Norm Baker, basketball player: The Braves are a better balanced club and should win in seven games. They have the best pitching in Spahn and Burdette; and Mathews and Aaron can take care of the hitting.

Roy Barnes, Little League baseball coach: I'd like to see Casey get his ears pinned back again, but I think he has too much reserve strength for the Braves. I'm pulling for Milwaukee but it looks like the Yankees in six games.

Stan Williams, fisherman: The Braves have the Yankees on the hook after last year and with Spahn and Burdette handling the lines, they'll have the Yankees in the net before its over. It may take seven games but Milwaukee has the balance to win again.

Glen Bath, hunter: I'm a Yankee man. They have more depth and are stronger than last year with Mantle and Skowron healthy this time. The Braves aren't any stronger and will be beaten in six games.

THAT'S WHAT CASEY SAYS

Pitching Will Decide Series

By ED WILKS

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel of New York Yankees figures the 1958 World Series, opening here today, will be a pitchers' series.

Says he:

"That Spahn wins 20 games for nine years and who's going to tell me how to beat him? Who knows how?

"A man wins 20 for nine years has to be a great pitcher and one who knows how to pitch to righthanders and lefthanders. So what good is it if you put in all righthanded batters against him or not?"

HE WILL START

Warren Spahn, the Braves' ace who won 22 this season, matching Pittsburgh's Bob Friend for the National league high, was the Milwaukee starter today. Whitey Ford (14-7) was Stengel's choice, making it an all-southpaw opener. Lew Burdette starts for the Braves in the second game.

"Take Burdette," Stengel added. "He makes everybody but the manager wrong because he wins 20 games over in that league this year, and he's only lost three since the all-star game.

"A lotta people tell you Burdette wasn't really a great pitcher and the way to beat him is don't put any lefthanders against him. But his manager pitches him three times in the last series, and who is it who beats us? Burdette. Beats us three times.

"All those people tell me how Burdette can be beat, but I notice nobody's been able to do it yet over in that league."

A LITTLE SOONER

Stengel touched on his Yankees, whose August-September slump "musta put 10 years on me because I sorta thought we should have won the pennant a little sooner than we did.

"We won the pennant because early in the season we get some rain and you think that might hurt us, but it helps us because I can pitch my two best, Ford and Turley, in almost all of those early games.

"And while I'm at it, Turley is my pitcher Thursday in the second game. He won 21 for us and he was great."

Bob Turley, a righthander, was the only consistent pitcher the Yankees had, and he went into a late slump too. Whitey Ford began strong but of late has been hampered by a sore elbow.

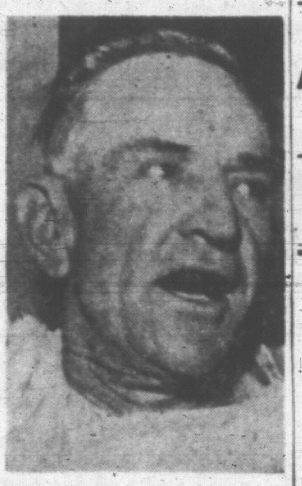

NO CLOWN

Spahn, incidentally, denied Tuesday that he had ever referred to manager Casey Stengel of New York Yankees as "a clown."

The 37-year-old southpaw sought out Stengel during the morning workout and personally apologized.

"I want you to know," Spahn said to Stengel, who managed Warren when he was with Boston Braves in 1942, "that I did not call you a clown. The fellow who wrote that misinterpreted by remarks."

Stengel accepted the apology and told Spahn he regarded him as one of the finest gentlemen in baseball as well as one of the greatest pitchers he had ever seen.

STORY ABOUT 'COOKIE' COULD BE HOT POTATO

HAMILTON (CP) — Cookie Gilchrist, all-star fullback sold by Hamilton Tiger-Cats to Saskatchewan Roughriders earlier this year, has indicated intention to sue sports writer Jim Hunt and the Toronto Star Limited for $50,000.

In a writ issued by his lawyers, 23-year-old Gilchrist claims a story published in the Aug. 16 issue of The Star Weekly was "defamatory" and that his character and reputation have been "severely injured."

The action started by Gilchrist would be heard in the Supreme Court of Ontario.

'WITH BIG HEARTS'

Hal Has Feeling For 'Little Guys'

Most pleasant surprises in the training camp of the Western Hockey League club, however, have come from youngsters who are both big and sturdy.

Norman Ryder is the best example. A Calgary boy who towers six-foot-two above hardwood and weighs 198 pounds, Ryder was a complete dark horse to Laycoe, although he had been recommended by George Boothman, former Toronto Maple Leaf. Working on the right defence spot, he has been showing hustle, savvy, and the hardest point shot that Laycoe has seen in a while.

STAND-UP GOALIE

Another big young man is 23-year-old Don Campbell. Reporting to the Royals last year under the effects of a summer pneumonia bout, he didn't show very much, but he went on to place on the second all-star with the Soo Greyhounds. His stand-up type of goal-tending in this training camp shows why.

But no matter what the big boys do, it's the pros like Arnie Schmautz and Arlo Goodwin, "little guys with big hearts," that Laycoe has a feeling for.

Three exhibitions in the next four days are on tap for the Royals, with the first one against the Packers, defending western Canadian champs. Friday night they'll meet Coley Hall's Vancouver Canucks in Kamloops and on Saturday they play Ken McKenzie's Kamloops Chiefs.

The Saturday game will be replete with memories, since fellows like Max McNab, Bev Bentley, Ron Matthews and Schmautz all played with the Royals in the days of McKenzie's regime in the WHL club.

Pellow Meets Bill Wakeham In Club Semis

Semifinals of the Uplands Golf Club championship will be played Sunday.

Former Canadian junior champion Bill Wakeham, having downed Fred Ranson, 7 and 6, Sunday, will meet Gordon Pellow, fresh from a two-up win over Owen Jull. In the second championship match, Al Reside will play Danny McLean, who defeated club captain Claude Heggie, 3 and 2. Reside edged Vic Lea by the same score.

New Signal-Caller

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions have signed quarterback Al Dorow — formerly with Michigan State, the professional Washington Redskins and Saskatchewan Roughriders—to boost their bleak fortunes in the Western Football Conference.

PELLETIER REPORTS

Who Predicted He'd Be Late?

NELSON (Special)—It was a surprise to those who know Marcel Pelletier best, but the all-star goaltender reported on schedule at the Victoria Cougars' training camp at Nelson Arena Tuesday.

Pelletier, who equalled his Western Hockey League record of eight shutouts while blocking pucks for Vancouver Canucks last season, is an avid baseball fan and it was expected he would remain in Milwaukee to pull for the Braves in the first two World Series games.

But Marcel says he wants to have another good season and didn't want to lose time getting into condition. He was out on the ice this morning as coach Pat Egan sent the Cougars though their third session of scrimmaging.

SKATING WELL

Pelletier, who spent three seasons at Victoria before being shifted to Vancouver last year, saw a couple of his former team-mates setting the pace for the Cougars.

Doug Anderson and Doug Macauley, a pair of bustling forwards, have been setting the pace in Cougars' drills.

"Anderson is skating better than at any time last season," Egan said. "He should have a good season. And Macauley is rounding into condition faster than I expected."

Egan, who also had a word of praise for rookie winger Ron Blackburn, is worried about his lack of defence talent, although satisfied with the work of newcomer Jean Marc Picard.

WAITING FOR NEWS

Still hoping to acquire Jack Bionda, Egan is waiting for word from Boston Bruins to learn what player help can be expected from the National Hockey League club.

Best line for the Cougars in their first two scrimmage sessions was made up of Anderson at centre and George Ford and Murray Wilkie on the wings.

Diminutive forward Art Stone has been showing a lot of hustle, but as yet Egan has not had him working regularly on any line. He had Macauley and Al Nicholson flanking veteran Enio Sclisizzi on one unit Tuesday and plans to try Stan Baliuk, Gordon Haworth and Blackburn on another line.

The Victoria manager-coach has put his charges through brisk, twice-daily workouts and is determined the club will be in top condition before their opening game at Vancouver on Oct. 10.

"We won't ease up on our workouts," he says. "This club is going to be in shape."

SPONSOR NEEDED

Puck Loop Faces One More Barrier

Commercial League hockey is slated to return to Victoria's Memorial Arena after a vacation of two seasons.

Doug Fletcher, president of the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association, has announced that only one major obstacle remains to be cleared before plans for a four-team league start rolling in high gear.

Needed is one more sponsor.

Fletcher said that present sponsors of teams are the Minor Hockey Association, Navy and Army. "We have plenty of players for the fourth team," he said, "but as yet we have not found a sponsor to pay for equipping the club."

FULL SLATE

He expects the cost of sponsoring a club will be around $650.

Operated by a three-man commission of Fletcher, Joe Dukowski and Walt Summerfeldt, the amateur clubs will be in action at Memorial Arena Wednesday and Saturday nights when the professional Cougars are not scheduled. This would give city puck fans a full list of games on those two nights through the winter.

If all goes as expected, a Victoria all-star team will enter Coy Cup competition, meeting Nanaimo for the Vancouver Island intermediate championship and the right to advance into playoffs with mainland teams.

EXHIBITION GAMES

Fletcher said that teams from the commercial loop would clash with Nanaimo in exhibition tussles during the season.

It is hoped that a fourth sponsor will be obtained before a meeting at the arena next week. All interested persons are invited to attend the session, date of which will be announced before the weekend.

Could It Be That Esk Igloo Melting?

EDMONTON (CP)—Gloom was thick among the football followers in Edmonton Tuesday following the 43-13 trouncing of their favorite Eskimos by Winnipeg Blue Bombers in a Western Football Conference game Monday night.

All hope, however, was not given up.

Reactions were varied and their were some signs that the gas flame beneath the coach-roasting oven was being turned up, but logic prevailed in many quarters.

The reactions were brought on not only from the score—worst beating Eskimos have taken in at least five years—but from a bit of strategy employed by rookie coach Melvin "Sam" Lyle, the former Oklahoma University assistant who succeeded Frank "Pop" Ivy here.

Lyle sent an all-Canadian backfield against the Bombers for most of the first half of the ball game and they didn't make as much headway as some felt the regulars might have made.

"ENORMITY"

"The enormity of coach Lyle's decision to start his second string backfield against the toughest club in the league in the most important game of the season to date leaves me both perplexed and amazed," said Tom (Edmonton Journal) Harris.

". . . We feel this was most definitely not the time, nor the place to pull such a caper . . ."

But club president Cec Ross says this "is for the birds."

"We hire a coach to handle his club as he sees fit," said Ross, "and we're doing all right."

Lyle summed up his position this way:

"We felt that the Canadians we had in there were pretty good football players. Don Getty has proven himself in the past. Rollie Miles has been a good player over the years. Jim Shipka and Mike Lashuk can carry the ball and Oscar Kruger does all right, too.

"The plan was to have Getty throw the ball and with his crew move the ball into scoring position. Then we'd send in Parker and Bright and the rest to get the ball across. It worked in the first quarter when Getty passed us down to the 15 and then Parker went in and we scored.

"Where the plan backfired was on defence. We couldn't stop Winnipeg to get the ball away from them."

Mrs. Todd's score of 84-3—81 also earned her runner-up honors for the net prize, which was won by Uplands' Mrs. Lawson with 86-7—79.

Riders Blame Burns On Edmonton's Field

REGINA (CP) — Manager-coach Ken Preston of the Saskatchewan Roughriders said Tuesday several of the Western Football Conference club's players suffered what has been diagnosed as chemical burns at a game in Edmonton Saturday.

Preston said the condition of the players was improved Tuesday but that if the burns became infected they would seriously hamper the club's play.

He said club doctor W. C. Rennick had diagnosed the burns as chemical.

It was reported Monday that the burns might have resulted from the use of a lime mixture to mark the field, but Edmonton officials say lime is not used at Clarke Stadium.

Preston said the burns were caused by wet clothing. Rain fell for three hours prior to Saturday night's game.

End Ken Carpenter and centre Kurt Burris suffered the worst effects and were reported scarcely able to walk Sunday morning. Burns were also received by guard Ron Atchison, end Doug Killoh and tackle Len Legault. All saw action Monday night against British Columbia Lions, when Riders won 22-6.

YANKS NOT FEARED

Warning Signs Up in Europe

LONDON (AP)—Strange things are happening to American heavyweight contenders on this side of the Atlantic.

Only last Sept. 14, Eddie Machen, unbeaten, and the No. 2 contender from Redding, Calif., was flattened in the first round by European champion Ingemar Johansson of Sweden.

Next to visit London will be Zora Folley, Uncle Sam's No. 1 contender from Chandler, Ariz. He fights Henry Cooper Oct. 14.

Pastrano and his manager, Angelo Dundee, still are moaning over the technical knockout. But whether the cut came from a butt or a punch, the result still goes into the book as a fifth-round TKO.

Willie, who had cried bitterly after referee Jack Hart raised London's right hand in triumph, said, "If I butt a guy, I would say so. He was butting all right—no punches."

London, a strapping, 24-year-old 207-pounder, dropped a close 10-round decision to Pastrano last Feb. 25. He was an unknown then. On the strength of his showing against Willie he earned a crack at British champion Joe Erskine and flattened him in eight rounds.

Pastrano, who never had been stopped before, boxed his foe's ears off in the fourth round and through most of the fifth. But late in the fifth, blood began streaming down Willie's face.

Big and strong and fighting aggressively like an American, London pressed the 187½-pound Pastrano through the first three rounds.

The loss was Willie's sixth against 48 victories and snapped his latest winning streak at seven. London now has a 22-3 record, including 18 knockouts. His father and manager, Jack London, once held the British heavyweight title himself.

TOE BLAKE
. . . standing pat

CANADIAN CHAMP

SPOKANE (AP)—Alexander J. Karle, 63, a retired Spokane police officer who fought under the name of "Kid Alexander" and claimed the middleweight championship of Canada in 1915, died Monday at his home here.

Other Clubs Would Like To Have Toe's Problems

By TOE BLAKE
Coach, Montreal Canadiens

MONTREAL (UPI) — I'm going into National Hockey League race with pretty much of a stand-pat club, but it doesn't mean we'll stay that way.

True, we won the title last year by 19 points, and we won a third straight Stanley Cup. One more and it'll be a record. But records are more easily tied than broken. We'll have our troubles.

On the surface there's only one regular job open. That's left wing on the line with Jean Beliveau and Boom Boom Geoffrion. Last year the position was held by Bert Olmstead and he was quite an asset. Now he's with Toronto.

Who will it be this year? We have four going for it. There is Ab McDonald, who scored 30 goals for Rochester; Bo Elik, a 70-goal man in two years at Cleveland; our own capable fill-in of last year, Marcel Bonin, and Ralph Backstrom of our Memorial Cup champs, Ottawa Canadiens. The kid is really flying. I've almost got to put him in somewhere.

At this time I can't conceive of breaking up the other lines—Maurice and Henri Richard with Dickie Moore, and the third line of Phil Goyette, Andre Pronovost and Claude Provost.

Let me say something about Maurice Richard. At 37, he's the oldest in the league. The other night we had an intra-squad game. Richard led one club, Doug Harvey the other. I watched it from the catwalk upstairs. The Rocket was the hardest working guy in the game. He played like he was trying to make the team.

As for Richards' kid brother, Claude, the Vest Pocket Rocket, he doesn't have much finesse and style but he knows the road to the net. He's a couple of years away, I'd say, and may wind up in Spokane or with the Montreal Royals.

On defense, we'll be without Dollard St. Laurent, who went to Chicago, but we have four holdovers—Doug Harvey, who knows how to pace himself, and Tom Johnson, Guy Talbot and Bob Turner. I'll want to carry a fifth man, and it may be either Junior Langlois or Irwin Spencer, who made the All-Stars for the Peterborough Juniors.

I'm planning to carry 12 forwards, meaning three spares, and I know Donnie Marshall will be one of them. He's a handy guy. It's quite a squad, very tough to cut. Still, we'll be having our troubles. Nothing comes easy.

Hill Improves Scoring Margin

Saskatchewan halfback Jack Hill boosted his lead in the individual scoring race in the Western Football Conference with a 27-point weekend performance.

Hill scored a single touchdown Saturday, then collected three more touchdowns and three converts Monday for all but one of Roughriders' points as they crushed British Columbia Lions 22-6.

Hill, second-year import from Utah State, has eight touchdowns and 20 converts for 68 points.

Another Champion In d'Amato Stable?

NEW YORK (AP) — Cus d'Amato believes he is going to hit the championship jackpot for the second time with an Olympic boxer.

The crewcut, white-haired manager guided Floyd Patterson to the world heavyweight title four years after the Brooklyn Bomber won the Olympic middleweight crown at Helsinki in 1952.

Now Cus is confident he can turn the trick again with Jose Torres, Puerto Rican-born runner-up for the Olympic light middleweight championship at Melbourne in 1956.

"Torres is almost as good as Patterson was at a similar stage of his pro career," said d'Amato. "I think Jose can go all the way. He is a fine boxer, hits hard if not as hard as Floyd, and has wonderful poise."

Will he hit the top as fast as Patterson?

"It all depends on his opportunities. If he gets the chance to fight the right opponents, then he may achieve the goal even faster."

Flores, 22, and five feet, 11 inches, has swept his first six fights, four of them by knockouts. He was scheduled for his first 10-round bout Monday night but only had to go five in stopping Otis Woodard of New York at St. Nicholas Arena.

INLET FISHING GOOD

Long Prize List For Coho Derby

Salmon and prizes galore could be the theme at Saanich Inlet Saturday and Sunday.

The occasion is the annual coho salmon fishing derby, jointly sponsored by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and Greater Victoria Lions Club in aid of the Cerebral Palsy Association.

Prizes are assured. Derby chairman Sparky Romano has announced that more than 50 prizes will be up for grabs.

The fish may be another matter. But Saanich Inlet has been one of the most consistent producers of coho over the last two weeks and veteran fishermen expect that the good fishing will continue well past this weekend.

HITTING BUCKTAILS

Hitting bucktail flies and other lures in all parts of the inlet, the scrappy silvers are averaging around seven pounds and a good number are dipping the scales below the 10-pound mark.

Adding to the angling spice are a host of grilse up to two pounds and a fair number of spring salmon.

The prize everyone wants to win is the consolation award of a 12-foot fiberglas boat, equipped with outboard motor and trailer, which may be won by any person who buys a $1 derby ticket.

START AT DAYBREAK

Only coho salmon will be eligible for prizes in the derby, which will be conducted under usual VSIAA rules. Fishing starts at daybreak Saturday and continues until 2 p.m. Sunday.

Anglers may weigh in their catches at Hall's Boathouse, Goldstream; Holder's Boathouse, Deep Cove, or at the Anchorage, Brentwood, where prize presentations will be held at approximately 3.30 Sunday.

'GO BY SHIP, BACK BY PLANE; VERY NICE TRIP'

Sam 'Slipped Away' to Hong Kong

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Dozens of customers had their shoes shined by Sam Lowe at the Empress Hotel today without knowing that Sam had just returned from a nine-months' visit to his native Hong Kong.

Sam is friendly and courteous to customers but rarely talks about himself. He prefers objective conversation about the weather, and unless you ask him where he has been, he won't bother to tell you.

The odd thing is Sam slipped away so quietly nine months ago that few customers knew he had gone, since his place was taken by a Chinese friend who looks rather like him.

Today, however, a customer noticed the difference and asked: "Have you been away?"

"Up-Island?"

"No, Hong Kong."

"Over there long?"

"Nine month. Go by ship. Back by plane. Very nice trip."

Under pressure, Sam divulged these facts:

He went to Hong Kong because he had been in Victoria 50 years and wanted to see his family again before he got "too old." He is 61 and came here as a boy of 11 with his uncle, who went back.

He has been shining shoes in the Empress basement for 17 years. Before them he worked as a cook—in restaurants and in private homes.

TOO HOT

Was he glad to be back in Victoria?

"Very. Too hot there. Too many people. Too much noise. Too much dust. Victoria better—much better. Settle down now. No more trips."

In his cryptic way, Sam sketched a picture of Hong Kong as a bustling crowded city of some 3,000,000 souls, some very rich and some very poor.

Most of the Chinese there would rather be ruled by Britain than link up with Communist China. They are not afraid of the Communists and do not believe Britain will let them interfere.

'End Sockeye Embargo'—Fishermen

VANCOUVER (CP) — The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union have decided to ask the federal government to rescind for the balance of the 1958 fishing season the existing embargo on shipment of Fresh B.C. sockeye salmon to the U.S.

The decision followed a meeting between the union and the B.C. Fisheries Association which has announced it will buy no more sockeye from the Adams River run.

Fishing of Adams River sockeye was closed a week ago to allow escapment to the spawning grounds.

Fisheries officials want only a 1½ million escapment but unofficial estimates place the number of sockeye waiting to go up the river at home than two million.

If more than the 1½ million go up the river, the extra fish will overpopulate the spawning grounds and eggs will be destroyed.

NIGHT CLUB SPREES

Police Spy Spent More Than Princess

LONDON (AP)—Police who keep watch on London's night clubs are being told to spend less money on dining, wining and entertaining the hostesses.

Magistrate Sir Laurence Dunne dismissed charges of out-of-hours drinking at the Stork Room in the West End because of inconclusive testimony.

Inspector Norman Fairman had testified that on one occasion he visited the club in plain clothes with a doctor friend. Their bill came to £20 8s and they gave presents of £5 ($14) each to the two hostesses who dined, drank and danced with them.

The owner of the Stork Room, William Ofner, talked to reporters about the inspector's bill and compared it with the night Princess Margaret visited the club.

"She was with Lord Punkett and Lord Grenville in a party of nine," Ofner said. "They had a wonderful time —all on £21."

U.S. Fighter May Be Bought By Canada

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Introduction into the Canadian air defence system of a U.S. interceptor fighter is expected to follow the decision to shelve the CF-105.

The Canadian government is expected to buy several supersonic American interceptors and perhaps later make arrangements to have the U.S. aircraft built in Canada under licence.

A high-flying supersonic aircraft is essential to intercept and identify, before the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile is shot into the air to knock down enemy aircraft. Ottawa has already announced it will order U.S. Bomarcs.

The U.S. now has in the air or in an advanced development stage several interceptor fighters which might be adopted by Canatia. The 106-B Convair is one.

Calder to Attend Indian Conference In Saskatchewan

Frank Calder, former MLA for Atlin, has been invited by the Saskatchewan government to participate in the Indian conference to be held in Vallet Centre, Fort Qu'Appelle, Oct. 27 and 28.

The conference is being called to discuss the question of the provincial franchise and the amendment of the Saskatchewan Liquor Act to provide for the removal in part or in whole of the restrictions which presently apply to the Indians of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Calder, long active in the interests of Indians' rights to the two matters in question, has been requested to give the reactions of the British Columbia Indians to the granting of a provincial franchise and the limited right of Indians under the British Columbia Liquor Act.

The former Indian member has wired his acceptance to attend the Fort Qu'Appelle Indian conference.

No Prosecutions For Sunday Sale By Gas Stations

A police drive to halt Sunday sales of gasoline fell into confusion Tuesday after Mayor Percy Scurrah indicated prosecutions would not be permitted by the attorney-general's department.

"I don't know what is going to happen now," said Police Chief John Blackstock, who had warned service station operators the past two weekends that the Lord's Day Observance Act prohibiting the sales would be enforced strictly.

CIL Sues Striking Union for $100,000

EDMONTON (CP)—Canadian Industries Limited, its polythene plant here tied up by 185 striking workers, has filed notice of suit for $100,000 against the union involved for damages caused by alleged "illegal picketing." CIL earlier obtained a writ injunction restraining members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union from picketing the plant.

ISLAND DIGEST

V.I. Man Waits Ottawa Word On Deportation

CROFTON—Charles Green, English sailor ordered expelled from Canada because he entered illegally, is awaiting word from Ottawa as to whether he can remain in Canada or must leave.

An appeal against the deportation order was made through the immigration department office in Victoria. Final decision will be made by the office of Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough.

Lance Heard, Duncan lawyer representing Green, said a petition bearing 250 names and asking that Green be allowed to stay in Canada, accompanied the appeal. Names are still being sought, he said.

Copies of the appeal were sent to Defence Minister George Peakes and Walter F. Matthews, Nanaimo MP.

Mr. Heard said his client may remain in Canada pending a decision from the department.

Green, of Sussex, England, jumped his ship in Montreal in 1955, and travelled to Vancouver Island, where he settled at Crofton. He assumed the name of Don Ewing and worked as a service station attendant, a job he still holds.

Green's true name came to light when he turned himself in to the authorities, claiming a person in Crofton threatened him with blackmail.

Green gained the respect of the residents of Crofton during his stay here. He voted in two elections.

He said he stayed in Canada because he thought it was "a bit of heaven."

EARLY FERRY FOR WORKERS FROM VESUVIUS

GANGES — New ferry schedules for the Gulf Islands ferry service, which are in effect until April 25, 1959, now include the requested early morning trip from Vesuvius to Crofton.

Leaving Vesuvius at 7.15 a.m., the sailing will permit Salt Spring residents to work on Vancouver Island.

The service had been requested by the Salt Spring Chamber of Commerce. The extra morning trip will operate daily except Sundays, when an extra noon trip will be added to the regular schedule.

Chemainus Backs Crofton Drive For Boat Ramp

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus and District Chamber of Commerce will support Crofton Ratepayers Association in its bid to have the provincial government build a boat launching ramp at the foot of Joan Avenue in Crofton.

The Rod and Gun Club already has backed the project.

Tenders for work on the government wharf at Chemainus to provide additional mooring space will be called shortly, a letter from the district engineer's office advised.

Appointment of Eric Robinson as chamber secretary was approved. He had been serving as secretary pro-tem since early in the spring.

Ed Hess complained about vandals breaking lights in Chemainus. All lights had recently been checked and repaired, but in less than a week many had been broken. The chamber will take the matter up with the municipality.

400 All Set For First United Appeal

NANAIMO — First United Appeal drive in the city's history, with an objective of $46,000, got under way today with 400 canvassers seeking donations.

Canvassers were briefed at a Tuesday night rally in the Eagles' Hall. It was attended by W. F. Matthews, Nanaimo MP; Recreation Minister Earle Westwood, Nanaimo, MLA; Robert Strachan, opposition leader, and Mayor Pete Maffeo.

The appeal will represent 16 agencies.

Job Picture Gloomy For Winter

NANAIMO—The employment picture this winter will be "in bad shape" according to a forecast by Nanaimo and District Labor Council vice-president Arnold Smith.

He said construction workers will be particularly hard hit.

In a meeting, the council urged the provincial government to bring salary scales of government employees to "a more realistic level." The resolution was passed after delegates heard there had been no change in the pay scale since 1956.

Public Mischief Charges Laid In Prosecution

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Charges of public mischief have been laid against city prosecutor Peter Wilson, RCMP Staff Sgt. A. N. Beaumont and Robert F. Guest.

The informations were sworn out by lawyer John M. Tayler before police magistrate P. J. Moran.

Mr. Tayler was charged with car theft last week but the case was later dropped.

STEEL HOODS FOR TRACTORS URGED BY CORONER'S JURY

DUNCAN—A coroner's jury here Monday returned a verdict of "accidental death" in the fatal tractor-crushing Saturday of Truman Wheeler, 47, of Chemainus.

The jury recommended that tractors be equipped with steel hoods over the driver's seat to help prevent injury to the operator if the machine rolled.

The tractor Wheeler was operating rolled down an embankment at a railway bridge demolition site four miles north of Chemainus.

Coroner was Dr. J. S. Goodbrand.

Local Pride Upset Over Name-Changing

NANAIMO — Nanaimo District Labor Council decided this week to change its name to Alberni-Nanaimo District Labor Council to emphasize that its jurisdiction takes precedence over that of the older Alberni District Labor Council, which the Nanaimo body claims does not hold a CLC charter.

The name change, however, raised certain problems of local pride. W. T. Morgan, IWA representative from Duncan, wanted to know why Duncan's name should not appear in the official name of the organization.

President J. F. Colwell said the move was taken to proclaim that the former Nanaimo body's jurisdiction extends over the Albernis and that the older Alberni Labor Council is not an official labor body.

RULED OUT

The possibility of using the more appropriate name Upper Island District Labor Council had to be ruled out because the CLC constitution specifically stated that labor councils shall be identified by the principal city lying within their jurisdiction.

The Nanaimo body, however, will seek the support of the B.C. Federation of Labor in requesting that section of the constitution be changed at the next CLC general meeting.

6 Out of 7 Acquitted

NANAIMO (CP)—A 25-year-old man was acquitted Tuesday by an Assize Court jury of a charge of rape.

It was the sixth acquittal in seven cases heard by the court this assize.

The 12-man jury deliberated 2½ hours before bringing in a not guilty verdict against Peter Helland of Chemainus.

The trial, held behind closed doors, began Monday and was presided over by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

Hereward to Join Nanaimo Sewer Plan

NANAIMO—Residents of the Harewood Improvement District on Monday voted by a 556-160 margin to join the proposed Greater Nanaimo sewer board.

Trustee A. R. Glen said the result would mean an initial tax increase of three mills.

The Harewood share of the $287,000 program will be $93,000.

Wounded Bear Alert Sounded Up-Island

CAMPBELL RIVER — Children at Campbellton Elementary School have been warned to avoid wooded areas as a wounded bear is believed to be in the vicinity.

On Sunday, Joe Meredith shot and killed a cub which was in one of his apple trees. He then saw the mother bear, which had broken into his barn and was eating stored apples. He fired but the bear escaped, wounded.

"It set up a loud roaring," he said.

Gaglardi Backs Air Strip Plan

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi is willing to apply for provincial funds to obtain landing strip properties in unorganized areas, F. M. McGregor, president of B.C. Airlines, said Monday.

B.C. Aviation Council welcomed the development and congratulated Mr. Gaglardi's "vision and enterprise in taking this position," Mr. McGregor said.

The airline president said Mr. Gaglardi also is willing to accept property immediately from municipalities and villages for air strip use.

FEDERAL GRANTS

The department will apply to the federal government for grants to develop the donated properties into airfields. Department of Transport has indicated willingness to provide the development grants.

"It is believed this policy will apply equally to land owned by the provincial government," said Mr. McGregor.

"Probably the most important aspect of air strip development in the province is the minister's willingness to apply for provincial funds to acquire property in unincorporated areas.

Unorganized areas at present cannot obtain federal assistance for development of air strips unless the land is owned by the provincial government, Mr. McGregor said.

Two-Year Prison Term Suspended For Gas Stealer

He was charged with siphoning gas the night of Aug. 6 from the car of Gordon Green, 1129 North Park, to his own vehicle.

"I find you guilty," said Magistrate A. I. Thomas, but he added "I am deeply concerned with the welfare of this young man."

MRS. SARAH WALTON

101-Year-Old Woman's Rites Held Today

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Walton, 857 McClure, died Saturday in her 102nd year.

Funeral service was to be held in Hayward's chapel at 1.30 p.m. with Rev. E. J. Hulford of Vancouver and Canon E. A. Greenhalgh officiating.

Interviewed on her 100th birthday she said at that time "a 100 years is too much for anyone. I don't think I like it. 'Taint often the snow lies that long on the ground."

Born in Kent, England, and a resident of Victoria the past 65 years, she had been a member of Court Triumph, IOOF.

Sockeye Run May Be Late For Festival

The famous sockeye salmon run, normally due to arrive in the Salmon Arm area on Thanksgiving Day, is expected to be delayed approximately one week.

More than 1,500,000 sockeye are now milling around the Gulf of Georgia, and have not entered the Fraser River on their annual spawning run.

L. J. Wallace, chairman of the B.C. centennial committee, has announced that the salute to the sockeye celebration at Squilax Reserve will go on as usual. But, Mr. Wallace points out the main run of the salmon will not be on hand as anticipated.

It is predicted that the main run should hit Little River around the weekend of Oct. 18, 19.

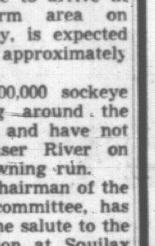

The Chase-Salmon Arm centennial committee will, however, commence their usual celebrations Oct. 10, continuing until Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 13.

Elaborate arrangements are being prepared on a special section at the Squilax Reserve. One section will be sponsored by the Chase-Salmon Arm centennial committee, which will highlight Indian tribal dancing, Royal Canadian Navy concerts, square dancing, with various rides and games.

FIVE LOAD, ONE WAITS

Shipping Activity Hits High Tempo

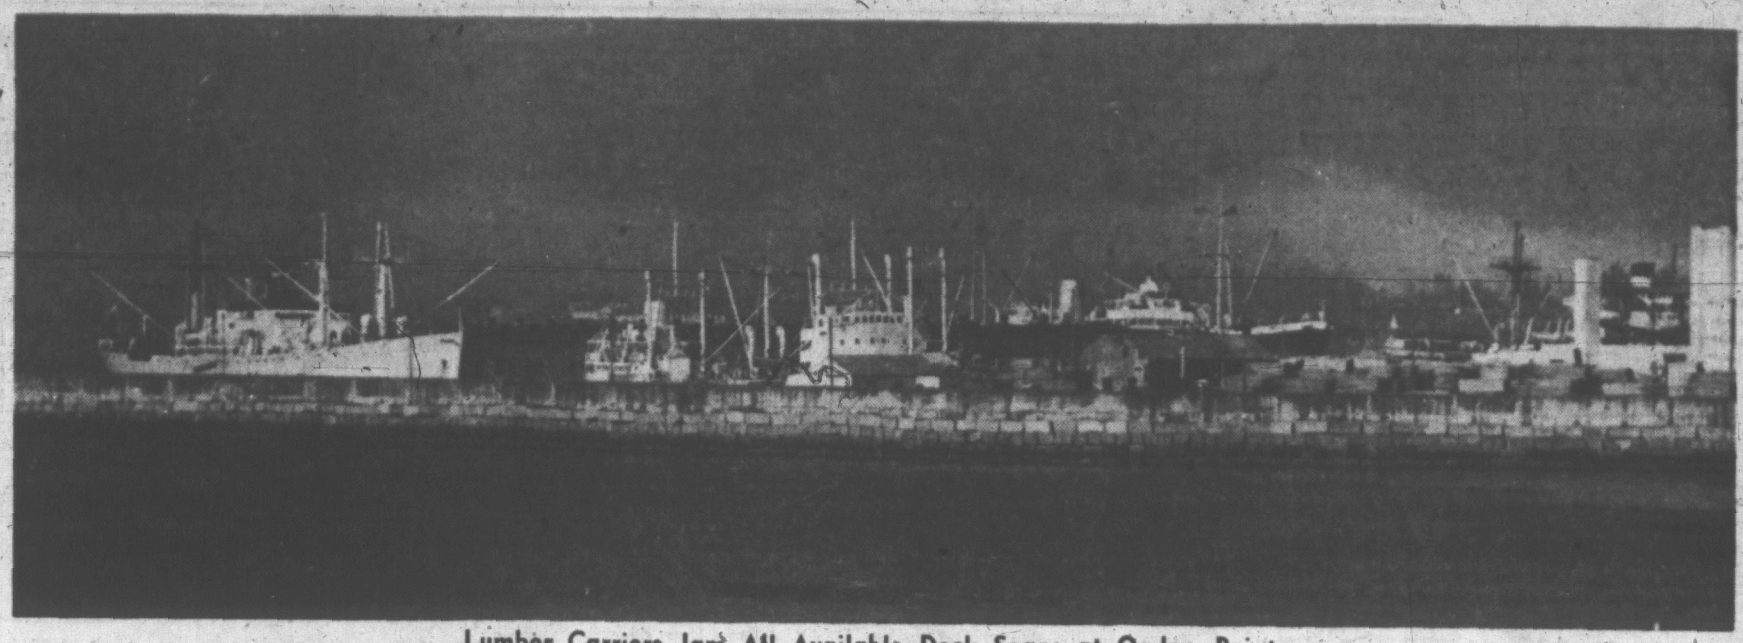

Post-strike shipping activity at Ogden Point reached a peak today, with five ships loading lumber and one anchored in Royal Roads awaiting berth space.

The six ships will take a total of more than 5,000,000 board feet from the jam-packed docks, where lumber has been accumulating since the longshore strike started Aug. 21.

Another 1,500,000 feet left Monday aboard an Australian freighter, to presage a week which will see more than 7,000,000 feet moved from this port.

Loading today at The Point are: Cnosa, 1,154,000 feet for the eastern seaboard, U.S.A.; Alabama, 850,000 for U.K.; Cape Clear, 760,000 for U.K.; Agios Nichalaos, 1,128,000 feet, for the eastern seaboard; British Monarch, 425,000 for U.K.

Irish spruce is at anchor in Royal Roads, and will commence loading 480,000 feet for the U.K. when space is available.

MON BERTS

Newton was conked on the cranium by an apple, thus enabling him to discover the law of gravity (since repealed by various Sputniks).

Archimedes was startled by a ring around his bathtub, which caused him to jump out, wringing wet, and shout, "Eureka, I have found it." (I believe the Eureka to which he referred was a new color for detergents.)

Mind you, these great discoveries were not ALL accidental. The men involved had been puzzling over problems for a long time, and what the accident did was activate their subconscious minds.

In much the same way, I discovered the great plan to shorten names.

I have been subconsciously worrying about this, in sympathy with the telephone people, ever since the new directory came out, complete with small print and abbvtns.

But it was sheer accident which led me to the solution.

I was enquiring after my friend, Ray Wormald, and by a slip of the tongue referred to him as Raymold.

And then—even as Newton and Archimedes and Watt—I knew I had found it!

Why waste breath and space in telephone directories (not to mention newspapers) with both given names and surnames?

Why not combine them—such as Raymold. And, as at the top of this space, Monberts?

Most names which spring to mind would not suffer from this combination.

On the contrary, many would benefit.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, I'm sure, would be delighted to be referred to as Geoffiow. As for the mayor, what pleasanter, happier name than Purrah!

I can think of lots of them. The shipbuilder, Harbund. The credit man, jealous. The newspaper publisher, Steate. The movie star, Marrow. The YMCA men, Vivacher and Arkinnon. The tugboatman, Donworthy. The police leader, Johnstock. The symphonist, Huber. The eminent lawyer, Mondrake.

You can, of course, add to and expand this list with the greatest of ease.

I am sure the telephone company will bless you for doing so.

RETIRING as commanding officer of 40 Technical Squadron RCEME, Maj. C. M. McBratney will be guest of honor at a farewell party to be held Oct. 11 at Bay Street Armoury by members of his unit. The major has been with the militia squadron for about five years and is moving to Ottawa in connection with his civil work.

Shipyard Men Leaving Town To Hunt Jobs!

Skilled Workers Lost to Victoria

Two Victoria labor leaders warned today that local shipyards will be crippled by a serious lack of trained workers "if they do not get some big shipbuilding contracts soon."

They said shipyard workers are "fast leaving the province" for other parts of Canada and to the U.S., many quitting the industry for farming and other work.

Jim McConachie, business manager of Victoria Local 191 of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, said "at least 70 men have left B.C. in the past six months."

TO SAN DIEGO

He said some had gone to work in new shipyards being built in San Diego, Calif.

"The situation is getting desperate," he said. "Men are heading east and south trying to find work. Others are on the prairies. We are losing a lot of good men, men we can ill-afford to let go."

Mr. McConachie noted that San Diego is particularly attractive to the unemployed men "because it is highly subsidized by the U.S. government."

He said local yards are "crying out for work" and the picture will blacken within the next few weeks "if we don't get some big work soon."

GRIM WINTER

Ernie Orchin, business agent for the Machinists, Fitters and Helpers Union, Local 3, said his membership is faced with a "very grim winter, with 50 out of work already."

"Some men have been looking for jobs for a whole year," he added. "Many have exhausted their unemployment benefits and are just getting by, hustling a day's work here and there."

New 'Peace' Organization Hammers Out 4-Point Plan

City Groups Get Behind Co-Ordinating Society

A new organization devoted to the cause of peace, but not affiliated with any political organization, was formed in Victoria Tuesday night.

Its birthplace was the Health and Welfare Centre at 1947 Cook Street and it will be tentatively known as the Society for Peace by Peaceful Means.

"If someone can suggest a better title we shall be glad to consider it," said Mrs. Rosemary Hamilton, chairman of the constitutional committee, and one of the founders.

"The inauguration of this co-ordinating society is particularly timely in view of the dangerous situation now existing over Formosa.

"We want to overcome the fear in people's minds that they will be called fellow travellers (with Communism) if they speak out for peace. "Above all, we want to combat the general feeling of helplessness people have—the feeling they can do nothing to prevent a suicidal world war."

Mrs. Hamilton is one of a group of 12 Victorians who got together last June to see what they could do to promote peace without getting involved in party politics.

The Society for Peace By Peaceful Means is the result.

Work for 'Peace by Peaceful Means'

At its inaugural meeting the society hammered out these objectives:

1. To assist in co-ordinating the activities of groups and individuals working for peace by peaceful means.

2. To initiate and promote any activity which will improve relationships between nations, and to disseminate information relating to the issues of peace and war.

3. To work towards renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy and to study and debate alternatives.

4. To encourage individuals to exercise their right to freedom of thought, speech and action.

Glen Hamilton, chairman at the inaugural meeting, said some of the society's founders were pacifists and some were not.

"But all of them had this belief in common—that war is no longer tolerable and that meeting threat with threat and bomb with super-bomb is leading us on to war.

"They believe the principles of deterrence so widely talked about is completely false. Man is not a rational logical being. He will not stay out of war just because it has been made suicidal."

It was agreed that membership in the society shall be open to persons of any race or creed, but that its operations shall be carried on chiefly in the greater Victoria area.

Contact Persons All Across Canada

At the same time, the society has compiled a list of persons writing to Canadian newspapers across the country on peace promotion issues and will communicate with them.

It was agreed to hold the annual meeting of the society in June every year and a temporary membership fee of 25 cents a year was fixed.

Officers will be elected later.

Order of the Royal Purple, B.C. Association of Social Workers, Catholic Women's League, Women of the Moose, Esquimalt Parent Teacher Association, Victoria Rotary Club, Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Humanist Fellowship, United Nations Society of Victoria, Garden City United Church, Victoria West United Church, Victoria CCF Association, St. John's Anglican Church, Local Council of Women, Victoria College UN Council.

The Society of Friends, Unitarian Fellowship, U.B.C. Alumi, Theosophists' Society, Cerebral Palsy Association, Retarded Children's Association, Oak Bay CCF, Vic Van Isle Kinsman Club, Centennial United, Oak Bay Kiwanis Club, Oak Bay Junior Chamber of Commerce, Ladies Auxiliary of the Eagles.

PENNANT, PENNANT! WHO'S GOT COMMUNITY CHEST'S PENNANT?

Okay, who's got it?

The Red Feather pennant that was tied to the Community Chest balloon is missing.

Seems a gas station crew took the balloon down from where it was flying 150 feet over the Black Ball Ferry building on Wharf Street this morning for a routine check. The pennant, tethered halfway up the cable was then still attached.

But when the men were ready to hoist the balloon again, where was the pennant—gone!

Grim-faced officials are conducting a search.

OTTAWA MINISTER HERE

Veterans Affairs Services Expanding

Veteran's Affair Minister A. J. Brooks toured Victoria Veteran's Hospital today and described it as "well worthy of the high standards maintained by B.C. hospitals."

On a cross-Canada tour from east to west, Mr. Brooks said Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes told him "you may not go to heaven, but you must go to Victoria."

After chatting with patients and staff, he commented on the friendly atmosphere prevailing. He said the number of war pensioners in Canada has more than doubled in the past 10 years, from 86,000 in 1948 to 190,000 now, while the number of WVA recipients has nearly trebled from 23,000 to 61,600.

"We are continuing to expand our services through out the country and we now have a total of nearly 14,000 on our payroll.

"I am confident that no bona fide war veteran goes without necessary medical care. Those we cannot place in military hospitals we send to civilian hospitals on a contract basis."

The minister said higher rates and ceilings and extensions in eligibility have resulted in many more veterans and dependents receiving allowances. Pension rates two years ago were $125 monthly for a total disability pensioner with an additional $45 a month for his wife.

Now the rate for the same pensioner is $150 with $50 additional for the wife.

"The present rates are exactly double the rates which were in effect from 1920 to 1957," Mr. Brooks said.

He returned to Vancouver this afternoon.

Strait Cruise On Navy Ships For 450 Veterans

A cruise of Juan de Fuca Strait aboard destroyers HMCS Skeena, Athabaskan and Cayuga is part of a program laid on for 450 members of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada who were scheduled to arrive in Victoria this afternoon.

A visit to Butchart Gardens was planned for wives of delegates while their husbands were with the navy.

The veterans are delegates to the organization's week-long convention in Vancouver which ends Saturday. Representing 80,000 member veterans across Canada, the group visiting Victoria will be headed by its national president, H. J. McGivern.

ASK The TIMES

Q. About how many divorced persons are there in Canada?—G.A.F.

A. Close to 40,000.

Q. Could you please tell me a way to smoke salmon?—R.M.B.

A. The Indian way is to get a fresh salmon, split it down the back, clean it, sprinkle the fish with coarse salt and leave it overnight. Rinse off the salt, and hang it to smoke—the fish open, with the tail, which is left on, speared with a stick to keep the fish "splayed" or open—over a green alder fire. The slow smoke for three to four days will give you the smoked salmon. It must be a continual fire. If no alder is available, use oak or maple wood. Taper off for a few hours with wild cherry wood, which will glaze the salmon. Then it's ready for slicing and eating.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Question and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

Richard Rolfe, RCN, was fined $25 when he changed his plea to guilty in city police court today on a charge of causing a disturbance by shouting on Pandora Street Sept. 22.

Cons. John Burdyny said Rolfe shouted at friends on a bus, then grabbed a young lady by the shoulders and said something "too filthy to repeat" to her.

When approached by the officer, Rolfe was quoted as saying, "Why don't you just turn around and take off." And when the constable mentioned the shouting, "I don't see any signs that say you can't shout."

Ditched Safe Found; Cash Still Missing

The Great Train Ride

LILLOOET—Premier Bennett's avowed promise that this junket to the end of steel was "strictly non-political" was broken even before the PGE left North Vancouver station Tuesday morning.

Keate

★ ★ ★

"The extension of this railway is the greatest event of the centennial year. The people of our great north country have been waiting 40 years for the promises of the Liberals and the Conservatives to be implemented. Now thanks to your Social Credit government they look forward to the future with new hope and new inspiration."

Having delivered himself of this non-political statement, the premier clambered aboard the rear platform of the first train. He was wearing a white cowboy hat. A rube band played "Love Letters in the Sand," which newsmen devoutly hoped had no reference to the road-bed, and "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain."

★ ★ ★

All this was stage-managed by Bill Clancy, sometimes known as "The Boy Promoter," who had master-minded the hoopla for the premier's celebrated invasion of Massey Hall in Toronto two years ago.

Also outfitted in a 10-gallon hat was Victoria's Waldo Skillings, who rarely strays farther from Mr. Bennett than you could throw a centennial dollar.

The junket is carrying about 400 men in three sections—first the premier and friends, second the press and businessmen, and third, plain well-wishers who are paying their own fares.

Cost of the five-day trip for guests, in fares, meals and other prerequisites, is conservatively reckoned at $75,000.

★ ★ ★

Notably absent is Bob Strachan, leader of the opposition — or, for that matter, any MLA outside Socred ranks. Sharp conflict revolves around Mr. Strachan's absence. The premier's publicity men say he was invited. But only last weekend the CCF leader told reporters he had been snubbed.

On Etiquette

PRIVACY IN PUBLIC

I was dining with friends recently at a hotel and we were half way through our dinner when a wedding party came in and sat at a long table near us. When the clergyman who was with them offered a prayer, some of my friends put down their knives and forks and bowed their heads until he finished. I contend that this was rude and uncouth, as it was "listening in." Am I wrong?

Louise Davis

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:

I wouldn't say that the bowing of heads was rude and uncouth. Although your friends "peaked," they became prayerful and reverent without thinking. Those at a table in a public restaurant are in a private group in relation to those at other tables, so what is said and done at one should be of no concern to others. That point would verify your theory. I think that when your friends felt the compulsion to bow their heads when the clergyman was praying, it would have been better had they done it so unobtrusively and inconspicuously that it would have gone unnoticed. I think I would make allowances for your friends in this particular case. It was obvious that two young people were about to be married. A prayer, even from a stranger, can be far-reaching.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Really for the Birds!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who has a parakeet that really talks, but this is the only parakeet I have ever been able to understand. I asked her how she trained the bird to talk and she said in the first place make sure you have a male bird because female birds do not make a sound. Then she said to put the bird in a teapot and whisper down the spout whatever it is you want the bird to learn. She told me this with a straight face. What I want to know is—was she kidding me?

BOBBI.

DEAR BOBBI: I have never heard of teaching a parakeet to talk in this manner and unless somebody has been kidding me, the female of any species can outtalk the male.

DEAR ABBY: I have been corresponding with a young lady from across the ocean for two years. I am 30 and she is 27. We have never met in person but I think I have fallen in love with her. We have exchanged so many letters and pictures that I feel that I know her very well. She wants me to send her the money for a ticket to come here. My friends say I am foolish because a gift of this kind is almost a promise of marriage. Is it possible to fall in love with words and pictures and what should I do about her insistence that I send her the money?

HJALMER.

DEAR HJALMER: It is possible to fall in love with words and pictures, but not very practical. For the same amount of money and no obligations you can go over there and meet this girl. I recommend it.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and am asked to go to the movies (at night) with a boy. My mother gives me money and tells me to pay my own way because then I won't owe him anything and I won't have to kiss him goodnight. I always bring the money home because the boy doesn't let me pay. I have kissed a few boys goodnight, but it wasn't to pay them back for the movie, it was because I liked them. I am a good girl and never hold a kiss more than a few seconds and I want to know if you think I should put up a bigger fight when the boy wants to pay my way?

GOOD GIRL.

DEAR GOOD: When a boy asks to take you to a movie, he expects to pay your way and would probably feel insulted if you "put up a fight." You seem to have good sense. Just keep on doing what you're doing and let your conscience be your guide.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: How do you break a child of playing with and biting extension cords? I would appreciate anything anyone knows about it. My 14-month-old child is continually playing with extension cords and today he bit into one and got a mild shock. I have spanked him and fussed at him until I want to tear my hair out but to no avail. Can anyone help me?

MYRT.

DEAR MYRT: A child of 14 months shouldn't be allowed to crawl around where he can get his hands on extension cords. He is teething . . . give him a teething ring and keep him off the floor unless he is in a playpen. You are lucky he didn't electrocute himself.

A cake made by Mrs. Lionel O'Neill was also decorated in purple and gold, with gold colored candles representing B.C.'s 100th anniversary. Mrs. Irene Fuller was invited to cut the cake.

Entertainment was provided by Jerry Gosley, accompanied by Al Denoni. Auxiliary members also took part in the entertainment by donning bonnets in Lions' colors, as part of the centennial theme, and singing welcoming and farewell parodies.

One tablespoon plain gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 3 cups finely diced apple, 1½ cups water, 1 cup granulated sugar, dash nutmeg.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Mix sugar and water in saucepan, bring to boil. Add apples, cook until barely tender, about 3 to 5 minutes. Add gelatin, then nutmeg, stir until dissolved. Spoon into 6 custard cups; chill until set. If desired, a few drops lemon juice may be added with nutmeg.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Lead With Your Chin— Dowager's Hump Will Result

Unless a woman has almost perfect posture, she is certain to develop a hump at the back of her neck by the time she is middle-aged. This may be small or it may become large enough to be really unattractive. At any rate, this is one spot a woman should watch.

Many women who hold their shoulders straight fail to pull their necks back, or they slump. They allow their heads to protrude forward and this causes the vertebra at the base of the neck to become prominent.

There is a tendency to lead with the chin. If you will pull your chin in and your neck back, you will notice that the little bump at the back of the neck disappears.

The habit of sleeping on a pillow also contributes to the dowager's hump, since the pillow pushes your head forward and holds it there during the night. Sleeping without a pillow is a splendid corrective measure.

If you feel that you cannot develop this habit, make your pillow smaller and at least lie on your bed without any at all for a while before going to sleep and before getting up in the morning.

Try these exercises: 1. Stand tall, bend the elbows and place the hands behind the head. Push back with the head as you resist with the hands. Hold while you count to 10 slowly. Relax. Continue.

2. Lie on the floor on your back, your legs straight and arms resting at the sides. Try to touch the back of your neck to the floor. In order to bring the neck as close to the floor as possible, push back with the top of your head. Hold. Relax. Continue.

3. Sit or stand, make large circles with the head, pulling as far as possible in every direction, circle first to the left and then to the right.

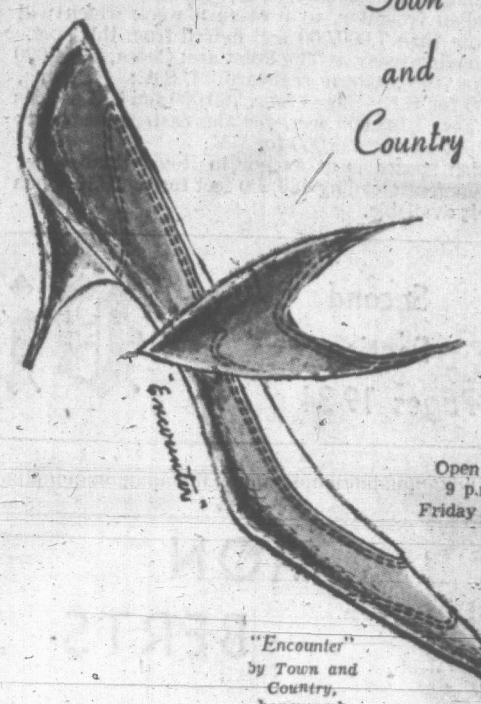

Massage and heat applications seem to help some in decreasing the deposit of fat which often accumulates in this area.

If you wish to have my leaflet No. 17 "Dowager's Hump" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Couple Exchange Wedding Vows On Parents' 25th Anniversary

Shirley Elizabeth Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Marshall, and Barry Leonard Philbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Philbrook, exchanged wedding vows recently in St. Matthias Church, and their wedding day coincided with the 25th wedding anniversary of the grooms' parents.

Archdeacon A. E. de L Nunns officiated at the double-ring ceremony, for which the candlelit church was decorated with baskets of white and pink chrysanthemums. Soloist was Glen Atkins.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of taffeta, lace and chiffon, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, renaissance bodice and gathered elbow-length sleeves. The full skirt swept to a slight train at the back. Her chapel veil was held by a Queen Anne headdress. She wore an heirloom lavaliere of pearls and rubies, and her bridal bouquet was of pink roses and stephanotis.

Pink and white flowered nylon over taffeta fashioned the waltz-length gowns worn by bridal attendants Miss Peggy Marshall and Miss Bonnie Philbrook. They were styled on princess lines with sabrina necklines tapering to a deep V at the back, where pink and green ribbons floated to hem length. They wore pink feather headbands and carried matching bouquets of pink rosebuds and stephanotis.

Jim Leech was best man for the groom and ushers were Barry Stubbs and Dennis Hartley. Col. George Paulin proposed the toast to the bride at a reception at Victoria Golf Club, and Mr. Ray Wooldridge proposed a toast to the groom's parents. Three-tier wedding cake was made by Mrs. Wooldridge, the groom's aunt.

Joan Atkinson Becomes Bride of William Webb Saturday

Centennial United Church was the setting recently for a marriage which united Miss Joan Elizabeth Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean V. Atkinson, Gorge Road, and William Ross Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Webb, Tulip Avenue.

Rev. A. Calder officiated at the ceremony, at which Mrs. Alfred Sheard was soloist.

Wearing a gown of lace and tulle, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father. The ballerina-length dress was styled with a sabrina neckline and long lily point sleeves. Tiers of the lace extended to a dipping train at the back of the skirt. A veil of illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap of lace and pearls. Red roses, white carnations and stephanotis were in the bridal bouquet.

Blue and pink embossed nylon formed the respective gowns worn by attendants, Mrs. D. Salmon and Miss Lorraine Poirer. The ballerina-length dresses were touched at the waistlines with wide cummerbunds with streamers drifting to the hemlines. They carried bouquets of carnations and stephanotis and had matching bandeaux.

Little flower girl Karen Dunn wore a dainty frock of pale pink nylon eyelet. She carried a basket of carnations and baby chrysanthemums. Albert Petrini was best man and ushers were Jack White, Bill Atkinson and Dennis Wheldon.

The bridal table at the reception held in Holyrood House was covered with a lace cloth made by the bride's grandmother. Arthur S. Yells proposed the toast.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

What Is the Sense of Orbiting the Moon?

Let's suppose that the wonderful adventure were called off. Imagine tomorrow's news announcing no more sputniks, no orbiting the moon, no landing on the moon. And no man shall ever set foot on Mars. How would that news make you feel? Would you feel let down? Indeed you would and so would every other human being. For it would put an end to one of man's dearest dreams. Only lately have we dared to voice this cherished hope—the hope of conquering space and standing on another world.

In this age old dream there is the thrill of conquering space, the possibilities of riches from another planet. But there is an even greater satisfaction. When the rockets reach Mars, our old earth reaches out to join hands with another world. Our beautiful planet will no longer be alone in this vast and lonely universe. If you could stop this wonderful adventure, would you do so?

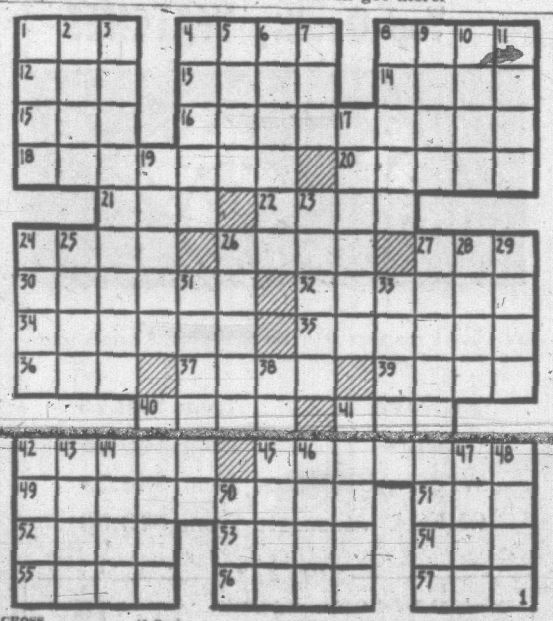

But these are merely the emotional reasons behind man's desire to conquer space. There are also some very logical reasons for it. By nature, man is very curious. You know yourself how you wonder and ask questions about everything under the sun. This bump of curiosity has been with man since the beginning. The caveman wanted to know about fire. And when he found out how to control it, he used it to cook his food and warm himself.

The caveman followed his bump of curiosity and it led him step by step up to the Age of Science. Everything we know was discovered by someone who was curious. Everything we have was invented by someone who was curious. In his heart, man knows that it is proper for him to be curious. For when he stops asking questions he forgets what he already knows.

With the Age of Science mankind discovered how to shoot missiles high into the sky. Then he wondered, can I send one high enough and fast enough to orbit the earth? He could and he did and he gave the old earth her first man-made satellite. But man's curiosity is never satisfied. It is never even tired.

The next questions were natural enough. Dare he hope to cross space and link hands with another world? He dared. And the knowledge of science inherited from his curious ancestors had taught him how to make plans, to take care.

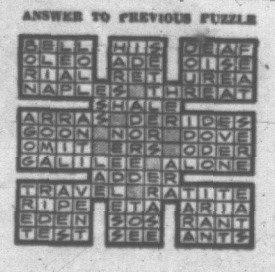

Space travel is the biggest adventure yet undertaken by man. It must be tried and tested step by step. One of these steps is the moon. It would be fine if a camera rocket could orbit the moon, taking close-up pictures before man landed there. And as a matter of fact the United States Air Force is going to try that very thing—probably this month. The more we know of a subject, the better we can cope with it. If we cannot orbit the moon, other plans will be tried. We shall get there.

Bing Crosby Spectacular Starts on C-6, 2 at 9.30, on C-5 at 10

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

FULL MARKS—While roaming the dial Sunday and Monday two Canadian contributions struck me as standouts. The first, of course, was the Wayne and Shuster baseball a la cricket skit on the Ed Sullivan Show. The second was Ed McGibbon's play, "Floating Island" that proudly held aloft the GM Presents banner for a solid hour in a day when the 60-minute drama is becoming as rare as a Stutz Bearcat.

Whereas the W & S chore was cracking good comedy and one of the funniest skits they've done for Sullivan it was GM Theatre that proved the big point—that CBC drama is climbing steadily in the TV medium and that McGibbon's "Floating Island," was agreeably close to standards set by the late Climax, Studio One and Kraft Theatre that says farewell tonight.

By this I don't mean to say that GM Presents is yet equal to the best offered by these fine TV theatre over the years, such as Kraft's brilliant "A Night to Remember," Studio One's "No Deadly Medicine," or several of Climax's most memorable offerings. All the same the CBC—which produces the series for General Motors — has taken these past 12 months a good, solid step upward so that now it can stand on its own feet with apology to none.

"I'm pretty well set for the world series!"

Lest these remarks be construed as an "hurrah for our side, boys," I would hasten to remind readers that the series has been bought by the ABC-TV network which will show the plays to south of the border viewers under the title "Encounter." Next Sunday at 10, for the first time in the history of Canadian television, a Canadian play ("Breakthrough") peopled by Canadian actors (Lloyd Bochner, John Francks) and produced by Canadians, will be telecast live to the United States.

In brief, we're getting there. Whatever might have been the minuses for "Radisson" and other disappointing first major efforts by the CBC the experience gained through making them is almost sure to turn into a goodly harvest of plusses, such as GM Theatre.

★ ★ ★

"THANK YOU, ARTHUR—A word of thanks to Arthur Murray for his demonstration of the dance step, "The Box," Monday eve. It has meant more to me than he'll ever know.

My wife, who is ordinarily very nice to me, chides me unmercifully while we are on the dance floor. "The trouble with you," she mutters, "is that not only do you do nothing with your feet but you do the same nothing to everything from waltz to mombo until I don't know whether I'm dancing with you or a hulu hoop."

Well, after witnessing Arthur's demonstration she now knows that my nothing isn't nothing but exactly what Arthur did, one-two, three-four, "The Box" step. Only married men will be able to appreciate the great moral victory involved in this.

★ ★ ★

ANOTHER SUPERMAN—I've always enjoyed the acting of Rory Calhoun, possibly because I admire him as a man so much. Therefore it was with some unhappiness that I watched his series debut in "The Texan" Monday night. They've made him a cliche, just another superman of the west, too good, too fast, too tough, too sombre. I was hoping for something less stereotyped, something more human.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—The ideal day to contact those experts and friends with whom you wish to be associated in the future. Have serious talks. Later, see that your associates and relatives join with you in co-operative efforts, get their support.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Keyed up as you are to accomplish things quickly, you are very apt to be too dynamic with others. Relax instead and use the quiet, respectful approach which is infinitely better. P.M. get days ahead planned very intelligently.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Assist those in need confidentially today and you will get a great sense of well-being and real benefits from others in the future. Then it will be easy later to pursue own desires and wishes with excellent results. Progress with a smile.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—A dynamic comrade today gives you wonderful ideas for swift advancement. Don't feel you are being high pressured, because you have a tendency to be overly deliberate. Act, now! P.M. seek support of other friends and authorities in your field.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—It is your desire to have a conference with a bigwig, and this can be accomplished provided you use wisdom and tact in your approach. Be precise in conversation and appreciative in manner. P.M. have enjoyable evening with pals.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—It is fine to be eager to get into some new activity, but be sure you search in your newspaper, other accepted media and not go off on some fly-by-night tangent. Impress others with your good, practical sense. P.M. get backing of expert.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—You desire to have a larger abundance, income. It will be impossible to acquire in unorthodox ways. Seek advice of banking concerns, prosperous businessmen, etc. P.M. meet fine, interesting new people.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—If you are too forceful with associates today, you will probably lose much, as well as valuable alliances. Look at their side of things instead and you come to better meeting of minds, achieve greater success. P.M. action.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Delve right into all tasks that need immediate attention, but don't use too much force or you do irreparable damage. Clever planning will increase efficiency, too. P.M. have a delightful evening with associates or mate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—It is well for you to want to enjoy yourself today, but be sure to permit your friends to attend to their duties if they are unable to join you. Don't be extravagant with your money. You can have a grand time inexpensively.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—A splendid day for purchases, winding up little immediate tasks, getting regular work out of the way quickly. Forget about recreations for now. Then tonight is the time to go out on the town and whoop it up.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—A day for tending strictly to business, having conferences with partners, studying paper and other printed matter that give tips and ideas for increasing efficiency and knowledge. P.M. have guests in and have fun.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY . . .

The dynamic and energetic little child born Thursday is the type who will always want to be on the go; so it is best to have many fine playmates around, under your supervision. Later, see that your progeny gets into sports of all kind, for he or she will excel in them. An excellent horoscope for banking, selling, mercantile professions. The driving force will be very considerable here.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — A man held in custody for 84 days on a drug possession charge won dismissal in police court Tuesday.

James Morris, 21, was freed by Magistrate Oscar Orr, who said he had no difficulty dismissing the case and was convinced the accused had only accidental contact with the narcotics in question.

A total of 68 capsules of heroin were involved in the case, in which Mr. Morris was charged jointly with Milan Orlovich, 23.

They were arrested July 23 and Morris could not raise the $3,000 bail to gain his freedom pending trial. Orlovich posted bail and pleaded guilty to the possession charge.

Special prosecutor R. L. Maitland said the adjournments in the case were by arrangement between himself and defence counsel, Nick Mussallem.

Mr. Mussallem said that the adjournments had been made with the knowledge and approval of the prisoner.

TRAPPED FOR HOUR

NORTH VANCOUVER — A workman was trapped for more than an hour here Tuesday night when he caught his foot in a cement mixer. Hospital officials said the lower part of his left leg may have to be amputated.

Nick Starchuk, about 30, was operating the mixer when his foot slipped through a protective screen. He was able to switch off the mixer, but fellow workmen and firemen had to loosen a plate in the mixer to pry it open and free Starchuk.

He was given a sedative and a cigaret while his leg was pried loose.

SUSPENSIONS DEFERRED

VANCOUVER — B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons announced Tuesday it has deferred suspension of 11 Vancouver eye specialists until Dec. 15, pending outcome of their appeal against the suspension to the B.C. Supreme Court.

The 11 were suspended three months ago for alleged unprofessional conduct arising out of an income tax claims case.

LOGGER KILLED

NEW WESTMINSTER — A logging accident at Ceepeecee, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, has caused the death of logger Kurt Grundwold, 25. He was flown to hospital here Tuesday with chest injuries and died an hour after being admitted. An inquest will be held.

BODY RECOVERED

VANCOUVER—The body of a 70-year-old man was found in Coal Harbor here Tuesday. Police identified him as Ingvald Norman Leonard, who lived on the boat Chinook, tied up near where his body was found. Police said Leonard apparently fell into the water while going aboard Monday night.

SCHOOL BOARD BROKE

VANCOUVER—A spokesman for the Vancouver school board said Tuesday the board will be forced to borrow money because a provincial government grant hasn't arrived.

He said Premier Bennett told the board almost two weeks ago that the $1,300,000 school operating grant was on the way and the delay was "just a matter of bookkeeping."

A board official said the money still hasn't arrived and that it will have to be borrowed to meet certain expenses.

Toy Gun Bandit Gets $680

VANCOUVER, (CP) — A masked bandit held up a downtown branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada Monday and escaped with $680.

"I have a gun strapped to my arm," said a note which the bandit pushed across the counter at 17-year-old Juanita Hamilton, teller of the bank at the intersection of Abbott and Hastings Street.

Before presenting the note the man told the frightened girl: "Hand over money."

Miss Hamilton said she "paused a bit," then began to hand over money from the cash drawer. She said she never saw a gun.

New Building Collapse Unexplained

TORONTO (CP)—Union Carbide Canada Limited has so far found no fault with the firms which designed and erected the 11-storey steel framework which collapsed Sept. 6 on the site for its new head office.

President A. A. Cumming said Tuesday the firm could find nothing defective in the design of the building or the method of erection.

The company is one of several groups investigating the collapse of the $5,000,000 structure in north Toronto. Among these are the steel contractors, Dominion Bridge Company Limited, the architects, Shore and Moffatt, and the general contractors, Anglin Norcross Ontario Limited.

Children's $8,000 Stolen From Firm

MONTREAL (CP) — Three armed men Monday night held up about 30 employees of the Continental Casualty Company and escaped with an estimated $8,000 to $10,000. The money was accident insurance premiums received from thousands of Montreal schoolchildren.

The four main railways in Britain with their docks, steamships and hotels have been nationalized since 1947.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

No bid bonds will be accepted with tenders for this work.

Supports Failed Bridge Probe Told

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Second Narrows Bridge here collapsed because an "inadequate" support buckled beneath the half-constructed span reaching over Burrard Inlet, a royal commission inquiry was told Tuesday.

The statement was made by A. B. Sanderson, an independent engineer appointed by the commission inquiring into the collapse of the partially-completed bridge June 17, in which 18 workmen were killed.

CHAIN REACTION

He said a group of four steel girders laid across pilings to support the span on temporary legs failed.

The first span collapsed and a chain reaction brought a second span crashing down.

Alexander Hrennikoff, professor of engineering at the University of British Columbia, said the vertical centre supports "did not have the necessary buckling strength."

HOW COULD HE?

"A question may be asked how an experienced designer could commit an error of judgment attributed to him," the professor said. "Answering, I suggest experience may be dangerous under certain conditions."

He said he understood that similarly-designed supports have been used by Dominion Bridge Company, builders of the Second Narrows Bridge, on other bridges.

"The successful outcome of those erections might have been construed as the vindication of the method of design."

Mr. Hrennikoff suggested that temperature expansion of the bridgework was the "last straw" and resulted in the collapse, since the load on the partly completed span had been constant for some time prior to the accident.

He said he was surprised construction had reached so far before the collapse.

Earlier, Professor W. M. Armstrong of the university's metallurgy department testified that two main beams in the temporary construction beneath the span were slightly different in length. He said the difference could cause a slight bow in another beam and "could become a contributing factor to failure."

Prof. Armstrong said that certain mechanical and chemical variations he discovered in the falsework beams would not be serious in most cases.

Two sections of the bridge, which was being built across the Burrard Inlet between downtown Vancouver and the North Shore, collapsed without warning and 18 men were killed. A skindiver subsequently drowned while searching for bodies.

The commission adjourned July 24 so that exhaustive tests could be carried out on sections of the collapsed bridge. The hearings resumed Tuesday.

'DISCUSSIONS OF MAJOR PROBLEMS'

Big Three Prod Russ For Summit Parley

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States Tuesday joined Britain and France in prodding Russia to resume Moscow discussions aimed at a summit meeting to thresh out German unification and other East-West problems.

In identical notes to the Soviet Union, the Western Big Three complained that Russia had refused even to answer their last three communications on the pre-summit talks.

The talks, which were held in Moscow between the U.S., British and French ambassadors and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, were suspended in May. They were broken off because of differing views on ways for arranging a profitable heads-of-government meeting.

The Allies said in their note that they felt "a summit meeting would be desirable if it would provide opportunity for serious discussions of major problems and if it would be an effective means of reaching agreement on significant subjects."

The Allied note was in reply to a Soviet note on Sept. 18 urging new efforts to solve the German problem. Russia said then that German reunification should be left in the hands of a West German-East German commission.

U.S. Wants Japanese To Give Up Fish Area

SEATTLE (AP)—A U.S. delegation will go to Tokyo Oct. 20 to attempt to negotiate a new boundary line in the North Pacific for Japanese and American fishermen.

The action follows a vote taken Tuesday night by the U.S. section of the North Pacific Fisheries Commission. The commission seeks to keep Japanese fishermen from 500,000 square miles of high seas feeding grounds used by Alaska-spawned salmon.

The two nations previously agreed to a separation line at 175 degrees west longitude but the U.S. now wants the line moved 540 miles further west.

An official U.S. protest in 1957 said Japanese fishermen were taking huge catches of North American-spawned fish. The burden of proof rested with the United States, Japan said.

"We have that proof," Milton Brooding of San Francisco, chairman of the U.S. section, said Tuesday. "We can now prove blood type and bone structure differences between North American and Asiatic salmon."

VARNISHED HEN NEWEST TREAT!

WYNNE, Ark.—Mrs. Claude Brawner put a nice fat hen in the oven to bake, then dashed off to the beauty parlor.

When she returned, she took down a pint jar which she thought held bacon drippings and set about basting the bird.

Order Rescinds Rules Against Orientals

Three almost-forgotten regulations which made it illegal for any Chinese or Japanese to be employed on any works carried out by or for the provincial government, were rescinded Monday by cabinet order.

The order in council noted three earlier orders, one dating back to 1902, which are in violation of today's Fair Employment Practices Act.

In May, 1902, the government ruled no Chinese or Japanese could be employed on tunnel or drain projects carried out under the Mineral Act or Placer Mining Act. A month later another order placed the racial bar across all "contracts, leases, and concessions issued by the government."

A third order, passed in July, 1949, limited the bar to Chinese or Japanese who were not Canadian citizens.

Last week the cabinet heard a B.C. Federation of Labor delegation complain too little publicity has been given the Fair Employment Practices Act since it was passed in 1956. The delgation said the act is not observed by many employers and racial and religious discrimination occurs repeatedly in B.C.

Jazz Show Preview Set For Tonight

A preview of some talent to be heard at Victoria Jazz Society's forthcoming concert Oct. 9 will be presented to a membership meeting at Club Tango tonight.

Tenor man Pete Thompson, who is recently returned from an eastern Canadian tour, will be featured with bassist Bob Miller and piano-playing leader Buddy Glover.

Final approval will be sought from the membership for a constitution which has been drawn up by members of the executive. An important part yet to be passed is settlement of annual dues.

The meeting starts at 8.30.

Next week, for its opening concert of the 1958-59 season, the society presents noted west coasters Fraser McPherson, former Victoria saxophonist, and trumpeter Carse Sneddon, both of Vancouver.

They will play contemporary jazz backed by the Buddy Glover trio at a cabaret-style program at Club Tango.

'They Mistrust Us'—Milkmen

An official representing Victoria dairy employees said Tuesday the city's milk distributors had asked the government to supervise a strike vote among milk workers "because the distributors don't trust us."

The distributors asked for the vote after rejecting the majority report of a conciliation board which recommended a $40-a-month pay boost for plant workers and a $43.75 increase for drivers in a two-year contract.

The employees accepted the terms Friday.

Ben McCrone, secretary of Local 464 of the Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees, said the distributors asked for the government-supervised strike vote "because they don't trust us to do it."

He pointed out the union membership had already authorized a call for a strike vote if employees rejected the wage increase recommendation.

He said a letter being addressed to the government today would ask that such a vote be supervised by the government.

Labor Relations Board chief executive officer Barry Goult said a request for a strike vote had not yet been received from the distributors, noting that both sides had until Oct. 10 to make a final decision in the dispute.

Employees' union officials reiterated today they were ready to "sit down for more talks with the distributors at any time."

Victoria Firm To Improve Vanada Harbor

A Dog's Life For the Groom

HEREFORD, Eng. (UPI)—A dachshund named Otto is the happiest dog in England and a bridegroom named Ron knows the full meaning of that old saw, "love me, love my dog."

Maureen Preece, 21, cut short her honeymoon in Wales with bridegroom Ron Preece, 27, after four days when she learned that Otto was grieving his heart out back home.

Maureen had telephoned her mother every day on the honeymoon to ask about Otto. Her mother reported that Otto refused to eat or drink and had crawled into a cupboard and just whined.

"Otto is dying of a broken heart," the mother said on the fourth day of the honeymoon.

Maureen and Ron hurried home. Otto bounced from his cupboard to greet them, barking with delight. Then he wolfed down his first meal in four days.

"All the time I was courting Maureen, Otto wouldn't let her out of his sight," Ron said today with a note of resignation.

"He used to snuggle between us on the sofa, follow us if we went for a walk and even come to the pictures with us. Once I felt I could shoot him, but I never thought he could ruin my honeymoon."

Game Tied In 8th

MILWAUKEE — Milwaukee Braves came up with one run in the bottom of the eighth inning today on a walk to Eddie Mathews, a double by Hank Aaron and a sacrifice fly by Wes Covington to tie the score 3-3 in the first game of the World Series against New York Yankees.

Ryne Duren came on with none out and two men on base in relief of starter Whitey Ford. He fanned two of the three men he faced.

in the top of the fourth. Braves came back with three straight hits after two were out to score two runs in the last half of the inning and move ahead.

Yankees were hitting Spahn and in each of the first two iinnings collected a pair of hits but fine plays in centrefield by the veteran Andy Pafko cut down scoring chances.

In the last of the second Adcock's single followed by a wild pitch and an error by shortstop Kubek put Ford in a hole, but he struck out Spahn to escape trouble. Ford had struck out six after four innings.

Canadian Army To Get Missile

By VICTOR J. MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced here today that the Canadian Army is to get a battery of the United States surface-to-surface Lacrosse guided missiles.

It is expected to be available very soon.

He declined to explain how it was being made available.

The lacrosse is a new type of guided missile weapon that is being produced in quantity for the American army.

It appeared to be the most suitable weapon of its type available, Mr. Diefenbaker declared.

It was essential to provide this type of fire support for our brigade group in Europe, he added.

The absolute minimum needed for the brigade group consists of one battery composed of four launchers and 12 missiles with associated fire control equipment.

One-half of this battery will be deployed with the brigade in Europe. The rest will be retained in Canada for training in artillery schools in Canada.

The cost of the battery is estimated at $1,198,000. The annual recurring cost is estimated at $360,000, Mr. Diefenbaker disclosed.

Questioned as to whether nuclear warheads would be available to be fired with the lacrosse, Mr. Diefenbaker said that is a question to which no final statement can be made at this time.

He indicated that final approval for acquiring the battery was reached at the cabinet meeting Wednesday.

AGREEMENT AT CHRYSLER

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corporation today announced agreement on basic provisions of a contract covering production and maintenance workers.

The three-year contract would grant increases of 24 to 30 cents an hour spread over that period. Chrysler workers now average $2.33 hourly.

Bank to Start Consumer Loan Service

TORONTO (CP)—The Bank of Nova Scotia today announced what it describes as "a complete consumer loan and instalment credit service."

F. William Nicks, vice-president and general manager, said the service will make low cost loans available easily for any worthwhile purpose.

Three types of loan will be available, on signature alone, on automobiles and on home furnishings. Starting Oct. 15 the loans will be made at any of the bank's 500 branches in Canada.

The cost will be $6.38 for a $100 loan, repayable over a year or the equivalent of a six-per cent discount. Repayment periods will be by equal monthly instalments over periods ranging from six to 36 months.

The bank said no actual ceiling has been set, but it expects the majority of loans to run between $250 and $5,000.

In the cases of farmers, fishermen and lumbermen repayment may be arranged on a seasonal basis.

CEASE-FIRE COULD PAVE WAY TO SETTLEMENT—IKE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower declared today that if the United States could get a cease-fire in the Quemoy-Matsu area an opportunity would be opened up to negotiate in good faith for a Formosa settlement.

Eisenhower told a press conference that the Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu, near the Communist mainland, are not vital to the defence of Formosa. But he said he did not know whether demilitarizing those islands would offer a solution on which everybody could agree.

SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

Kremlin Has New Worries —Stevenson

This is the third article of a series by Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic leader, on his recent visit to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. The first two appeared Aug. 27 and 28.

By ADLAI E. STEVENSON

What is the situation in the Communist camp?

What is the condition of Stalin's empire five years after Stalin's death?

I said in previous articles that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and his colleagues in the Kremlin think of the Communist world in exclusive terms—that what goes on there is no concern of ours.

But it is a very great concern of ours, a greater concern indeed than the better relations with the West that Mr. Khrushchev says he wants so badly, and does so little to get, as we see things.

By Stalin's empire I mean, of course, that vast expanse from Albania and East Germany to China. Here live more than a third of the earth's people under the rule of a dozen Communist one-part states headed, as the formula runs, by the Soviet Union. It is a political anachronism, a mighty structure of empire in the century of the decline and fall of empires.

Mr. Khrushchev's Experiment

Stalin built it as an empire and ran it as one, reducing once independent countries to mere provinces of the Soviet state in all but name. Then came Mr. Khrushchev's experiment in partial liberalization, reconciliation with President Tito of Yugoslavia and "de-stalinization," and the explosive results that followed in the Hungarian rebellion and the Polish upheaval of October, 1956.

Premier Khrushchev also introduced a new name for the Soviet bloc, calling it the Commonwealth of Socialist Nations, which suggested a change of relations within the bloc. But re-imposition of discipline, re-emphasis of Soviet hegemony over the bloc, and violent attacks of "revisionism" have since become the watchword of Soviet policy. Marshal Tito has been anathematized all over again, Imre Nagy and other Hungarian patriots have been executed, and today an uneasy calm reigns over the eastern scene.

Like all empires of diverse peoples, the Communist world is full of contradictions and discords. And it is small wonder that there are recurrent symptoms of trouble in a body so large. The great question mark is Communist China and Soviet.

But the "brooding presence" of China in the Far East is not all the anxious rulers in the Kremlin have to worry about. Marshal Tito declared his independence of Moscow 10 long years ago, and we know about the riots in East Germany in 1953, the gallant, tragic blow for freedom in Hungary, and the October revolution in Poland in 1956.

Poland—Communist, But Different

I advise everyone who goes to the Soviet Union these days to stop in Poland on the way home. For it will free your mind of the notion that the lands behind the Iron Curtain are all alike.

We spent several days in Warsaw and then drove south through the pleasant Polish countryside (where the machine has not replaced the horse) to Cracow, a lovely medieval city spared by the war; spent a night at the mountain resort of Zakopane, and went on over the beautiful high Tatras to Prague. But it required only a few hours in Warsaw to make us realize that Poland today is a Communist country with a difference.

The first thing that strikes you is Warsaw itself; miraculously the ancient, beautiful city has risen from its ashes. Methodically destroyed, building by building, by the Nazis, it is being rebuilt, stone by stone, by loving Poles exactly as it was.

You walk about restored Warsaw in hushed and awe-stricken respect for this monument to a people's pride, sentiment and indomitable courage. And the unrestored ghetto will long be a terrible reminder of the horrible massacre of a half-million Jews.

In Poland you breathe a strikingly different political air from that of the Soviet Union or the other members of the bloc. In East Germany, for example, mounting Communist pressure is reaching the explosion point and 20,000 people are escaping to the west each month. But in Poland the pressure has been relaxed since the bloodless revolution of Oct., 1956, which scared the Russians and brought Wladyslaw Gomulka out of jail and into power.

Gomulka's truce with the Roman Catholic Church is uneasy. But Poland is still the "most Catholic country in Europe." The bulk of the land has been de-collectivized and has reverted to private farming, with a large increase in production and food supply.

Dulles' Plan Brings Rebuke

KAOHSIUNG, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek said today in effect that he is opposed to a reduction of his armed forces on the offshore islands or any change in their status.

The Nationalist Chinese leader expressed incredulity over the reports from Washington that State Secretary Dulles had said it would not be "wise or prudent" to keep Chiang's large forces on the islands if a dependable cease-fire could be arranged.

"Mr. Dulles must know," Chiang said in an interview, "that it is only wishful thinking to ask the Chinese Communists for a cease-fire.

"Granted that Mr. Dulles made the statement attributed to him it would be only a unilateral declaration and my government would be under no obligation to keep it.

"I cannot tell right away," Chiang said, "whether Mr. Dulles has made the remarks attributed to him for diplomatic reasons or with other purposes in mind.

"What he is quoted as having said seems completely incompatible with our stand and does not sound like him.

"There seem to be implications at variance with his own earlier utterances on the subject.

"Mr. Dulles must know that wishes for a cease-fire will never materialize and he must have serious misgivings in his own mind about the subject."

He hoped "efforts will be made to enable the American people to understand what the Communist attacks on Kinmen Quemoy mean.

"While outwardly they are of the Republic of China, they are actually intended as assaults against America's first line of defence in Asia.

It should be evident that the troops defending Quemoy were also guarding U.S. defences in the East.

He reiterated his arguments that "if you ask the Communists for a cease-fire they will use it to blackmail you."

"Likewise," he said, "if you show them you are afraid of war, they will use your fear for purposes of extortion. The more you are afraid, the more they will exploit you."

PRINCE GEORGE—Pacific Great Eastern track crews have been working since 5 o'clock this morning to clear a slide across the tracks 90 miles north of Prince George which threatened to delay the inaugural trip to the Peace River country.

The three trains carrying Premier Bennett, the press, invited guests and the general public were delayed at Prince George almost two hours.

All trains were expected to depart before noon for Chetwynd, where they will lay over tonight.

General manager of the PGE, Joseph S. Broadbent, told reporters the slide was a minor occurrence.

"It happens all the time," he said.

Logger Drowns

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP) — RCMP were searching today for the body of Quadra Island resident Albert Linkletter, 41, who was drowned Tuesday night at the mouth of Bute Inlet.

Public Funds Asked to Run White Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock Private School Corporation appealed today for public contributions of money and buildings, to operate the high schools as private, segregated institutions.

Dr. T. J. Raney said a "study and survey of buildings and facilities" already is under way. Raney said the new plan is contingent on the ruling, scheduled Monday, of a federal Court of Appeals.

"If the court enjoins our use of the high school buildings, leased from the Little Rock school district, we will immediately begin school in other quarters," Raney said.

U.K. Troop Pull-Out From Jordan Oct. 20

LONDON (Reuters) — The British troop withdrawal from Jordan will begin Oct. 20, the foreign office announced today.

It will be completed as soon as necessary arrangements for the movement of the men and equipment can be made, a spokesman added.

Britain's decision to withdraw the 3,000 troops sent into Jordan in July was announced Tuesday at the United Nations.

Answering questions at a press conference, a spokesman said Jordan's request for withdrawal of the troops was made because Jordan is confident that the conditions of the Arab resolution in the UN would be fulfilled. The resolution pledged non-interference in each others' affairs.

Asked whether the withdrawal of troops would be "put under question" if the conditions were not considered to have been fulfilled, the spokesman said:

"If the assurances given to the secretary-general are not carried out, a situation will arise which will have to be considered by Britain, Jordan and the United Nations."

U.S. MARINES QUIT LEBANON

Top U.S. Bank Job To Gordon Rumored

OTTAWA (CP) — A rumor has it that CNR President Donald Gordon has been offered a job in the United States for a salary substantially higher than his $75,000 a year from the government-owned railway.

A government source said today no more than the rumor has reached here, however. There had been no indication from Mr. Gordon that he had any job change under consideration.

The rumor is that Mr. Gordon has been offered the presidency of the Chase National Bank in the U.S. at a salary of possibly $100,000 to $150,000 a year. This bank is said to be interested in Mr. Gordon because of his long experience in both banking and railways.

REALLY BEING NASTY, SAYS DOCTOR

Polite Drivers Hen-Pecked?

MANCHESTER, England (Reuters) — A doctor says over-courteous drivers are not really courteous. They're just trying to order other drivers around. Not only that, but they're probably hen-pecked and insecure.

The doctor, answering a complaint by a newspaper reader against undue use of hand signals by excessively courteous British drivers, said:

"They are, in fact, not announcing their perfectly obvious intention of slowing down so much as ordering someone else to do likewise.

Escape-Proof Alcatraz Loses First Prisoner?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The hunt for a missing Alcatraz convict went on today as the odds mounted that he either had drowned in tide-swept San Francisco Bay or had become the first escaped prisoner to swim to the mainland.

Through the night, guards combed the rocky caves of the island prison shoreline and flushed them out with tear gas bombs, but there was no sign of Aaron Walter Burgett, 28-year-old Missouri gunman.

Monday, he and another prisoner, Clyde M. Johnson, 38, a convicted bank robber from Memphis, Tenn., bound a guard while serving on a garbage detail and vanished in a fog. Two hours later Johnson was found shivering waist-deep in water just off shore.

Associate Warden Joseph D. Latimer said Johnson told prison authorities he had a plastic bag which he tried to use as a water wing but it got away from him almost as soon as he started swimming.

Latimer said another prisoner, whom he did not name, told him Burgett also may have had such a bag, which he could blow up with air and use to keep afloat on the long, chilly grind of more than a mile to the San Francisco shore.

World Series Play by Play

MILWAUKEE — A play-by-play description of today's world series baseball game follows:

FIRST INNING

New York: Bauer singled sharply through the hole between third and short. It was the 15th consecutive world series game in which he had hit safely, a record. Spahn picked Bauer off first with a snap throw. McDougald lined a single off Mathews' outstretched glove. Mantle raised a foul popup to Crandall halfway between third and home.

McDougald went to second on a wild pitch.

No runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

SECOND INNING

New York: Berra singled over Logan's head. Skowron bounced a single over Mathews' head into left field, but Berra was cut down at third on a fine throw from Covington to Mathews. Skowron went to second on the throw.

Carey flied deep to Pafko whose tremendous no-bounce throw to Mathews forced Skowron to retreat to second base. Kubek looked at a third strike.

Crandall was called out on strikes. Adcock went to second on a wild pitch.

No runs, one hit, one error, two left.

THIRD INNING

New York: Ford looked at a third strike. Bauer lined to Covington. McDougald walked. It was the first of the game. Pafko came in fast for Mantle's lov- liner.

Milwaukee: Carey tossed out Schoendienst. Logan struck out. Mathews also went down swinging.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FOURTH INNING

New York: Howard flied to Aaron. Schoendienst raced out into short centre for Berra's short fly. Skowron lined a 2-2 pitch into the left field bleachers, barely inside the foul pole, for a home run. It was his third series home run and put the Yankees in front 1-0. Carey struck out.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Pafko singled to centre, also on the first pitch, Crandall stopping at second.

Schoendienst struck out swinging. He was Ford's seventh strikeout victim.

FIFTH INNING

New York: Kubek flied to Covington in short left.

Ford walked on a full count.

Bauer slammed a 2-0 pitch deep into the left field bleachers for a home run, scoring Ford and putting the Yankees ahead 3-2. The drive, carrying about 370 feet, was his fourth series homer.

Mantle walked.

Two runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Milwaukee: Kubek threw out Logan.

Mathews walked.

Aaron bounced to McDougald who stepped on second forcing Mathews, but his throw to Skowron was too late to double up the runner.

SIXTH INNING

New York: Berra doubled to left centre, Pafko barely failing to make a spectacular diving catch.

SEVENTH INNING

Pafko sent Howard to the left field fence for his long fly.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

New York: Logan threw out Ford. The shortstop's throw pulled Adcock off the bag but the first baseman tagged the runner for the putout. Bauer popped to Logan. McDougald struck out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Milwaukee: Spahn flied to Mantle. McDougald threw out Schoendienst. Logan struck out and had to be tagged when Berra dropped the third swinging strike. It was Ford's eighth strikeout.

No runs, no hits no errors, none left.

CRACKDOWN ON TERRORISM BY DE GAULLE

People caught aiding Algerian insurgents in France will be tried before military courts. Authorities are also given wide powers to detain or place under restricted residence anyone suspected of aiding revels.

The anti-terrorist measures, which follow a wave of terrorism and sabotage in France, come into effect Monday after the promulgation of the new constitution approved in last Sunday's referendum.

Iraqi Peasants Freed From Feudal Bondage

CAIRO (AP)—Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq is reported to have moved to consolidate peasant backing for his revolutionary regime with a land reshuffle while removing a potential rival.

The Middle East News Agency, which is controlled by the United Arab Republic, said Tuesday night in a dispatch from Baghdad that Kassem announced the land program in a broadcast.

Kassem said the plan would free Iraqi peasants from feudal domination, the agency reported. The government would break up big land holdings during the next five years.

Big landlords were a bulwark of the royal government of the late Premier Nuri Said which Kassem overthrew July 14.

The No. 2 man in the revolt and the new republican regime, Brig. Abdul Salam Arif, has been relieved of his post as deputy premier, the news agency said. Arif has been named ambassador to Germany.

stores are numerous, if not very prosperous. Emigration is possible and contacts with the West in some fields are being actively encouraged by the regime.

But the main gain of Poland's October revolution is in freedom of speech. Freedom of publication does not exist, but people feel free to speak their minds, even to foreigners, as they did to me. In the schools, the Russian language is no longer compulsory, and the required university course in Marxism-Leninism has been abandoned in favor of the traditional subjects of philosophy and sociology.

EQUALITY

There are even 65 non-Communists in the parliament and criticism and dissent from government policy is not unknown. Poles again enjoy equality before the law, restraints on the secret police have been established, and they say there is not a single political prisoner any longer.

Political anecdotes are rife, like the one about the monstrous palace of culture that Stalin built in the middle of Warsaw; the best view of Warsaw, they say, is the one from the palace because it is the only place in Warsaw from which you cannot see the palace. As we drove past it one time, an amused official murmered to me: "Small but in good taste, don't you think?"

SANDWICHED

In Poland today they say: "All we need is a new geography." For Poland is sandwiched in between two big powers which have abused her for centuries. For their Russian "liberators" there is historical mistrust and dislike. For the rearming Germans the fear and hatred is still intense in a country where 5,000,000 were slaughtered, and the capital abounds in plaques, always decked with fresh flowers; "here the Nazis shot as hostages the Poles whose names are listed below . . ."

With the Soviet Union on one side and Germany on the other it is no wonder that Poles, even high communist Poles, talk to you about the desirability of lessening international tensions, and, by the way, deeply resent your casual indifference to the plan for nuclear disengagement advanced last spring by Adam Rapacki, Poland's able foreign minister. This was the first independent initiative in foreign policy in Moscow's family.

Even though Poland is "no more Communist than France," as many say, she is very much at the Soviet Union's mercy and her leaders will avoid trouble with big brother from either necessity or conviction. And M. Gomulka is a convinced Communist who is said to dislike free enterprise and a free press as much as he does police terror and Soviet domination.

DEPENDENT ON SOVIET

The Soviet Union is Poland's most important trading partner and Poland is dependent on the Soviet Union for iron ore, oil and cotton. She wants more credits from the United States to buy farm products and machinery to build up her consumer goods industries. In poor Poland, where many have to steal to live, the emphasis has shifted toward light industry to improve living standards, in contrast to the Soviet Union where the emphasis is still largely on basic industry.

But the Poles pleadingly point out that credits or aid granted by Congress as an anti-Communist, anti-Soviet gesture only increases their difficulties and imperils the independence already won.

'HALF-FREE'

Just before leaving Poland I asked a distinguished scholar: Is Poland free? "No, half-free," was his answer and it sums up the situation pretty well. It is hard to make Communists of Poles; they are too Catholic, and they have a sense of humor. But situated that way, they cannot be free either, until the Soviet Union lets go.

So Poland walks a tightrope, and few Poles would do anything to endanger the national independence and individual liberty attained since 1956 that is always in peril if Moscow tightens the screws.

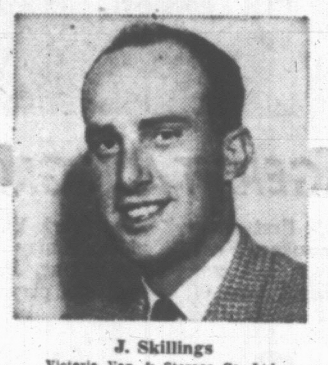

The Communist governments in Eastern Europe are minority governments everywhere. In Poland the solid Communist foundation may not exceed 10 per cent. In Czechoslovakia it is larger and the industrious Czechs seem to have patiently accepted their fate. They eat well, live better than anyone else behind the curtain, and keep still.

The atmosphere in passive Prague is oppressive and in sharp contrast to outspoken Poland. And you quickly hear the story about the Czech dog that asked the Polish dog at the border why he was going to Czechoslovakia.

"To buy a pair of your fine shoes," said the Polish dog, "and why are you going to my country?"

"So I can bark," replied the Czech dog.

The Bridge May Be Broken

I put this question to six Asian delegates following the vote on Chinese representation in which Canada supported the majority decision to shelve the issue. All six expressed understanding of Canada's difficult position on the issue, they expressed sympathy—but all six thought Canada had damaged her prestige.

One ambassador, who formerly served in Ottawa, spoke feelingly on the contribution Canada has made in the past.

"We deeply respect Canada," he said. "Canada is one of the great bridge builders of the world, building bridges of understanding between nations."

"Has the bridge been damaged by Canada's position on the Middle East and the Far East?" I asked him.

He paused for a long time and then replied: "I wonder if it's already been torn down?"

★ ★ ★

The other Asians would not take such an extreme view and their opinion seemed to be summed up by one who said "Canada has two chances more—perhaps three." What he meant was that if Canada votes two or three times more against the Afro-Asians on major issues, as she has on the Middle East and Far East, that she might as well turn in her East-West bridge builders' union card.

The Asians emphasized, of course, that they realize the difficult position in which Canada finds herself. When both the United States and the United Kingdom take one side on a major issue, it's difficult for Canada to swim against this North Atlantic tide.

But the fact remains that Canada's vote, supporting the U.S. proposal to put off consideration of China representation for another year, was in many respects a vote of expediency. It's said, for example, that opposing the United States at this point might only toughen the American attitude on the Formosa issue.

Canadians say, as do the British, and many others, that discussion at this time would only generate more heat. Their main argument, however, is that—to use the old cliche—no nation should be allowed to "shoot her way into the UN."

The fact remains, however, that these are arguments of expediency and carry comparatively little weight against the counter-arguments of the Asians. Asian after Asian came forward to say that they weren't asking the other members to express an opinion on the matter—all they wanted was to have their views heard, to at least debate the issue rather than to refuse even to consider admission of China.

★ ★ ★

In fact you might say that the Western nations have applied "closure" to the debate in the way Trade Minister C. D. Howe did in the pipeline debate—they have stopped the debate before it started. As a matter of fact, it would have made a good many Conservatives wince to hear Afro-Asians lecturing the West on the right of the minority to be heard.

Hashim Jawad of Iraq said that the West's tactics are "contrary to all democratic tradition and contrary to the (UN) Charter."

Chant to Talk Wages With B.C. Engineers

An important meeting between Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and representatives of 100 B.C. government stationary engineers probably will take place Tuesday, Oct. 14.

The engineers are taking a strike vote to back demands for a 9 per cent wage increase—which would give them parity with engineers outside the civil service.

But they asked a meeting with Mr. Chant first, they said, in hope of reaching agreement.

The works minister will be absent from the city all this week on the inaugural trip of the PGE railway to Fort St. John and Dawson Creek.

He returns here Monday, but is not expected to be able to meet the employee delegation before the following Thursday a department spokesman said today.

Vegetables for Winter Eating

Too often we see the ideal vegetables for winter being used in early fall while there is still an abundance of other good things coming from the garden.

From a carefully worked out plan which can be made some winter's day or evening, we should now be using young vegetables from the July sowing, and the immature squash and marrows which will not store, the end of the ripe tomatoes, peppers and eggplant.

Hilda

Root vegetables, such as parsnip, leek, purple-top Laurentian turnip (yellow), are essentially for winter use, as is kale

To use them now while other fresh produce is available seems not only rather shortsighted, but actually prevents us from experiencing the peak of possible quality.

Parsnips and leeks should be left in the ground to be improved by colder weather conditions. Frosts add flavor to both these vegetables, and to kale.

A light frost does no harm to the Laurentian turnips, but they should then be dug and stored in dry sand or soil in a shed or other suitable place.

I know very well how unpleasant it can be to dig the "leave-in-the-ground" vegetables during a cold rain or in a frost, but often one can take advantage of dryer, milder weather to dig enough of each for several days' use.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

TV Tip Technique

LONDON—Concerned about the exposure in the U.S. of rigging of quiz shows, John Irwin, producer of the British version of Dotto and Keep It in the Family, says that he keeps the questions in a safe at home and no one else has access to them until his shows go on the air.

"They don't pay me enough," says Irwin, "to be a crooked referee. TV is not so competitive here as in the States, where if a producer's program begins to drop a couple of points it's enough to give him an ulcer. Here the money isn't big enough to make the shows corrupt."

Reyburn

Saying there's not enough money involved to make the shows crooked is of course hogwash. Answers are slipped to contestants and panelists in this country even in quiz games in which there is no money at stake.

Technique of one quizmaster is to check through his question-and-answer sheet in the washroom before going on the air, reading some of them aloud in the presence of a panelist. This is followed with a wink and "Of course you didn't hear me, did you?"

The classic example of an answer being planted and one which is oft quoted among those who are regularly in the quiz business concerns a beautiful but not too bright starlet who was appearing as a panelist on a show in which the job of each contestant had to be guessed.

★ ★ ★

When the first contestant entered and before he even had time to sit down, she shouted from the other side of the studio: "Your fingernails are dirty! You're a coalman."

If it isn't for the huge cash prizes of U.S. television, why are some quiz participants tipped off in Britain?

There are two main reasons. First is because of the "let's make it a good breezy show" feeling of some of those who put them on. People fumbling for answers can make poor entertainment.

And secondly, certain agents take a hand in it. An agent with a performer on contract doesn't want him or her dropped from a show and lose the revenue. So some agents aren't above getting at the answers and slipping them to those they have on contract to keep them looking good.

I've been on five quiz shows, ranging in runs from three to nine months and haven't yet been slipped an answer. Which is just as well, because all but a few of the regulars in the quiz business hate being tipped off. It calls for a lot of acting to put on all the phony brain-searching before arriving at the answer you knew all the time.

Reverse twist on all this: a brilliant panelist was so quick at getting things right on one quiz game that she was given answers beforehand so that she could prolong her guessing of them and it wouldn't look crooked!

SYNOPSIS — The ridge of high pressure over the southern B.C. coast and southern interior continues to act as a block in the path of Pacific storms—a situation producing relatively clear skies over the southern coast and broken cloud in the southern interior. Fog patches present in the low lying areas of the southern coast will dissipate rapidly during the morning then form again about daybreak Thursday — dissipating during the forenoon. An onshore flow of moist air from the Pacific is causing cloudy skies over the northern coast.

The Day YOU Were Born

Karen Ann Trevena, 720 Sea Terrace, is an outdoor girl who has recently moved from Salt Spring Island. She swims well, and is learning to dive, and is also a fine skater, and an expert "hooper". Karen is in Grade 9 at the S. J. Willis Junior High School; her sister Lynne, age 16, goes to Victoria High.

Karen

On the day she was born:

The U.S. 1st Army started a major offensive on the Seigfried Line and drove a two-mile wedge into the fortifications near Aachen.

The Princess Nora, CPR ship, outbound from Victoria inner harbor on the night run, collided with fishpacker Co-operator I, causing damage to the latter of between $10,000 to $20,000.

The Canadian destroyer Haida came home to an "East coast port" with a list of naval achievements second to none in the Canadian Navy. Crew members had earned 10 decorations, and 21 mentions in dispatches among them. Capt. Harry G. DeWolf, D.S.O., D.S.C., reported that the Haida's main target was "E" boats. Two enemy "kills" were a couple of small boats which had been disguised as rocks.

The Nascopie returned and reported everything well in the Arctic circle. The Hudson Bay boat completed a "routine" 12,000 mile trip through northern waters on schedule.

Sir William Mulock died in his 101st year.

The Community Chest campaign was hoping to collect the remaining $30,000 of its target through group contributions.

Victorians were looking forward to seeing a midnight showing of the Frankenstein monster "in person," at the Capitol stage show: "Asylum of Horrors."

The date? Sunday, October 1, 1944.

PGE Next Stop At Ft. Nelson?

By PETE LOUDON

Premier Bennett, it was believed, was holding his ammunition for political broadsides to be delivered north of Prince George, the area receiving the benefit of the new rail service.

Meanwhile, the several hundred guests were introduced to PGE history and future hopes by a specially-hired public relations firm. The guests were told that though other Canadian railways are feeling a pinch, PGE freight cars loaded and received had increased to 38,809 from 15,534 in 1952.

They were given hints that the PGE next will extend to Fort Nelson, connect with Alaska and Great Slave Lake.

44 New Place Names Created

From Chetwynd to Dawson Creek, the stations are named Wabi, Sundance, Foss, Groundbirch, Tremblay, Progress, Kiskatinaw and Urquart.

These names bring the total of PGE stations to more than 125.

Statisticians say the Peace River end of the PGE will have four times its present population by 1975. There are 20,000 there now, a third more than in 1951.

The lumber industry occupies many of them. There are 818 sawmills and 97 planer mills along the 800-mile route of the railway. Agriculture is fast gaining in importance, a PGE report says.

526 Rail Miles Closer to Home

By bringing the markets 526 rail miles closer to home, the farmers on both sides of the Peace River can now expect to enter the domestic and overseas markets with more confidence than ever before. Hand in hand with this, areas which previously have not been feasible to farm will receive the plough and the results will, naturally, snowboll.

South of the Peace, almost 1,050 farmers cultivate 180,000 acres, a mere fraction of the 1,220,000 acres of potential agricultural land still to be cleared. North of the Peace, about the same number of farmers till 150,000 acres, but here, only 800,000 acres of would-be farmland remains — still a sizeable figure when the production tallies for these are reviewed.

New Canada House Dedicated in New York

NEW YORK (CP) — Canada House was formally introduced to Fifth Avenue today as the imposing Canadian centre was dedicated with a flag-raising ceremony in a driving rainstorm.

New York's Mayor Robert Wagner, who proclaimed a Canada Welcome Day to mark the official opening of the structure symbolic of Canadian enterprise here, raised the Stars and Stripes while Hon. Ray Lawson, whose Canada House dream became a reality today, raised the Red Ensign, aided by External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith.

Two red-coated Royal Canadian Mounted policemen flanked the party of international dignitaries as the flags were raised against the background of the coats-of-arms of the 10 provinces set into the Canadian granite wall of the new building.

NEAR RADIO CITY

Canada House was hailed in an editorial in today's New York Herald-Tribune as "a daily reminder to New Yorkers of the size, wealth and importance of the northern neighbor we take so much for granted that we sometimes overlook its true importance to us."

The Canadian external affairs minister seized on this international amity in basing most of his keynote speech at a banquet on the need for American co operation in Commonwealth economic planning as envisaged at the recent finance ministers' conference in Montreal.

"An expanding Commonwealth in an expanding world economy," he said, could not be isolated.

"Measures designed to promote prosperity must have a relevance for Commonwealth and non-Commonwealth nations alike—for the United States, for Latin America and beyond."

GIRL CHOKES TO DEATH ON TOOTHPASTE

BETHEL, Conn. (AP) — A medical examiner said a four-year-old girl asphyxiated herself accidentally Tuesday with toothpaste. Dr. Albert J. Trimpert said the child, Barbara Christopher, swallowed the toothpaste and choked playing in the bathroom with a doll. He said she had brushed the doll's teeth as well as her own.

COLUMNIST SENTENCED TO JAIL

Contempt Verdict Upheld

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals Tuesday upheld a criminal contempt conviction of newspaper television columnist Marie Torre in her refusal to divulge the identity of a news source.

She was sentenced to a 10-day jail term last Nov. 12.

In her defence, Miss Torre, staff member of the New York Herald Tribune, had cited the first amendment to the constitution guaranteeing freedom of the press. She has been free in her own custody pending appeal.

Her lawyer has said the case would be carried to the Supreme Court if necessary.

Miss Torre refused to name a Columbia Broadcasting System executive said to have provided information which the columnist used in an article about singer Judy Garland. Miss Garland had filed a $1,393,333 breach of contract and libel suit against CBS.

FIVE LOAD, ONE WAITS

Shipping Activity Hits High Tempo

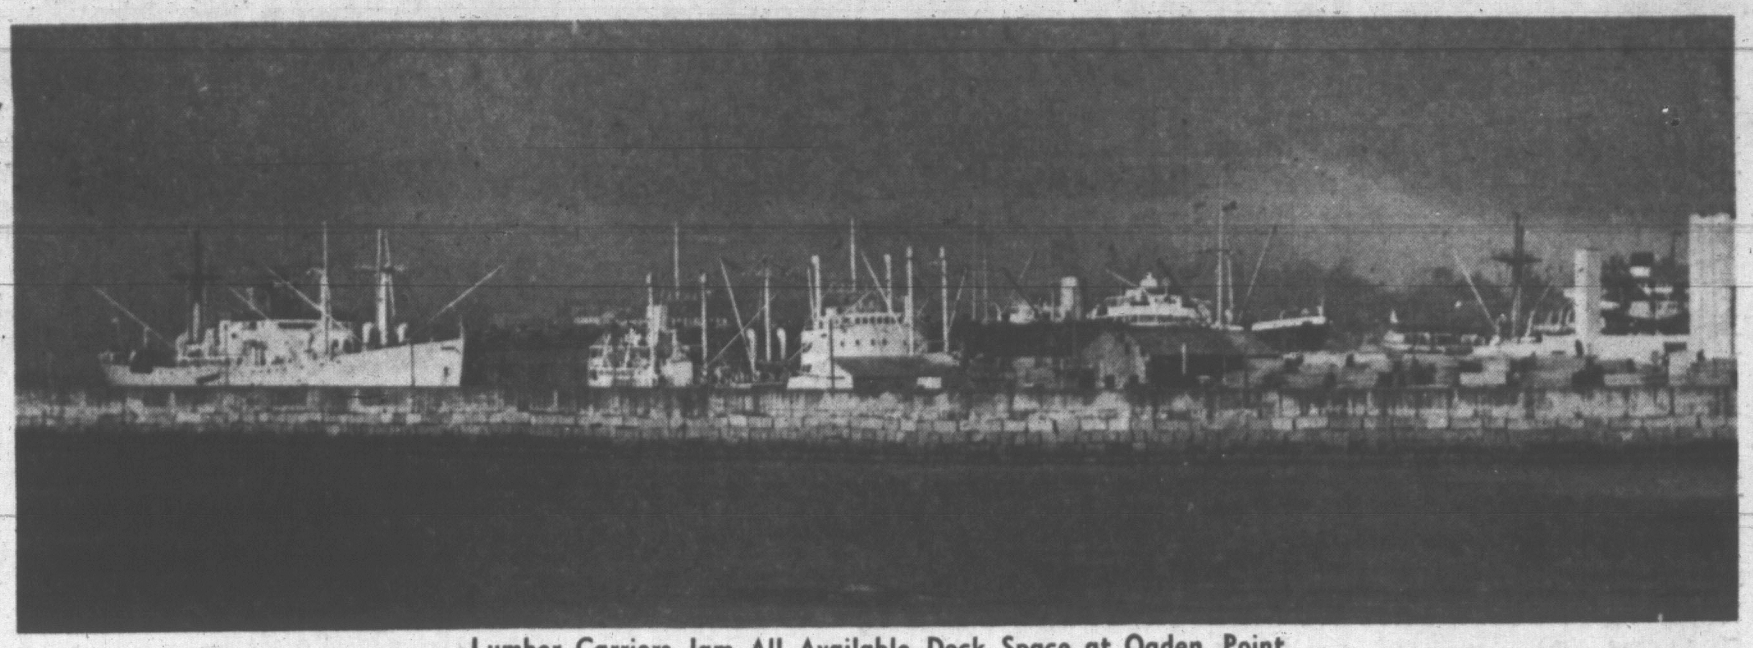

Post-strike shipping activity at Ogden Point reached a peak today, with five ships loading lumber and one anchored in Royal Roads awaiting berth space.

The six ships will take a total of more than 5,000,000 board feet from the jam-packed docks, where lumber has been accumulating since the longshore strike started Aug. 21.

Another 1,500,000 feet left Monday aboard an Australian freighter, to presage a week which will see more than 7,000,000 feet moved from this port.

Loading today at The Point are: Cnosa, 1,154,000 feet for the eastern seaboard, U.S.A.; Alabama, 850,000 for U.K.; Cape Clear, 760,000 for U.K.; Agios Nichalaos, 1,128,000 feet, for the eastern seaboard; British Monarch, 425,000 for U.K.

Irish spruce is at anchor in Royal Roads, and will commence loading 480,000 feet for the U.K. when space is available.

MON BERTS

Newton was conked on the cranium by an apple, thus enabling him to discover the law of gravity (since repealed by various Sputniks).

Archimedes was startled by a ring around his bathtub, which caused him to jump out, wringing wet, and shout, "Eureka, I have found it." (I believe the Eureka to which he referred was a new color for detergents.)

Mind you, these great discoveries were not ALL accidental. The men involved had been puzzling over problems for a long time, and what the accident did was activate their subconscious minds.

In much the same way, I discovered the great plan to shorten names.

I have been subconsciously worrying about this, in sympathy with the telephone people, ever since the new directory came out, complete with small print and abbvtns.

But it was sheer accident which led me to the solution.

I was enquiring after my friend, Ray Wormald, and by a slip of the tongue referred to him as Raymold.

And then—even as Newton and Archimedes and Watt—I knew I had found it!

Why waste breath and space in telephone directories (not to mentfon newspapers) with both given names and surnames?

Why not combine them—such as Raymold. And, as at the top of this space, Monberts?

Most names which spring to mind would not suffer from this combination.

On the contrary, many would benefit.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, I'm sure, would be delighted to be referred to as Geofflow. As for the mayor, what pleasanter, happier name than Purrah!

I can think of lots of them. The shipbuilder, Harbund. The credit man, jealous. The newspaper publisher, Steate. The movie star, Marrow. The YMCA men, Vivacher and Arkinnon. The tugboatman, Donworthy. The police leader, Johnstock. The symphonist, Huber. The eminent lawyer, Mondrake.

You can, of course, add to and expand this list with the greatest of ease.

I am sure the telephone company will bless you for doing so.

RETIRING as commanding officer of 40 Technical Squadron, RCEME, Maj. Charles MacBratney will be guest of honor at a farewell party to be held Oct. 11 at Bay Street Armoury by members of his unit. The major has been with the militia squadron for about five years and is moving to Ottawa in connection with his civil work.

Shipyard Men Leaving Town To Hunt Jobs

Skilled Workers Lost to Victoria

Two Victoria labor leaders warned today that local shipyards will be crippled by a serious lack of trained workers "if they do not get some big shipbuilding contracts soon."

They said shipyard workers are "fast leaving the province" for other parts of Canada and to the U.S., many quitting the industry for farming and other work.

Jim McConachie, business manager of Victoria Local 191 of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, said "at least 70 men have left B.C. in the past six months."

TO SAN DIEGO

He said some had gone to work in new shipyards being built in San Diego, Calif.

"The situation is getting desperate," he said. "Men are heading east and south trying to find work. Others are on the prairies. We are losing a lot of good men, men we can ill-afford to let go."

Mr. McConachie noted that San Diego is particularly attractive to the unemployed men "because it is highly subsidized by the U.S. government."

He said local yards are "crying out for work" and the picture will blacken within the next few weeks "if we don't get some big work soon."

GRIM WINTER

Ernie Orchin, business agent for the Machinists, Fitters and Helpers Union, Local 3, said his membership is faced with a "very grim winter, with 50 out of work already."

"Some men have been looking for jobs for a whole year," he added. "Many have exhausted their unemployment benefits and are just getting by, hustling a day's work here and there."

New 'Peace' Organization Hammers Out 4-Point Plan

City Groups Get Behind Co-Ordinating Society

A new organization devoted to the cause of peace, but not affiliated with any political organization, was formed in Victoria Tuesday night.

Its birthplace was the Health and Welfare Centre at 1947 Cook Street and it will be tentatively known as the Society for Peace by Peaceful Means.

"If someone can suggest a better title we shall be glad to consider it," said Mrs. Rosemary Hamilton, chairman of the constitutional committee, and one of the founders.

"The inauguration of this co-ordinating society is particularly timely in view of the dangerous situation now existing over Formosa.

"We want to overcome the fear in people's minds that they will be called fellow travellers (with Communism) if they speak out for peace. Above all, we want to combat the general feeling of helplessness people have—the feeling they can do nothing to prevent a suicidal world war."

Mrs. Hamilton is one of a group of 12 Victorians who got together last June to see what they could do to promote peace without getting involved in party politics.

The Society for Peace By Peaceful Means is the result.

Work for 'Peace by Peaceful Means'

At its inaugural meeting the society hammered out these objectives:

1. To assist in co-ordinating the activities of groups and individuals working for peace by peaceful means.

2. To initiate and promote any activity which will improve relationships between nations, and to disseminate information relating to the issues of peace and war.

3. To work towards renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy and to study and debate alternatives.

4. To encourage individuals to exercise their right to freedom of thought, speech and action.

Glen Hamilton, chairman at the inaugural meeting, said some of the society's founders were pacifists and some were not.

"But all of them had this belief in common—that war is no longer tolerable and that meeting threat with threat and bomb with super-bomb is leading us on to war.

"They believe the principles of deterrence so widely talked about is completely false. Man is not a rational logical being. He will not stay out of war just because it has been made suicidal."

It was agreed that membership in the society shall be open to persons of any race or creed, but that its operations shall be carried on chiefly in the greater Victoria area.

Contact Persons All Across Canada

At the same time, the society has compiled a list of persons writing to Canadian newspapers across the country on peace promotion issues and will communicate with them.

It was agreed to hold the annual meeting of the society in June every year and a temporary membership fee of 25 cents a year was fixed.

Officers will be elected later.

The Humanist Fellowship, United Nations Society of Victoria, Garden City United Church, Victoria West United Church, Victoria CCF Association, St. John's Anglican Church, Local Council of Women, Victoria College UN Council.

The Society of Friends, Unitarian Fellowship, U.B.C. Alumi, Theosophists' Society, Cerebral Palsy Association, Retarded Children's Association, Oak Bay CCF, Vic Van Isle Kinsman Club, Centennial United, Oak Bay Kiwanis Club, Oak Bay Kiwanis Auxiliary, Optimist Club, Ladies' Auxiliary of the Eagles.

PENNANT, PENNANT! WHO'S GOT COMMUNITY CHEST'S PENNANT?

Okay, who's got it?

The Red Feather pennant that was tied to the Community Chest balloon is missing.

Seems a gas station crew took the balloon down from where it was flying 150 feet over the Black Ball Ferry building on Wharf Street this morning for a routine check. The pennant, tethered halfway up the cable was then still attached.

But when the men were ready to hoist the balloon again, there was the pennant—gone!

Grim-faced officials are conducting a search.

OTTAWA MINISTER HERE

Veterans Affairs Services Expanding

Veterans Affairs Minister A. J. Brooks toured Victoria Veterans' Hospital today and described it as "well worthy of the high standards maintained by B.C. hospitals."

On a cross-Canada tour from east to west, Mr. Brooks said Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes told him "you may not go to heaven, but you must go to Victoria."

After chatting with patients and staff, he commented on the friendly atmosphere prevailing. He said the number of war pensioners in Canada has more than doubled in the past 10 years, from 86,000 in 1948 to 190,000 now, while the number of WVA recipients has nearly trebled from 23,000 to 61,600.

"We are continuing to expand our services throughout the country and we now have a total of nearly 14,000 on our payroll.

"I am confident that no bona fide war veteran goes without necessary medical care. Those we cannot place in military hospitals we send to civilian hospitals on a contract basis."

The minister said higher rates and ceilings and extensions in eligibility have resulted in many more veterans and dependents receiving allowances. Pension rates two years ago were $125 monthly for a total disability pensioner with an additional $45 a month for his wife.

Now the rate for the same pensioner is $150 with $50 additional for the wife.

"The present rates are exactly double the rates which were in effect from 1920 to 1957," Mr. Brooks said.

He returned to Vancouver this afternoon.

Strait Cruise On Navy Ships For 450 Veterans

A cruise of Juan de Fuca Strait aboard destroyers HMCS Skeena, Athabaskan and Cayuga is part of a program laid on for 450 members of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada who were scheduled to arrive in Victoria this afternoon.

A visit to Butchart Gardens was planned for wives of delegates while their husbands were with the navy.

The veterans are delegates to the organization's week-long convention in Vancouver which ends Saturday. Representing 80,000 member veterans across Canada, the group visiting Victoria will be headed by its national president, H. J. McGivern.

ASK The TIMES

Q. About how many divorced persons are there in Canada?—G.A.F.

A. Close to 40,000.

Q. Could you please tell me a way to smoke salmon?—R.M.B.

A. The Indian way is to get a fresh salmon, split it down the back, clean it, sprinkle the fish with coarse salt and leave it overnight. Rinse off the salt, and hang it to smoke—the fish open, with the tail, which is left on, speared with a stick to keep the fish "splayed" or open—over a green alder fire. The slow smoke for three to four days will give you the smoked salmon. It must be a continual fire. If no alder is available, use oak or maple wood. Taper off for a few hours with wild cherry wood, which will glaze the salmon. Then it's ready for slicing and eating.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Question and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

Richard Rolfe, RCN, was fined $25 when he changed his plea to guilty in city police court today on a charge of causing a disturbance by shouting on Yates Street Sept. 22.

Cons. John Burdyny said Rolfe shouted at friends on a bus, then grabbed a young lady by the shoulders and said something "too filthy to repeat" to her.

When approached by the officer, Rolfe was quoted as saying, "Why don't you just turn around and take off." And when the constable mentioned the shouting, "I don't see any signs that say you can't shout."

Ditched Safe Found; Cash Still Missing

Convicted wife-beater Walter Mothersole was sentenced to six months in jail when he appeared in city police court today.

Mrs. Mothersole blacked out several times as her husband drove her away, but managed to escape on to a roadside in Saanich when the car stopped.

The Great Train Ride

LILLOOET—Premier Bennett's avowed this junket to the end of steel was "strictly non-political" was broken even before the PGE left North Vancouver station Tuesday morning.

Keate

"The extension of this railway is the greatest event of the centennial year. The people of our great north country have been waiting 40 years for the promises of the Liberals and the Conservatives to be implemented. Now thanks to your Social Credit government they look forward to the future with new hope and new inspiration."

Having delivered himself of this non-political statement, the premier clambered aboard the rear platform of the first train. He was wearing a white cowboy hat. A rube band played "Love Letters in the Sand," which newsmen devoutly hoped had no reference to the road-bed, and "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain."

All this was stage-managed by Bill Clancy, sometimes known as "The Boy Promoter," who had masterminded the hoopla for the premier's celebrated invasion of Massey Hall in Toronto two years ago.

Also outfitted in a 10-gallon hat was Victoria's Waldo Skillings, who rarely strays farther from Mr. Bennett than you could throw a centennial dollar.

The junket is carrying about 400 men in three sections—first the premier and friends, second the press and businessmen, and third, plain well-wishers who are paying their own fares.

Cost of the five-day trip for guests, in fares, meals and other prerequisites, is conservatively reckoned at $75,000.

Notably absent is Bob Strachan, leader of the opposition — or for that matter, any MLA outside Socred ranks. Sharp conflict revolves around Mr. Strachan's absence. The premier's publicity men say he was invited. But only last weekend the CCF leader told reporters he had been snubbed.

On Etiquette

PRIVACY IN PUBLIC

I was dining with friends recently at a hotel and we were half way through our dinner when a wedding party came in and sat at a long table near us. When the clergyman who was with them offered a prayer, some of my friends put down their knives and forks and bowed their heads until he finished. I contend that this was rude and uncouth, as it was "listening in." Am I wrong?

Louise Davis

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:

I wouldn't say that the bowing of heads was rude and uncouth. Although your friends "peaked," they became prayerful and reverent without thinking. Those at a table in a public restaurant are in a private group in relation to those at other tables, so what is said and done at one should be of no concern to others. That point would verify your theory. I think that when your friends felt the compulsion to bow their heads when the clergyman was praying, it would have been better had they done it so unobtrusively and inconspicuously that it would have gone unnoticed. I think I would make allowances for your friends in this particular case. It was obvious that two young people were about to be married. A prayer, even from a stranger, can be far-reaching.

DEAR ABBY . . .

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who has a parakeet that really talks, but this is the only parakeet I have ever been able to understand. I asked her how she trained the bird to talk and she said in the first place make sure you have a male bird because female birds do not make a sound. Then she said to put the bird in a teapot and whisper down the spout whatever it is you want the bird to learn. She told me this with a straight face. What I want to know is—was she kidding me?

BOBBI.

DEAR BOBBI: I have never heard of teaching a parakeet to talk in this manner and unless somebody has been kidding me, the female of any species can outtalk the male.

DEAR ABBY: I have been corresponding with a young lady from across the ocean for two years. I am 30 and she is 27. We have never met in person but I think I have fallen in love with her. We have exchanged so many letters and pictures that I feel that I know her very well. She wants me to send her the money for a ticket to come here. My friends say I am foolish because a gift of this kind is almost a promise of marriage. Is it possible to fall in love with words and pictures and what should I do about her insistence that I send her the money?

HJALMER.

DEAR HJALMER: It is possible to fall in love with words and pictures, but not very practical. For the same amount of money and no obligations you can go over there and meet this girl. I recommend it.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and am asked to go to the movies (at night) with a boy. My mother gives me money and tells me to pay my own way because then I won't owe him anything and I won't have to kiss him goodnight. I always bring the money home because the boy doesn't let me pay. I have kissed a few boys goodnight, but it wasn't to pay them back for the movie, it was because I liked them. I am a good girl and never hold a kiss more than a few seconds and I want to know if you think I should put up a bigger fight when the boy wants to pay my way?

GOOD GIRL.

DEAR GOOD: When a boy asks to take you to a movie, he expects to pay your way and would probably feel insulted if you "put up a fight." You seem to have good sense. Just keep on doing what you're doing and let your conscience be your guide.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: How do you break a child of playing with and biting extension cords? I would appreciate anything anyone knows about it. My 14-month-old child is continually playing with extension cords and today he bit into one and got a mild shock. I have spanked him and fussed at him until I want to tear my hair out but to no avail. Can anyone help me?

MYRT.

DEAR MYRT: A child of 14 months shouldn't be allowed to crawl around where he can get his hands on extension cords. He is teething . . . give him a teething ring and keep him off the floor unless he is in a playpen. You are lucky he didn't electrocute himself.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO TOMMY: There is no such thing as "free love" . . . Somebody always has to pay for it. It's usually the woman.

Lady Lions Visit Victoria; Entertained by Local Group

Seated at the head table with Mrs. Paulin were presidents of the clubs: Mrs. Lillian Hawkins, Vancouver; Mrs. Marjorie Jones, Seattle; Mrs. Florence Lindbloom, Lynnwood; Mrs. Arlene Berg, White Centre; Mrs. Marie Steele, Port Angeles; Mrs. Eunice Miller, Tacoma; Mrs. Shirley Scappini, Renton; Mrs. Hazel Lamley, Lacey; Mrs. Ruby Borde, Clallam Bay; Mrs. Evelyn Prang, Olympia; Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Sequim, and Mrs. Irene Fuller, first president of the Victoria Club, who was a special guest.

Other special guests were Mrs. Zood Alexander, wife of the district secretary, from Port Angeles, and Mrs. Mary Spouse, a former member from North Vancouver.

Rooms were decorated with hanging baskets of purple and yellow flowers, representing club colors, as did the table centrepiece. A cake made by Mrs. Lionel O'Neill was also decorated in purple and gold, with gold colored candles representing B.C.'s 100th anniversary. Mrs. Irene Fuller was invited to cut the cake.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Lead With Your Chin— Dowager's Hump Will Result

Unless a woman has almost perfect posture, she is certain to develop a hump at the back of her neck by the time she is middle-aged. This may be small or it may become large enough to be really unattractive. At any rate, this is one spot a woman should watch.

Many women who hold their shoulders straight fail to pull their necks back, or they slump. They allow their heads to protrude forward and this causes the vertebra at the base of the neck to become prominent.

There is a tendency to lead with the chin. If you will pull your chin in and your neck back, you will notice that the little bump at the back of the neck disappears.

The habit of sleeping on a pillow also contributes to the dowager's hump, since the pillow pushes your head forward and holds it there during the night. Sleeping without a pillow is a splendid corrective measure.

If you feel that you cannot develop this habit, make your pillow smaller and at least lie on your bed without any at all for a while before going to sleep and before getting up in the morning.

Try these exercises: 1. Stand tall, bend the elbows and place the hands behind the head. Push back with the head as you resist with the hands. Hold while you count to 10 slowly. Relax. Continue.

2. Lie on the floor on your back, your legs straight and arms resting at the sides. Try to touch the back of your neck to the floor. In order to bring the neck as close to the floor as possible, push back with the top of your head. Hold. Relax. Continue.

3. Sit or stand, make large circles with the head, pulling as far as possible in every direction, circle first to the left and then to the right.

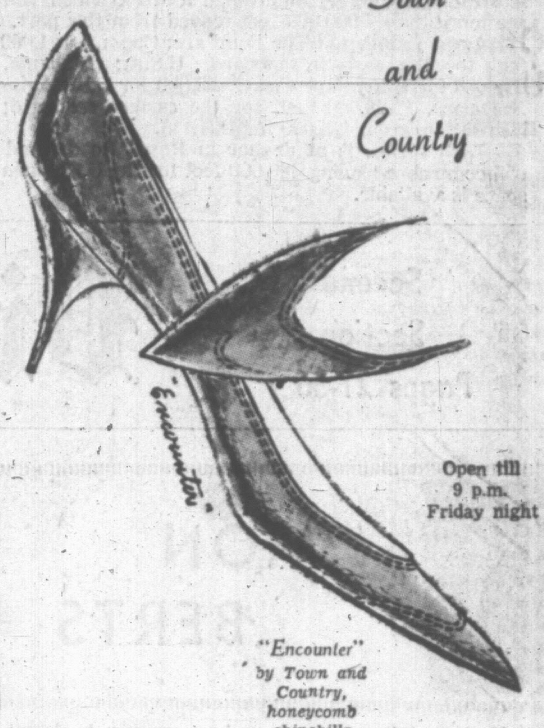

Massage and heat applications seem to help some in decreasing the deposit of fat which often accumulates in this area.

If you wish to have my leaflet No. 17 "Dowager's Hump" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Slide Delays Inaugural PGE Run

By PETE LOUDON
Times Staff Reporter

PRINCE GEORGE—Pacific Great Eastern track crews have been working since 5 o'clock this morning to clear a slide across the tracks 90 miles north of Prince George which threatened to delay the inaugural trip to the Peace River country.

The three trains carrying Premier Bennett, the press, invited guests and the general public were delayed at Prince George almost two hours.

All trains were expected to depart before noon for Chetwynd, where they will lay over tonight.

General manager of the PGE, Joseph S. Broadbent, told reporters the slide was a minor occurrence.

"It happens all the time," he said.

Bank to Start Consumer Loan Service

TORONTO (CP)—The Bank of Nova Scotia today announced what it describes as "a complete consumer loan and instalment credit service."

F. William Nicks, vice-president and general manager, said the service will make low cost loans available easily for any worthwhile purpose.

Three types of loan will be available, on signature alone, on automobiles and on home furnishings. Starting Oct. 15 the loans will be made at any of the bank's 500 branches in Canada.

The cost will be $6.38 for a $100 loan, repayable over a year or the equivalent of a six-per cent discount. Repayment periods will be by equal monthly instalments over periods ranging from six to 36 months.

The bank said no actual ceiling has been set, but it expects the majority of loans to run between $250 and $5,000.

U.K. Troop Pull-Out Set Oct. 20

LONDON (Reuters) — The British troop withdrawal from Jordan will begin Oct. 20, the foreign office announced today.

It will be completed as soon as necessary arrangements for the movement of the men and equipment can be made, a spokesman added.

Britain's decision to withdraw the 3,000 troops sent into Jordan in July was announced Tuesday at the United Nations.

Answering questions at a press conference, a spokesman said Jordan's request for withdrawal of the troops was made because Jordan is confident that the conditions of the Arab resolution in the UN would be fulfilled. The resolution pledged non-interference in each others' affairs.

Asked whether the withdrawal of troops would be "put under question" if the conditions were not considered to have been fulfilled, the spokesman said:

"If the assurances given to the secretary-general are not carried out, a situation will arise which will have to be considered by Britain, Jordan and the United Nations."

AGREEMENT AT CHRYSLER

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corporation today announced agreement on basic provisions of a contract covering production and maintenance workers.

The three-year contract would grant increases of 24 to 30 cents an hour spread over that period. Chrysler workers now average $2.33 hourly.

SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

Kremlin Has New Worries —Stevenson

This is the third article of a series by Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic leader, on his recent visit to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. The first two appeared Aug. 27 and 28.

By ADLAI E. STEVENSON

What is the situation in the Communist camp?

What is the condition of Stalin's empire five years after Stalin's death?

I said in previous articles that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and his colleagues in the Kremlin think of the Communist world in exclusive terms—that what goes on there is no concern of ours.

But it is a very great concern of ours, a greater concern indeed than the better relations with the West that Mr. Khrushchev says he wants so badly, and does so little to get, as we see things.

By Stalin's empire I mean, of course, that vast expanse from Albania and East Germany to China. Here live more than a third of the earth's people under the rule of a dozen Communist one-part states headed, as the formula runs, by the Soviet Union. It is a political anachronism, a mighty structure of empire in the century of the decline and fall of empires.

Mr. Khrushchev's Experiment

Stalin built it as an empire and ran it as one, reducing once independent countries to mere provinces of the Soviet state in all but name. Then came Mr. Khrushchev's experiment in partial liberalization, reconciliation with President Tito of Yugoslavia and "de-stalinization," and the explosive results that followed in the Hungarian rebellion and the Polish upheaval of October, 1956.

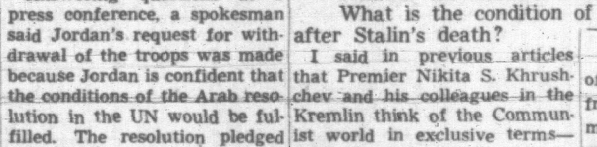

Premier Khrushchev also introduced a new name for the Soviet bloc, calling it the Commonwealth of Socialist Nations, which suggested a change of relations within the bloc. But re-imposition of discipline, re-emphasis of Soviet hegemony over the bloc, and violent attacks of "revisionism" have since become the watchword of Soviet policy. Marshal Tito has been anathematized all over again, Imre Nagy and other Hungarian patriots have been executed, and today an uneasy calm reigns over the eastern scene.

Like all empires of diverse peoples, the Communist world is full of contradictions and discords. And it is small wonder that there are recurrent symptoms of trouble in a body so large. The great question mark is Communist China and Soviet-Chinese relations, the China of Mao Tse-Tung plays a very important, perhaps decisive, part in the internal and external politics of the Communist world.

But the "brooding presence" of China in the Far East is not all the anxious rulers in the Kremlin have to worry about. Marshal Tito declared his independence of Moscow 10 long years ago, and we know about the riots in East Germany in 1953, the gallant, tragic blow for freedom in Hungary, and the October revolution in Poland in 1956.

Beat Yanks 4-3 In 10 Innings

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Bill Bruton's single scoring Joe Adcock in the 10th inning today gave Warren Spahn and the Milwaukee Braves a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees in the first game of the World Series.

Three singles in the tenth off relief pitcher Ryne Duren sent the Braves off to their thrilling come-from-behind victory before a capacity crowd of 46,367 in County Stadium. Duren had relieved starter Whitey Ford in the eighth inning.

With one out in the tenth, Adcock singled to centre. After Wes Covington flied out, Del Crandall bounced a single through the middle of the diamond to send Adcock to second. Bruton then lined a 1-1 pitch between right and centre fields to bring home Adcock with the winning run.

The Braves Thursday will send Lew Burdette, star of the 1957 world series with three victories, against Bullet Bob Turley, in the same ball park. Both are righthanders. Turley has a 21-7 record and Burdette a 20-10 record.

REVENGE FOR SPAHN

Spahn yielded eight hits but grew stronger as the game progressed. He had the satisfaction of reversing last year's opening defeat, won by Ford. Duren was charged with the loss.

The Braves, trailing 3-2 on Hank Bauer's two-run homer in the fifth inning, rallied in the eighth to drive Ford from the mound and tie the game, 3-3.

Eddie Mathews walked to start the comeback. Hank Aaron smashed a double to the rightfield fence, sending Mathews to third and Ford out of the game. He was replaced by Duren, the Yank's relief ace.

Duren fanned Adcock but Covington flied to Mickey Mantle in left centre. That brought Mathews in with the tying run. Duren had the fans buzzing as he fanned Crandall on fast balls to end the inning.

Bauer's homer in the fifth came after Ford had walked.

GRAB BRIEF LEAD

Moose Skowron gave the Yanks a brief 1-0 lead when he hit a home run in the top of the fourth. The Braves came back in their half to go ahead 2-1 with two runs after two were out. A walk to Aaron, a passed ball and successive singles by Crandall, Pafko and Spahn did the trick.

DOUKS GET EXTENSION TO OCT. 21

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Fulton today announced that the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect has been given until Oct. 21 to take advantage of a joint federal-British Columbia offer of assistance to return to Russia.

He also announced that if "there are some whose signatures could not be obtained by Oct. 21" consideration will be given to granting a further deadline extension to Nov. 15.

Public Funds Asked to Run White Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock Private School Corporation appealed today for public contributions of money and buildings, to operate the high schools as private, segregated institutions.

Dr. T. J. Raney said a "study and survey of buildings and facilities" already is under way. Raney said the new plan is contingent on the ruling, scheduled Monday, of a federal Court of Appeals.

"If the court enjoins our use of the high school buildings leased from the Little Rock school district, we will immediately begin school in other quarters," Raney said.

Chiang Rejects Quemoy Pullout

KAOHSIUNG, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek said today in effect that he is opposed to a reduction of his armed forces on the offshore islands or any change in their status.

The Nationalist Chinese leader expressed incredulity over the reports from Washington that State Secretary Dulles had said it would not be "wise or prudent" to keep Chiang's large forces on the islands if a dependable cease-fire could be arranged.

"Mr. Dulles must know," Chiang said in an interview, "that it is only wishful thinking to ask the Chinese Communists for a cease-fire.

"Granted that Mr. Dulles made the statement attributed to him it would be only a unilateral declaration and my government would be under no obligation to keep it.

"I cannot tell right away," Chiang said, "whether Mr. Dulles has made the remarks attributed to him for diplomatic reasons or with other purposes in mind.

"What he is quoted as having said seems completely incompatible with our stand and does not sound like him.

"There seem to be implications at variance with his own earlier utterances on the subject.

"Mr. Dulles must know that wishes for a cease-fire will never materialize and he must have serious misgivings in his own mind about the subject."

He hoped "efforts will be made to enable the American people to understand what the Communist attacks on Kinmen Quemoy mean.

It should be evident that the troops defending Quemoy were also guarding U.S. defences in the East.

He reiterated his argument that "if you ask the Communists for a cease-fire they will use it to blackmail you."

"Likewise," he said, "if you show them you are afraid of war, they will use your fear for purposes of extortion. The more you are afraid, the more they will exploit you."

Refinery Picketed

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Seafarers' International Union placed an information picket line at the Imperial Oil Company refinery gates here at 7 a.m. today, deadline for a strike called by the union against two of the company's tankers.

World Series Play by Play

FIRST INNING

New York: Bauer singled sharply through the hole between third and short. It was the 15th consecutive world series game in which he had hit safely, a record. Spahn picked Bauer off first with a snap throw. McDougald lined a single off Mathews' outstretched glove. Mantle raised a foul popup to Crandall halfway between third and home.

McDougald went to second on a wild pitch.

No runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

SECOND INNING

New York: Berra singled over Logan's head. Skowron bounced a single over Mathews' head into left field, but Berra was cut down at third on a fine throw from Covington to Mathews. Skowron went to second on the throw.

Carey flied deep to Pafko whose tremendous no-bounce throw to Mathews forced Skowron to retreat to second base. Kubek looked at a third strike.

Crandall was called out on strikes. Adcock went to second on a wild pitch.

No runs, one hit, one error, two left.

THIRD INNING

New York: Ford looked at a third strike. Bauer lined to Covington. McDougald walked. It was the first of the game. Pafko came in fast for Mantle's lov liner.

Milwaukee: Carey tossed out Schoendienst. Logan struck out. Mathews also went down swinging.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FOURTH INNING

New York: Howard flied to Aaron. Schoendienst raced out into short centre for Berra's short fly. Skowron lined a 2-2 pitch into the left field bleachers, barely inside the foul pole, for a home run. It was his third series home run and put the Yankees in front 1-0. Carey struck out.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Pafko singled to centre, also on the first pitch, Crandall stopping at second.

Schoendienst struck out swinging. He was Ford's seventh strikeout victim.

FIFTH INNING

New York: Kubek flied to Covington in short left.

Ford walked on a full count.

Bauer slammed a 2-0 pitch deep into the left field bleachers for a home run, scoring Ford and putting the Yankees ahead 3-2. The drive, carrying about 370 feet, was his fourth series homer.

Mantle walked.

Two runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Mathews walked.

Aaron bounced to McDougald who stepped on second forcing Mathews, but his throw to Skowron was too late to double up the runner.

SIXTH INNING

SEVENTH INNING

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

New York: Logan threw out Ford. The shortstop's throw pulled Adcock off the bag but the first baseman tagged the runner for the putout. Bauer popped to Logan. McDougald struck out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Milwaukee: Spahn flied to Mantle. McDougald threw out Schoendienst. Logan struck out and had to be tagged when Berra dropped the third swinging strike. It was Ford's eighth strikeout.

No runs, no hits no errors, none left.

EIGHTH INNING

Milwaukee: After Ford's first two pitches to Mathews failed to hit the strike zone, Ryne Duren started warming up in the Yankee bullpen.

Mathews walked on a full count. Aaron smashed a double off the right field fence sending Mathews to third. Bauer crashed into the fence in a vain attempt to make the catch.

Manager Stengel came out of the dugout to talk to his pitcher. That was all for Ford as Duren sauntered in from the bullpen. Adcock struck out on four pitches.

Covington missed a fast ball, fouled off another, took a ball then flied to Mantle in left centre, Mathews scoring after the catch to tie the score, 3-3. Aaron held second. Crandall was called out on strikes.

NINTH INNING

Spahn lost his cap swinging at and missing Duren's fast ball.

10th INNING

New York: Felix Mantilla went to shortstop and Bruton to centrefield for the Braves.

Howard flied to Aaron.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Milwaukee: Aaron missed a third strike and Yogi Berra had trouble finding the ball but he finally picked it up and threw the runner out on a close play.

Bruton lined a 1-1 pitch into the gap between right and centre field, Adcock scoring with the winning run as the ball rolled clear to the fence. It was scored as a single since Crandall, after rounding second pulled up.

Canadian Army To Get Missile

By VICTOR J. MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced here today that the Canadian Army is to get a battery of the United States surface-to-surface Lacrosse guided missiles.

It is expected to be available very soon.

He declined to explain how it was being made available.

The lacrosse is a new type of guided missile weapon that is being produced in quantity for the American army.

It appeared to be the most suitable weapon of its type available, Mr. Diefenbaker declared.

It was essential to provide this type of fire support for our brigade group in Europe, he added.

The absolute minimum needed for the brigade group consists of one battery composed of four launchers and 12 missiles with associated fire control equipment.

One-half of this battery will be deployed with the brigade in Europe. The rest will be retained in Canada for training in artillery schools in Canada.

The cost of the battery is estimated at $1,198,000. The annual recurring cost is estimated at $360,000, Mr. Diefenbaker disclosed.

Questioned as to whether nuclear warheads would be available to be fired with the lacrosse, Mr. Diefenbaker said that is a question to which no final statement can be made at this time.

He indicated that final approval for acquiring the battery was reached at the cabinet meeting Wednesday.

U.S. Wants Japanese To Give Up Fish Area

SEATTLE (AP)—A U.S. delegation will go to Tokyo Oct. 20 to attempt to negotiate a new boundary line in the North Pacific for Japanese and American fishermen.

The action follows a vote taken Tuesday night by the U.S. section of the North Pacific Fisheries Commission. The commission seeks to keep Japanese fishermen from 500,000 square miles of high seas feeding grounds used by Alaska-spawned salmon.

The two nations previously agreed to a separation line at 175 degrees west longitude but the U.S. now wants the line moved 540 miles further west.

An official U.S. protest in 1957 said Japanese fishermen were taking huge catches of North American-spawned fish.

The burden of proof rested with the United States, Japan said.

"We have that proof," Milton Brooding, of San Francisco, chairman of the U.S. section, said Tuesday. "We can now prove blood type and bone structure differences between North American and Asiatic salmon."

Prisoner Escapes Alcatraz?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The hunt for a missing Alcatraz convict went on today as the odds mounted that he either had drowned in tide-swept San Francisco Bay or had become the first escaped prisoner to swim to the mainland.

Through the night, guards combed the rocky caves of the island prison shoreline and flushed them out with tear gas bombs, but there was no sign of Aaron Walter Burgett, 28-year-old Missouri gunman.

Monday, he and another prisoner, Clyde M. Johnson, 38, a convicted bank robber from Memphis, Tenn., bound a guard while serving on a garbage detail and vanished in a fog. Two hours later Johnson was found shivering waist-deep in water just off shore.

Associate Warden Joseph D. Latimer said Johnson told prison authorities he had a plastic bag which he tried to use as a water wing but it got away from him almost as soon as he started swimming.

CEASE-FIRE COULD PAVE WAY TO SETTLEMENT—IKE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower declared today that if the United States could get a cease-fire in the Quemoy-Matsu area an opportunity would be opened up to negotiate in good faith for a Formosa settlement.

Eisenhower told a press conference that the Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu, near the Communist mainland, are not vital to the defence of Formosa. But he said he did not know whether demilitarizing those islands would offer a solution on which everybody could agree.

Top U.S. Bank Job To Gordon Rumored

OTTAWA (CP) — A rumor has it that CNR President Donald Gordon has been offered a job in the United States for a salary substantially higher than his $75,000 a year from the government-owned railway.

A government source said today no more than the rumor has reached here, however. There had been no indication from Mr. Gordon that he had any job change under consideration.

The rumor is that Mr. Gordon has been offered the presidency of the Chase National Bank in the U.S. at a salary of possibly $100,000 to $150,000 a year. This bank is said to be interested in Mr. Gordon because of his long experience in both banking and railways.

Logger Drowns

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP) — RCMP were searching today for the body of Quadra Island resident Albert Linkletter, 41, who was drowned Tuesday night at the mouth of Bute Inlet.

Iraqi Peasants Freed From Feudal Bondage

CAIRO (AP)—Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq is reported to have moved to consolidate peasant backing for his revolutionary regime with a land reshuffle while emoving a potential rival.

The Middle East News Agency, which is controlled by the United Arab Republic, said Tuesday night in a dispatch from Baghdad that Kassem announced the land program in a broadcast.

Kassem said the plan would free Iraqi peasants from feudal domination, the agency reported. The government would break up big land holdings during the next five years.

Big landlords were a bulwark of the royal government of the late Premier Nuri Said which Kassem overthrew July 14.

The No. 2 man in the revolt and the new republican regime, Brig. Abdul Salam Arif, has been relieved of his post as deputy premier, the news agency said. Arif has been named ambassador to Germany.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—The ideal day to contact those experts and friends with whom you wish to be associated in the future. Have serious talks. Later, see that your associates and relatives join with you in co-operative efforts, get their support.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Keyed up as you are to accomplish things quickly, you are very apt to be too dynamic with others. Relax instead and use the quiet, respectful approach which is infinitely better. P.M. get days ahead planned very intelligently.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Assist those in need confidentially today and you will get a great sense of well-being and real benefits from others in the future. Then it will be easy later to pursue own desires and wishes with excellent results. Progress with a smile.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—A dynamic comrade today gives you wonderful ideas for swift advancement. Don't feel you are being high pressured, because you have a tendency to be overly deliberate. Act, now! P.M. seek support of other friends and authorities in your field.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—It is your desire to have a conference with a bigwig, and this can be accomplished provided you use wisdom and tact in your approach. Be precise in conversation and appreciative in manner. P.M. have enjoyable evening with pals.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—It is fine to be eager to get into some new activity, but be sure you search in your newspaper, other accepted media and not go off on some fly-by-night tangent. Impress others with your good, practical sense. P.M. get backing of expert.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—You desire to have a larger abundance, income. It will be impossible to acquire in unorthodox ways. Seek advice of banking concerns, prosperous businessmen, etc. P.M. meet fine, interesting new people.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—If you are too forceful with associates today, you will probably lose much, as well as valuable alliances. Look at their side of things instead and you come to better meeting of minds, achieve greater success. P.M. action.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Delve right into all tasks that need immediate attention, but don't use too much force or you do irreparable damage. Clever planning will increase efficiency, too. P.M. have a delightful evening with associates or mate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—It is well for you to want to enjoy yourself today, but be sure to permit your friends to attend to their duties if they are unable to join you. Don't be extravagant with your money. You can have a grand time inexpensively.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—A splendid day for purchases; winding up little immediate tasks, getting regular work out of the way quickly. Forget about recreations for now. Then tonight is the time to go out on the town and whoop it up.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—A day for tending strictly to business, having conferences with partners, studying paper and other printed matter that give tips and ideas for increasing efficiency and knowledge. P.M. have guests in and have fun.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY . . .

The dynamic and energetic little child born Thursday is the type who will always want to be on the go; so it is best to have many fine playmates around, under your supervision. Later, see that your progeny gets into sports of all kind, for he or she will excel in them. An excellent horoscope for banking, selling, mercantile professions. The driving force will be very considerable here.

the Soviet Union these days to stop in Poland on the way home. For it will free your mind of the notion that the lands behind the Iron Curtain are all alike.

We spent several days in Warsaw and then drove south through the pleasant Polish countryside (where the machine has not replaced the horse) to Cracow, a lovely medieval city spared by the war; spent a night at the mountain resort of Zakopane, and went on over the beautiful high Tatras to Prague. But it required only a few hours in Warsaw to make us realize that Poland today is a Communist country with a difference.

The first thing that strikes you is Warsaw itself; miraculously the ancient, beautiful city has risen from its ashes. Methodically destroyed, building by building, by the Nazis, it is being rebuilt, stone by stone, by loving Poles exactly as it was.

You walk about restored Warsaw in hushed and awe-stricken respect for this monument to a people's pride, sentiment and indomitable courage. And the unrestored ghetto will long be a terrible reminder of the horsaw in hushed and awe-stricken rible massacre of a half-million Jews.

In Poland you breathe a strikingly different political air from that of the Soviet Union or the other members of the bloc. In East Germany, for example, mounting Communist pressure is reaching the explosion point and 20,000 people are escaping to the west each month. But in Poland the pressure has been relaxed since the bloodless revolution of Oct., 1956, which scared the Russians and brought Wladyslaw Gomulka out of jail and into power.

Gomulka's truce with the Roman Catholic Church is uneasy. But Poland is still the "most Catholic country in Europe." The bulk of the land has been de-collectivized and has reverted to private farming, with a large increase in production and food supply.

Some private trade is permitted and small private retail stores are numerous, if not very prosperous. Emigration is possible and contacts with the West in some fields are being actively encouraged by the regime.

But the main gain of Poland's October revolution is in freedom of speech. Freedom of publication does not exist, but people feel free to speak their minds, even to foreigners, as they did to me. In the schools, the Russian language is no longer compulsory, and the required university course in Marxism-Leninism has been abandoned in favor of the traditional subjects of philosophy and sociology.

EQUALITY

There are even 65 non-Communists in the parliament and criticism and dissent from government policy is not unknown. Poles again enjoy equality before the law, restraints on the secret police have been established, and they say there is not a single political prisoner any longer.

Political anecdotes are rife, like the one about the monstrous palace of culture that Stalin built in the middle of Warsaw; the best view of Warsaw, they say, is the one from the palace because it is the only place in Warsaw from which you cannot see the palace. As we drove past it one time, an amused official murmered to me: "Small but in good taste, don't you think?"

SANDWICHED

In Poland today they say: "All we need is a new geography." For Poland is sandwiched in between two big powers which have abused her for centuries. For their Russian "liberators" there is historical mistrust and dislike. For the rearming Germans the fear and hatred is still intense in a country where 5,000,000 were slaughtered and the capital abounds in plaques, always decked with fresh flowers; "here the Nazis shot as hostages the Poles whose names are listed below. . . ."

With the Soviet Union on one side and Germany on the other it is no wonder that Poles, even high communist Poles, talk to you about the desirability of lessening international tensions, and, by the way, deeply resent your casual indifference to the plan for nuclear disengagement advanced last spring by Adam Rapacki, Poland's able foreign minister. This was the first independent initiative in foreign policy in Moscow's family.

Even though Poland is "no more Communist than France," as many say, she is very much at the Soviet Union's mercy and her leaders will avoid trouble with big brother from either necessity or conviction. And M. Gomulka is a convinced Communist who is said to dislike free enterprise and a free press as much as he does police terror and Soviet domination.

DEPENDENT ON SOVIET

The Soviet Union is Poland's most important trading partner and Poland is dependent on the Soviet Union for iron ore, oil and cotton. She wants more credits from the United States to buy farm products and machinery to build up her consumer goods industries. In poor Poland, where many have to steal to live, the emphasis has shifted toward light industry to improve living standards, in contrast to the Soviet Union where the emphasis is still largely on basic industry.

But the Poles pleadingly point out that credits or aid granted by Congress as an anti-Communist, anti-Soviet gesture only increases their difficulties and imperils the independence already won.

'HALF-FREE'

Just before leaving Poland I asked a distinguished scholar: Is Poland free? "No, half-free," was his answer and it sums up the situation pretty well. It is hard to make Communists of Poles; they are too Catholic, and they have a sense of humor. But situated that way, they can not be free either, until the Soviet Union lets go.

So Poland walks a tightrope, and few Poles would do anything to endanger the national independence and individual liberty attained since 1956 that is always in peril if Moscow tightens the screws.

The Communist governments in Eastern Europe are minority governments everywhere. In Poland the solid Communist foundation may not exceed 10 per cent. In Czechoslovakia it is larger and the industrious Czechs seem to have patiently accepted their fate. They eat well, live better than anyone else behind the curtain, and keep still.

The atmosphere in passive Prague is oppressive and in sharp contrast to outspoken Poland. And you quickly hear the story about the Czech dog that asked the Polish dog at the border why he was going to Czechoslovakia.

"To buy a pair of your fine shoes," said the Polish dog, "and why are you going to my country?"

"So I can bark," replied the Czech dog.

Toy Gun Bandit Gets $680

VANCOUVER (CP) — A masked bandit held up a downtown branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada Monday and escaped with $680.

"I have a gun strapped to my arm," said a note which the bandit pushed across the counter at 17-year-old Juanita Hamilton, teller of the bank at the intersection of Abbott and Hastings Street.

Before presenting the note the man told the frightened girl: "Hand over money."

Miss Hamilton said she "paused a bit," then began to hand over money from the cash drawer. She said she never saw a gun.

Police later found a toy gun, a rag and a mask in a line near the bank.

CRACKDOWN ON TERRORISM BY DE GAULLE

People caught aiding Algerian insurgents in France will be tried before military courts. Authorities are also given wide powers to detain or place under restricted residence anyone suspected of aiding revels.

The anti-terrorist measures, which follow a wave of terrorism and sabotage in France, come into effect Monday after the promulgation of the new constitution approved in last Sunday's referendum.

Children's $8,000 Stolen From Firm

MONTREAL (CP) — Three armed men Monday night held up about 30 employees of the Continental Casualty Company and escaped with an estimated $8,000 to $10,000. The money was accident insurance premiums received from thousands of Montreal schoolchildren.

Supports Failed Bridge Probe Told

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Second Narrows Bridge here collapsed because an "inadequate" support buckled beneath the half-constructed span reaching over Burrard Inlet, a royal commission inquiry was told Tuesday.

The statement was made by A. B. Sanderson, an independent engineer appointed by the commission inquiring into the collapse of the partially-completed bridge June 17, in which 18 workmen were killed.

He said a group of four steel girders laid across pilings to support the span on temporary legs failed.

Alexander Hrennikoff, professor of engineering at the University of British Columbia, said the vertical centre supports "did not have the necessary buckling strength."

HOW COULD HE?

"A question may be asked how an experienced designer could commit an error of judgment attributed to him," the professor said. "Answering, I suggest experience may be dangerous under certain conditions."

He said he understood that similarly-designed supports have been used by Dominion Bridge Company, builders of the Second Narrows Bridge, on other bridges.

"The successful outcome of those erections might have been construed as the vindication of the method of design."

Mr. Hrennikoff suggested that temperature expansion of the bridgework was the "last straw" and resulted in the collapse, since the load on the partly completed span had been constant for some time prior to the accident.

He said he was surprised construction had reached so far before the collapse.

Earlier, Professor W. M. Armstrong of the university's metallurgy department testified that two main beams in the temporary construction beneath the span were slighfly different in length. He said the difference could cause a slight bow in another beam and "could become a contributing factor to failure."

Prof. Armstrong said that certain mechanical and chemical variations he discovered in the falsework beams would not be serious in most cases.

Two sections of the bridge, which was being built across the Burrard Inlet between downtown Vancouver and the North Shore, collapsed without warning and 18 men were killed. A skindiver subsequently drowned while searching for bodies.

The commission adjourned July 24 so that exhaustive tests could be carried out on sections of the collapsed bridge. The hearings resumed Tuesday.

New Building Collapse Unexplained

TORONTO (CP)—Union Carbide Canada Limited has so far found no fault with the firms which designed and erected the 11-storey steel framework which collapsed Sept. 6 on the site for its new head office.

President A. A. Cumming said Tuesday the firm could find nothing defective in the design of the building or the method of erection.

The company is one of several groups investigating the collapse of the $5,000,000 structure in north Toronto. Among these are the steel contractors, Dominion Bridge Company Limited, the architects, Shore and Moffatt, and the general contractors, Anglin Norcross Ontario Limited.

VARNISHED HEN NEWEST TREAT!

WYNNE, Ark.—Mrs. Claude Brawner put a nice fat hen in the oven to bake, then dashed off to the beauty parlor.

When she returned, she took down a pint jar which she thought held bacon drippings and set about basting the bird.

Order Rescinds Rules Against Orientals

Three almost-forgotten regulations which made it illegal for any Chinese or Japanese to be employed on any works carried out by or for the provincial government, were rescinded Monday by cabinet order.

The order in council noted three earlier orders, one dating back to 1902, which are in violation of today's Fair Employment Practices Act.

In May, 1902, the government ruled no Chinese or Japanese could be employed on tunnel or drain projects carried out under the Mineral Act or Placer Mining Act. A month later another order placed the racial bar across all "contracts, leases, and concessions issued by the government."

A third order, passed in July, 1949, limited the bar to Chinese or Japanese who were not Canadian citizens.

Last week the cabinet heard a B.C. Federation of Labor delegation complain too little publicity has been given the Fair Employment Practices Act since it was passed in 1956. The delgation said the act is not observed by many employers and racial and religious discrimination occurs repeatedly in B.C.

Jazz Show Preview Set For Tonight

A preview of some talent to be heard at Victoria Jazz Society's forthcoming concert Oct. 9 will be presented to a membership meeting at Club Tango tonight.

Tenor man Pete Thompson, who is recently returned from an eastern Canadian tour, will be featured with bassist Bob Miller and piano-playing leader Buddy Glover.

Final approval will be sought from the membership for a constitution which has been drawn up by members of the executive. An important part yet to be passed is settlement of annual dues.

The meeting starts at 8.30.

Next week, for its opening concert of the 1958-59 season, the society presents noted west coasters Fraser McPherson, former Victoria saxophonist, and trumpeter Carse Sneddon, both of Vancouver.

They will play contemporary jazz backed by the Buddy Glover trio at a cabaret-style program at Club Tango.

'They Mistrust Us'—Milkmen

An official representing Victoria dairy employees said Tuesday the city's milk distributors had asked the government to supervise a strike vote among milk workers "because the distributors don't trust us."

The distributors asked for the vote after rejecting the majority report of a conciliation board which recommended a $46 a-month pay boost for plant workers and a $43.75 increase for drivers in a two-year contract.

The employees accepted the terms Friday.

Ben McCrone, secretary of Local 464 of the Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees, said the distributors asked for the government-supervised strike vote "because they don't trust us to do it."

He pointed out the union membership had already authorized a call for a strike vote if employees rejected the wage increase recommendation.

He said a letter being addressed to the government today would ask that such a vote be supervised by the government.

Labor Relations Board chief executive officer Barry Goult said a request for a strike vote had not yet been received from the distributors, noting that tion at the Leningrad shipyard. both sides had until Oct. 10 to make a final decision in the dispute.

Employees' union officials reiterated today they were ready to "sit down for more talks with the distributors at any time."
